Proper Filling

Don't lug old clippings into a newspaper office and tell the editor that you have brought him "something to fill up with." Take him a cabbage; he can fill up with that.—Weed Lookout.

Every Day

The Paisley garage and machine shop this week established a daily auto run from Paisley to Lakeview. The car will leave here every morning at 8 o'clock, will remain in Lakeview a few hours, and return the same day, arriving at Paisley about 5 o'clock.—Chewaucan Press.

Mutton Buyers Gather

With several buyers in the field and others arriving, the local mutton market has become quite brisk. About 25,000 lambs and yearlings have been taken in the past week, and the sales for the coming week promise to be almost as great. The average prices that have prevailed are quoted at $2.25 for lambs and $2.50 for yearlings, with slight deviations either way, depending upon condition of the stock.—Lake County Examiner.

Shasta Sweating

A stream of water estimated to be four or six feet wide and possibly a good deal wider, is flowing down the southwestern slope of Mount Shasta. It is the marvel of the hour to people at Sisson—appearing as it does where a stream has not been seen for years and years. The little river, for such it appears to be when viewed through spyglasses, springs from above the snow line. It flows to the timber line where it is, of course, lost to view. In fact, it is only in view at intervals now, as the water disappears behind some ridge or hill. The earliest pioneers remember having seen the same phenomenon in years gone by, but there are hundreds of people in Sisson who have never seen it before.—Ashland Record.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

By MARGARET MASON

A Miss is as good as a Mrs. When it comes to a question of style, And you've often seen that sweet sixteen

Has thirty beat a mile. Her frills are just as frilly, Her frocks as sheer, I wish, While a skirt that's slit up quite a bit

For a Miss is not amiss. (Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Leading fashions are prone to be misleading when it comes to the younger generation and the American miss is quite as prone to be misled. Sally Schoolgirl and Susie Sixteen are replicas of their daintily dressed, or rather undressed mummies, and their slit skirts often show that as the tree is inclined, so is the limb.

Though the days of the simple book muslin and blue ribbon are long since past, some modified fashions for youthful wearers are still extant. A charmingly dainty little frock of for-get-me-not sprigged organdie is in good fashion and good taste. The short baby waist has a scalloped fichu around the V-shaped neck and a scalloped ruffle around the elbow sleeves. The skirt is set on to the short waistline with a scalloped heading and the scalloped ruffle around the bottom is set on the skirt with a similar heading. A banding of the blue ribbon runs through a casing of the organdie, binds the elbow sleeves and the waist and from the latter point the long ribbon ends fall from a knotted bow.

A floppy white chip hat wreathed in for-get-me-nots and rosebuds, tied under the chin with black velvet strings completes this ingenue costume.

A party frock of pale blue chiffon stamped with pink roses is made with a pannier overskirt of pink taffeta. The kimona waist of the figured chiffon is cut away in front over a round necked vest of flesh colored chiffon. A wired bow of narrow black velvet ribbon at the waist, adds a frenchy touch, and the neck of the chiffon vest is drawn up with bebe black velvet run through beading. A leghorn with a ruching of blue malines encircling the crown and covering the brim is caught on one side of a la France rose.

A white wash crepe is cut on long straight lines with its low cut oval neck outlined with a little upstanding de Medici frill of net. The long sleeves are finished with a frill of the same and a prelate sash of coral satin, very wide, breaks up the dead whiteness with a splash of vivid color.

A chic little suit of rose ratine has a jaunty pony jacket whose distinctive feature is a yoke and sleeves cut in one piece. It has a cutaway front and a little turnover collar and turn back cuffs of ocre batiste.

The straight skirt from a deep black stain girdle is worn with an embroidered ocre batiste waist.

Cool and girlish is a dainty white dotted swiss with a square low neck and yoke formed of wide clumsy insertions. Bands of the same insertion divide the skirt into three parts and a soft sash of corn color satin girdles the normal waist line. The elbow sleeves are finished with bands of the insertion and a tiny bunch of orange satin apples is caught on the belt.

All of these suits and frocks are ankle length and in exquisite taste for the maid of sixteen and eighteen years.

Instead of painting the lily or gilding the rose comes the announcement that furs are to be dyed with a mad riot of color this winter. Visions of emerald green fox, purple mink and old-blue sealskin assail one, and the thought of being in the grip of a magenta ermine neck-piece takes one by the throat. It's a good thing a cat has nine lives or it never could stand the strain of having to die and dye again before it is fit to warm milady's jewelled fingers as a salmon-colored Russian fox muff.

By this weird fashion, perhaps, even a leopard at last may be made to change his spots. Of course, it is a "furrin' fad" originated by Paul Poiret, and to be classy, you will have to accept without asking what fur. Possibly the only humans, however, who will feel at home in these colorful furs will be those in the habit of associating with pink elephants and purple mice.

Society

W. Robertson for an entertainment to be given Wednesday afternoon, October 1st, at the Withrow residence on Sixth and Lincoln streets. Cards will be the principal diversion.

The parlor of the White Pelican hotel was the scene of a most enjoyable gathering of women Wednesday afternoon, the occasion being an entertainment given by Mrs. E. B. Hall. Bridge was the game of the afternoon, and the honors went to Mrs. Thomas Hampton. Refreshments were served by the hostess to her guests, who were Mrs. Will Mason, Mrs. Fred Schallock, Mrs. Earl Whitlock, Mrs. Claud Daggert, Mrs. Frank Ward, Mrs. Mary A. Jackson, Mrs. Egan R. Resmes, Mrs. Robert M. Richardson, Mrs. Gibson, Mrs. Fred Mills, Mrs. Thomas Hampton, Mrs. Orh Campbell, Mrs. William L. Clarke, Mrs. Fred Melhase, Mrs. Fred English, Mrs. Kaye, Mrs. Charles George, Mrs. Coseboom, Mrs. Robert A. Johnson, Mrs. J. C. Brockenbrough, Mrs. John J. Parker, Miss Buttener.

Mr. and Mrs. Zeno C. Kimball left Friday for a short outing in the vicinity of Fort Klamath.

Mrs. Louis Gerber was hostess to two tables of bridge Thursday afternoon, her guests being Mrs. Egan R. Reames, Mrs. Fred J. Williams, Mrs. E. W. Gowen, Mrs. George H. Merryman, Mrs. Thomas Hampton, Mrs. Orh Campbell, Mrs. L. F. Willetts. A luncheon was served during the course of the afternoon.

The Leisure Hour Club during the past season frowned upon the practice of awarding prizes to the ladies with the highest scores at each of the parties given. Instead, it was decided to total the scores of each member for the season. The highest score was that of Mrs. Earl Whitlock, and in her honor a luncheon will be given at the White Pelican hotel Wednesday, which will be attended by all the members of the organization.

Mrs. W. I. Clarke, who with Mr. Clarke and her daughters, leaves today for Piedmont, after a visit of several days in Klamath Falls.

Lyle, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Johnson, Mrs. Eliza Marple, Mrs. Thomas Hampton, Mr. C. C. Hoque, Mr. Gus Melhase, Mr. John Melhase, Mr. and Mrs. Orh Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Silas Obenchain, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Hall. Five hundred was played, and the prizes were awarded to Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Smith. The Clarks were presented with pretty guest prizes. A dainty luncheon was a feature of the evening. The Melhase home was prettily bedecked for the occasion with potted plants, among these an unusually pretty pink chrysanthemum, which excited the admiration of all the guests.

Invitations have been issued by Mrs. Bert E. Withrow and Mrs. O.
