BUSINESS MEN FROM THE UNITED STATES TOURING SOUTH AMERICANS AMAZED AT THE TRADE POSSIBILITIES

United Press Service

MONTEVIDEO, Jan. 3.—The American "commercial expedition" left Montevideo today for Santos, Brazil, where they will be royally received by government and municipal officials. A luncheon and dinner have been arranged in honor of the Americans while they are in Santos, where they will arrive Monday. They will leave Santos late Monday for San Paulo, where they will be the guests of officials of that place for three days.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

TAKE A GLASS OF SALTS BEFORE BREAKFAST IF YOUR BACK
HURTS OR BLADDER BOTHERS YOU

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoon full in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

By MARGARET MASON

(Written for the United Press)

What boots it that her skirts are slit; No benefit one gets, Since Polly's panting to be chic And wearing pantalons.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Yes, you meet them at every turn, or perhaps one should say curve. The coy pantalons is now fashion's best bet. The regulation manner of panting, according to Dame Nature, used to be from the chest out, but Dame Nature has changed all that, and it is now the smart thing to do your panting from the knee down.

Quite the most startling peach is a pair shown in flesh color crepe de chine and lace. The deep ruffles of the crepe de chine, completely veiled in frothing ruffles of shadow lace, are attached to pink ribbon covered garters which fit just over a dimpled knee, and there you are. Others have ruffles of accordion pleated chiffon or crepe de chine edged with narrow lace and garnished with sprays of tiny rosebuds.

These new knee panties are to be worn over tights, but for those desiring the straightaway pantlets from the waist down, dainty models are shown in flesh crepe de chine, lace edged, that garter in snugly around the ankle with an elastic and lace outstanding frill. The frill has certainly been taking one step on the downward path after another. Starting at the throat it fell next to the wrists, then to the waist (for what is a tunic but a frill), from there to the knee, and now we have 'em at your feet.

While you are bowing at the feet of fashion, it is fitting to mention a chic new ankle of fur which was worn lately by a well known New Yorker. You will readily infer that this anklet in fur adds a "fuzzy wuzzy" touch to a fur trimmed costume, as you get a furtive peek at it now and then through the omnipresent slit.

It seems to be a lost art never to turn a hair, for nowadays there is a mad rush of color to the head. If you are wearing a violet green gown it is not enough that your slippers and stockings carry out the color scheme; dear me, no. Your hair also must have its little dash of lavender. If your frock is of azure, the mere fact that your blood is blue also won't put the blue ribbon of approval upon you. Your coiffure as well must have the desired cerulean tinge. All this is accomplished by a nice collection of thin wigs in all the smart shades. But if you are simply dying to be fashionable, then choose a bright shade of cerise, for pink hair is the pink of fashionable perfection.

The fluffy neck and wrist frills are now being replaced by frills starched to the stiffness of cardboard and are ironed out to irreproachable smoothness. Very severe and masculine and tailor-made they are, and bound to be beloved by suffragettes. Most of them are round, and flare out stiffly above the coat collar and below the coat sleeve, while others take the shape of the collars affected by Dumas and Voltaire. With these the wrist frills are absent.

If you have a last season's gown of Charmeuse or crepe de chine that needs refurbishing up, the addition of two violet ruffles midway of the skirt above the knees will transform it into a 1914 model. These soft velvet ruffles are indeed charming additions to an afternoon gown, and are quite the latest of the late hints from that dear Paris.

Ostrich feathers are coming into their own again, and with the law as well as fashion on their side, are sending aigrettes and birds of paradise on the wing. Almost every chapeau wears aloft an ostrich plume of brilliant hue, they crest the waves of the evening coiffure and even the low cut evening bodices are edged with their airy fronds.

Hats still continue in their dilapidated proportions, and even with the delectable costume they refuse to give way to the large hat a la Gainsborough. Some of the little, close fitting models of fur and velvet are so snug that, particularly when of brown fur, they give the startling impression that the wearer is bareheaded. It is rather an unfortunate fashion for the moonfaced lady, whose countenance is built on broad and sweeping lines. Of course she must be in the mode, with the result that many is the pin bonnet on a quart physiognomy.

FIRST SWISS GIRL
ADMITTED TO BAR

WOMEN IN THAT COUNTRY ARE MUCH BENEFITTED BY NEW CODES

United Press Service

BERNE, Switzerland, Jan. 3.—Switzerland today has its first woman lawyer, Fraulein Lili Zraggon, the daughter of a Bernese solicitor, who was formally admitted to the bar today, after passing all the necessary qualifying examinations, under the provisions of the new civil code. This code, recently enacted, although it does not confer the right of suffrage, has immensely improved the legal status of the Swiss women, who are now admitted to all of the professions except the ministry on the same terms as men.

Paris' New Combination Costume!

The popularity of the dandant was foreseen by the Parisian modistes, and their ingenuity was taxed to fashion a suitable costume—a gown that could be worn in the afternoon for shopping, calling or walking, and at the tea hour for dancing. Now that colder weather has set in, the afternoon is not complete without a dance or two at the studio, tea room, or wherever one may be having tea.

The costume in the accompanying sketch is the result of one modiste's endeavors and answers all the purposes required. The waist and skirt proper are made of a beautiful quality of clinging black velvet. A soft black taffeta is used for the girdle and tunic and were it not for a slight fullness where the tunic is gathered onto the girdle, the dividing line could scarcely be noticed. This same fullness gives the peg-top effect to the skirt and a Persian influence is added by the shape of the tunic, which is longer at the sides than in front. The little yoke and ruching around the sleeve ends are of white chiffon. A smart little toque of black velvet, with a feathered fancy sticking directly up in front, and a scarf of pointed fox, complete the costume.

PARIS, Jan. 4.—The Touring Club of France and the Committee Franco-Americain today signed an agreement to share the expense of restoring the ruins of the old French Fort Chambly built in 1665, during the French occupation of Canada.

President Did Not See Niece Play

MONTREAL, Jan. 3.—The opening of "Omar the Tentmaker," with Mrs. George Howe of Columbia, S. C., a niece of President Wilson, in an important part, in Montreal rather than in New York, where it has been in rehearsal this fall, has surprised theater goers. Since Mrs. Howe is said to have gone on the stage with the good wishes of the president, it seemed that she might have induced him to attend the first performance had the premier been in a city near Washington. Yet the producer, Richard W. Tully, for some reason now unknown, decided to bring the company all the way to Canada for its initial production.

This is all the more surprising because Mrs. Howe, who, by the way, plays under the stage name of Margaret Vale—was a guest at the recent wedding of Miss Jessie Wilson and Francis B. Sayre. In fact, she had to

AUTOMOBILE SHOW
STARTS IN N. Y.

NEARLY FOUR HUNDRED "NINE-TEEN FOURTEEN PLUS" MODELS ARE ON DISPLAY AT THE GRAND CENTRAL PALACE

United Press Service

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Under the auspices of the Automobile Chamber of Commerce, the fourteenth automobile show opens here today in Grand Central Palace, with seventy-two makes and nearly 400 cars on view. All of the exhibits were passenger vehicles, no commercial cars being shown at the request of the manufacturers.

Exhibits took up four floors of Grand Central Palace. One of the main features of the show which opens today was the exhibit of motorcycles, or "the little brother of the automobile" as they were designated. The accessories took up nearly 20,000 feet of floor space. There was a greater display of electric vehicles than at any previous show. The exhibit will continue through January 10th.

stop rehearsals of the play in New York for two days to give her time to attend the wedding.

Mrs. Howe played a small part with Mme. Nazimova last year, and she made good. Then she used her own name. This year when she began she sought an engagement with Mr. Tully under the name of Margaret Vale. Mr. Tully says he knew nothing of her relation to the president till she asked permission when rehearsals were at their height to go to Washington for the wedding. She had to tell them.

Had the president attended a performance of the play in New York, Philadelphia or Baltimore, where it might have been produced as well as in Canada, it would have been a tremendous advertisement. However, it has been suggested that Mr. Tully wanted to be quite sure his new play could make good before he risked her appearance before a crowd that would follow the president.
