JUAREZ SCENE OF BLOODY WARFARE

The Mexican Congress Is Scheduled to Convene Today

REBELS CAPTURE CITY AFTER A SURPRISE ATTACK; HUNDREDS ARE FLEEING ACROSS THE RIO GRANDE

THREE AMERICANS ARE KILLED DURING A NIGHT ATTACK ON THE CITY

Rebel Soldiers Under General Villa Enter the City on Federal Train, Disguised as Federal Soldiers. Hundreds Lost by Both Sides in the Fighting Last Night and Early This Morning—Saloons Close.

United Press Service. EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 15.—Led by General "Pancho" Villa, 2,500 constitutionalists this morning captured Juarez.

This came as the result of a surprise attack, which commenced at 2 o'clock.

Fierce fighting took place in every street. General Villa announced that the lives and property of Americans would be protected.

In last night's fighting, the federals lost 27 killed and 49 wounded, while a dozen rebels were injured.

With the coming of daylight the firing of both sides became more effective. This morning there were 130 dead and more than 300 wounded. The wounded are to be brought over the Rio Grande for treatment.

Out of a total garrison of 1,500 federals, 900 escaped to the American shore.

Three Americans were killed during the fighting. Only one of them, C. C. Beggerson, a chauffeur, was identified.

In order to prevent any riotous conduct General Villa closed all the saloons in Juarez and destroyed great quantities of liquor. The rebels gained admission to the city by a ruse. They boarded a train bound for Juarez, disguised as federal troops, and caught the federal garrison off its guard.

United Press Service.

NOGALLES, Nov. 15.—Rebel troops are mobilizing near here for an attack on Mazatlan. They are heavily armed, their equipment including artillery.

The rebels are only awaiting the arrival of reinforcements before advancing.

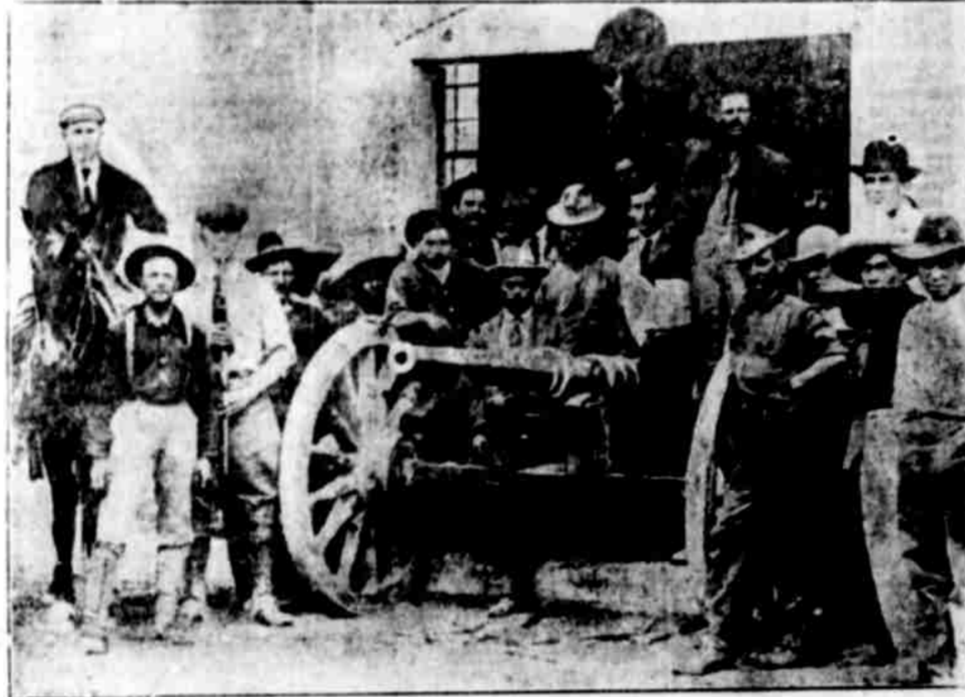

Alatata and Culican have already been captured by the constitutionalists.

MEN NAMED BY PRESIDENT WILSON IN CONFERENCE WITH SOUTHERN PACIFIC OFFICIALS THIS AFTERNOON

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 15.—The board of mediators named by the government to settle the Southern Pacific strike conferred with the railway officials at New York today. They announce prospects of a quick settlement, and propose to end the strike immediately, pending a compromise.

Type of Soldiers Who Captured Juarez

The troops placed in the field by Carranza and those who stand with him in opposition to President Huerta in Mexico are made up of all kinds of men. There are Indians, plain "gringos," as well as the best class of the Mexican citizens and many Americans. Uniforms are, of course, almost unknown. The army largely presents the appearance of a lot of farmers out on a hunting expedition. Here they are shown with a field gun of small bore. It is one of their prized possessions. The continued policy of the American government,

THEY ARE STILL ON HOMESTEADS

ONLY ONES WHO HAVE MOVED OUT ARE THOSE ALREADY ISSUED PATENTS BY THE DEPARTMENT OF INTERIOR

"To correct a statement in a recent issue of the Herald, we wish to state that the homesteaders situated in 27-7, near Aspen Lake, with the exception of those having their patents, are still holding down their claims, and expect to do so for some time yet," said two of them who were in town today.

The article in question spoke of the exodus of persons homesteading around the Upper Lake, but referred only to those granted patents, and not those who are proving up.

VERA CRUZ, Nov. 15.—It is reported that Huerta has ordered the immediate return of all Mexican army officers who are abroad.

A hundred American families arrived last night and today from the interior.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 15.—The new Mexican congress is scheduled to meet in Mexico City tonight to organize. Huerta refused to dissolve it before the meeting, but he implied a promise that it would not act.

It is believed in certain quarters that the house will adjourn immediately, and after declaring the election of the members, the president and vice president to be unconstitutional.

Steer Weighs 2560 lbs.

Midland Road Farmers Have Great Crops This Year

(Staff Correspondence) Reports of bumper yields are coming in from all parts of Klamath county, and in this respect the farmers tilling lands along the Midland road are no exception. Their crops this year were well above average, which is saying a great deal.

Sixty bushels of potatoes to the acre was the yield of John Cablor's place this fall. The potatoes are all first class, suitable for any market. In addition, Mr. Cablor has a number of young apple trees, planted a year ago last fall. This year, he is convinced that they will become a great source of revenue.

At the Crisler & Stills ranch there is pointed out to the visitor a young steer weighing 2,460 pounds. The boyne is to be fattened for exhibition at the 1915 fair, and it is believed that he will weigh more than 2,800 pounds by that time. At the ranch they also have two young mule-
