THE ENLARGED HOMESTEAD ACT Some Misunderstanding Said to Exist More Territory Soon to Be Available

The 320-acre homestead law, or as it is often called, the enlarged homestead law, has made possible the entry of many millions acres of dry land in the Western states in tracts double the size allowed under the original homestead law. Only land which has been designated by the secretary of the interior as "non-irrigable" can be entered under this act. More than 200,000,000 acres have been this designated, but petitions and sworn statements requesting further designations are constantly being received.

In an interview just given out, Secretary Lane calls attention to the fact that there appears to be considerable misunderstanding among Western homesteaders as to the procedure necessary in order that enlarged homestead designations may be made. The secretary states that only the simplest and most direct action by the settler is required, and that it is wholly unnecessary for him to incur the charges now made by attorneys who draw up formal petitions that are in fact no more effective than the homesteader's own letter would be. On this account a brief statement of the essential facts relative to the enlarged homestead law is timely.

The first enlarged homestead act was approved February 10, 1909, and as later amended provides that in the states of Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oregon, Utah, Washington and Wyoming any person who is qualified to make entry under the homestead laws may enter as much as 320 acres of public land which is in a reasonably compact body and is non-mineral, non-irrigable, unreserved and unappropriated, and does not contain merchantable timber. Before such entry can be made, however, the land must be designated by the secretary of the interior as not being, in his opinion, susceptible of successful irrigation at a reasonable cost from any known source of water supply.

Land Must Be Non-Irrigable
The work of classifying the lands and determining what areas may be considered non-irrigable has been assigned by Secretary Lane to the United States geological survey. Although under the present ruling of the secretary, large areas may be designated as non-irrigable without raising the question whether the land is in other respects subject to homestead entry, the work of examining and classifying these large areas necessarily proceeds rather slowly. In addition to these so-called "blanket" designations therefore, designations of smaller areas are made as rapidly as their non-irrigable character is determined, including areas whose designation has been requested by individual settlers for enlarged homestead entry or for additional entry on tracts adjacent to their present unperfected homestead entries.

Formal Legal Statement Unnecessary
No definite form of petition is required, but each application should be limited as far as possible to the specific tract desired for entry, and should contain a description, by section, township and range, of the applicant's original homestead entry and the date of this entry, as well as a description, also by legal subdivisions, of the land desired for additional entry. Information as to the possibility of irrigating the land should also be furnished, and should include the distance and direction of the nearest stream or existing or proposed irrigation canal, the elevation of the lowest point of land above such source of water supply, the depth at which water can be reached by wells sunk on the land, and all available information concerning attempts to obtain water by this method. The general character of the land, both of the homesteader's original entry (if he has made one) and of the land desired for additional entry, should also be described, to aid the survey in reaching a decision as to its non-irrigability.

This information should be embodied in a letter sent to the director, United States geological survey, Washington, D. C. A formal petition drawn up by a notary or an attorney is not at all necessary, and will not result in any earlier consideration of the matter than will be given if the applicant writes personally. Action will be taken on every request as promptly as is consistent with a proper regard to other requests that are pending, and the applicant will be promptly notified when a final decision has been reached.

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomachs or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.

What the Tariff Will Do for Us A Careful Study of the New Measure by an Expert

By HOND P. GEDDES
(Staff Correspondent of the United Press)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 12.—The American husband who has been wont to settle himself in his easy chair, plant his feet on another, and spend Sunday morning reading the newspapers, and also the husband who plays golf whilst wife and children represent the family at church, will have less excuse hereafter than ever before to "cut" divine service. The new democratic tariff law, it is confidently believed will make church going cheaper.

For one thing, the import tax of 25 per cent, which amounts to about 50 cents apiece on the popular editions of foreign made Bibles, is removed entirely. All down the line of religious supplies, the new tariff aims at retail reductions. Organs are reduced 10 per cent in import duty; stained glass windows should be some cheaper owing to a 10 per cent tariff cut; music is reduced 10 per cent; and the church furniture from 7 to 10 per cent.

Another series of reductions in the tariff which should make all church supplies cheaper is aimed at all tracts, pamphlets and religious paraphernalia, from which import duties have been entirely removed. Going on the theory that the democrats, as they promised, would remove or lower import tariffs on all "necessaries of life" the new schedules on religious goods of all kinds show that the national congress is at least religious, and believes religion a "necessity."

Grandma, by the way, should be able to get along with less expenditure, since the tariff has been so cut on spectacles and peppermint drops that the former should be about 15 per cent cheaper, and the latter almost as much so.

Deeds, Not Words

Klamath Falls People Have Absolute Proof of Deeds at Home.

It's not words but deeds that prove true merit.

The deeds of Doan's Kidney Pills for Klamath Falls' kidney sufferers have made their local reputation. Proof lies in the testimony of Klamath Falls people.

N. Marchand, Warden ave., Klamath Falls, Ore., says: "About two years ago I first noticed symptoms of kidney trouble. My back pained me intensely and I was obliged to get up many times during the night, owing to too frequent passages of the kidney secretions. Often my back was so weak that I had to quit work. Doan's Kidney Pills were finally brought to my attention and I began using them. They made my kidneys normal and removed the pains in my back. I give Doan's Kidney Pills the credit for this cure and highly recommend them to other kidney sufferers."
