View From Eagle Ridge Tavern Enchants Scribe

By W. L. DUTH

One of the main attractions that draw tourists to the Oregon coast is the picturesque view presented by the Grotto Islands off the Japan coast in the beautiful Island Sea where hundreds of little islands like well kept terraces, rise out of a very sea. In our country the majestic peaks and heaven-kissed promontories of the Blue Ridge mountains caused Rockefeller's Pinhurst and Vanderbilt's Biltmore, to miss which makes a world's tour incomplete.

Klamath county has a combination water vista and mountain scene that surpasses both. The magnificent panorama from the veranda of the Eagle Ridge Tavern is one of superlative grandeur.

This view that will make an athlete renounce his dogma and acknowledge an Omnipotent God. Mount Pitt, faithful sentinel of the peaks, forms a snow-mantled background as one gazes across the shimmering waters of Klamath Lake to the timber-clothed foothills in the middle distance.

Full in front of the tavern stand the Triple Peaks, one of which contains Crater Lake. This view takes popular

Daughter of Supreme Court Justice

Mrs. Hildegard McKenna Pultz, daughter of the supreme court justice, has begun an action against her husband, John Leggett Pultz. But the facts alleged and the results sought are veiled in mystery. No papers have yet been filed with the New York county clerk. Her marriage in Washington, February 21, 1906, was one of the notable social events. It was attended by President and Mrs. Roosevelt, Vice President and Mrs. Fairbanks, Ambassador Jusserand, Admiral Dewey and most of the supreme court justices and their wives and families.

Big Dairy Farm. Leland brothers, who have been operating the Hoack ranch east of the city for several years, expect to leave it the 1st of November. They have rented the Myers & Calkins ranch of 270 acres in the Dead Indian country, and expect to conduct a big dairy farm. They have taken a five-year lease on the place, which is said to be a splendid one for the purpose, and as the Leland brothers are noted for being hard workers and successful managers, they will undoubtedly make a big success of their venture. They will commence the construction of a large dairy barn in the near future, and are making preparations for securing additional dairy stock—Ashland Tidings.

What Will the Tariff Bill Do for Consumers

By BOND P. GEDDES

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 27.—Will the new tariff law cheapen the cost of living to ME?

If so, how much? And when may I expect to feel the effect of the new rates? Every citizen is asking these questions today. And the answer which the democratic tariff experts give is: "Don't figure on any great amount of tariff saving this winter."

There is a mighty slim chance, they say, that Mr. Ultimate Consumer is going to get his winter overcoat, his suit of clothes or his shoes any cheaper this winter. Next spring, Mr. Ultimate Consumer, you may "get in" on some of the tariff savings—maybe. Reduced tariffs will not make things, many of them, appreciably cheaper for several months. Democrats and republicans alike are unanimous on this point. Foodstuff prices may be cheaper—some of them—within a few months. Briefly summarized, here is the best judgment of men in Washington who framed, and fought, the new law.

Democrats predict and hope that actual, tangible, dollars-and-cents relief may result from the tariff revision downward within a few months—not before. They admit the legislation is a simon-pure "experiment."

Republicans generally predict and profess to believe that little, if any, noticeable decreases in retail prices will result.

Bear carefully in mind, the democrats say, that the new law is not a "sure-kill" for the high cost of living. It is one of the important factors, but only in that degree will it make living cheaper. After being in effect since October 3, Mr. Common People today isn't noticing that the corner grocery or family clothing store has cut prices because of the new tariff. Here's the reason: Not until wholesale and retail dealers dispose of stocks on their shelves to the Court for the relief demanded in said complaint, the same being for the sum of $28.65, with interest thereon at the legal rate from September 1st, 1913, and for the costs of this suit.
