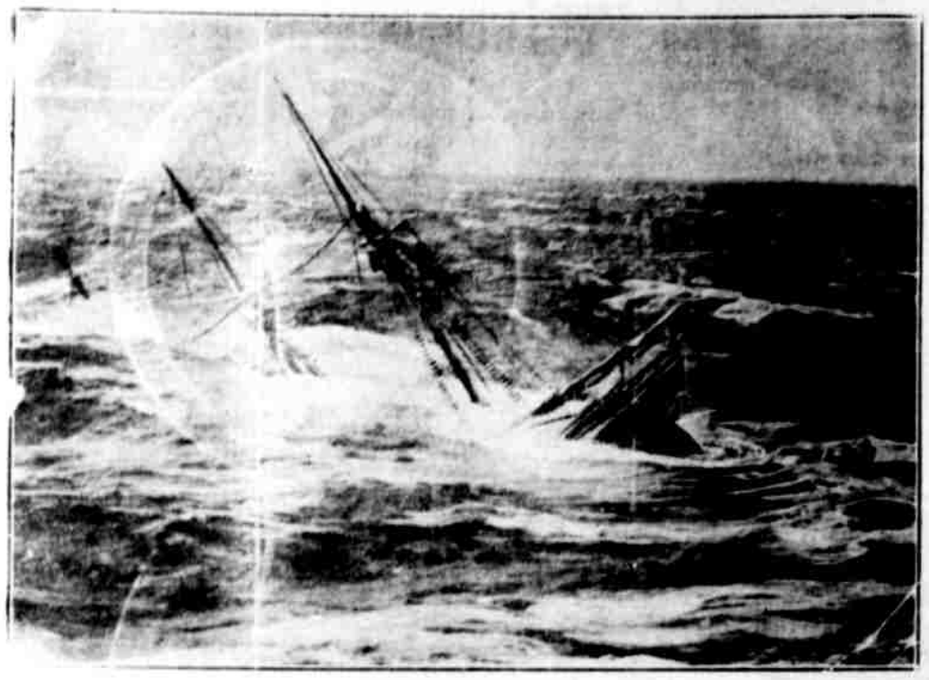
The Marjorie Brown as She Went Beneath the Waves



A passenger of the steamship Berwind got one of the most striking photographs of a wreck that ever when he caught the Marjorie Brown just as she went down off Nantucket Shoals the other day. The Marjorie Brown, leaving Newport News coal laden, began to leak off Nantucket. One of her crew climbed the mast and nailed the flag upside down as a signal of distress. The Berlin saw it and went to the rescue. As she got near the crew put off in a lifeboat, and the schooner, heavy with coal, dipped her bow. From the deck of the rescuing steamship the photographer caught the last seen of the vessel.

Natural Colors Will Prevail in Furs Now

United Press Service

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Some natural colors furs of the tint which they had when part of the living animal are to be worn during the coming winter. In former years nearly all furs worn by women were dyed black, or sitka, a shade of black—and very rarely were furs which retained their natural colorings been worn.

Among the furs that are to be worn undyed is the fur of the Canadian red fox, dressed in its natural shape as well as color, to be worn as a stole. The fur is not really red, but more a rich canary color, most striking in appearance. A two-skin set, muff and stole, costs $32 to $75.

"Black bear skins have already rarely been worn in their natural color except by coachmen, but this winter the most fashionable women will wear undyed furs of black bear," a well known fur dealer told the United Press. "I have been very much amused just recently at an order to convert a couple of these black bearskin coachmen's capes into a fashionable set of furs for milady.

From Switzerland comes a recently invented head covering for women which can be worn as a simple hood or twisted into nearly a dozen forms of hats.

Exports of South African produce from all ports of Cape Province during 1912 were valued at $257,242,555, and from Cape Town alone at $245,919,764.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

IF YOUR BACK IS ACHING OR BLADDER BOTHERS, DRINK LOTS OF WATER AND EAT LESS MEAT

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days, and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which every one should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

What the Tariff Will Do for Us

A Careful Study of the New Measure by an Expert

By BOND P. GEDDES
(Staff Correspondent of the United Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The new Democratic tariff law will afford some saving to the home-builder—but it will be slight. This prediction is made after claims and counter-claims of Democrats and Republicans have been stripped down to bare figures. A greater saving, it appears, will be afforded the man who will build a house, bungalow or cottage of moderate size and little pretentions.

In the aggregate, many dollars will be saved in the duties taken off lumber, shingles, lathes and other building material. But, concretely, the saving to the individual home-builder will be small, but highly acceptable. In some sections of the country retail prices may go down on a few articles, such as planks and shingles. Large contractors may be able to save material costs on large quantities of steel and lumber. But the small home-builder, who does this buying himself, naturally will save but little. Here's the situation:

The new law places lumber, rough and sawed, on the free list. The old "indirect" tariff on imported lumber was about 7 per cent. Unless Canadian and other foreign imports come in great quantities, it is not generally believed that the 7 per cent reduction will force down retain prices in this country. Shingles and lathes may be some cheaper to the consumer in the northwest and on the Pacific coast—the largest manufacturing district—but freight rates and middlemen's costs, it is conservatively estimated, will "eat up" most of the tariff removed.

Last year $15,500,000 worth of sawed boards and planks were imported, their cost being increased by duties of $1,178,000. But our own lumber mills produced $684,000,000 worth and last year exported $51,600,000—about three times the amount imported. Imports of both logs and finished lumber are expected to increase largely under the new tariff law, but hardly enough materially to affect the final retain prices to the consumer.

Canadian and other foreign lathes, imported without duty, may force retail prices down, however, as $1,620,000 worth ($48,795,000) were imported last year, paying a duty of 20 cents a thousand. Lathe imports are expected greatly to increase to compete with the American product, and possibly to force a retail reduction of as much as 10 cents a thousand. But this means at best only a few dollars on the lathing of an ordinary home.

The same situation obtains regarding shingles. Last year shingles worth $1,194,000 were imported, paying duties of $254,000 to compete with a home production of over $30,000,000 worth. Should imports free of duty greatly increase, retail reductions to the purchaser will be quite a saving.

A duty of about 3-4 of 1 cent a pound has been taken off wire nails, but the American nail is so much superior and post imports so small that the American producer practically dominates the market. This augurs against a retail price reduction.

Sand and stone are on the free list, but foreign competition in these building materials has been kept down by high freight charges. A duty of 8 cents a pound has also been taken off cement in the new law, but imports of the commercial material are, and probably will remain negligible.

Duty on window glass has been reduced 16 per cent, but American products also dominate the glass market, controlling retain prices free from foreign invasion. Lime, tiling, brick and paints are other articles upon which duties have been reduced but in which the foreign competition is small.
