WILL BENEFIT YOUTHS WITH AMBITION
Dunbar Solves Problem That Has Long Been Bothering Parents and Many of the Boys—Two Sessions Will Be Held Each Week Under Instructor Morris, and No Charge Will Be Made for Use of Tools, Etc.

A long stride toward helping the ambitious youth who is just over the school age, or who, through force of circumstances is unable to complete his school course, has been made by the board of directors of the local district, in the establishing of a night school course in manual training. This will be open to all boys between the ages of 16 and 21.

The plan may go into effect next week. Sessions will be held from 7 to 8:30 Wednesday and Thursday nights of each week at the Central school. D. C. Morris, in charge of the manual training department, will instruct the night school.

The same opportunities offered the grade pupils in this department will be open to those attending night school. They will be granted free use of tools, etc., and will be taught wood-working, staining and other useful branches.

ESTABLISH NEW CAMP IN FIGHT AGAINST BEETLE

MANY SENT TO OBSERVE PROGRESS MADE
New Station Will Be Placed in Charge of Fire Warden Chitwood—State Forestry Office and Other Branches Will Send Men to Watch the Methods Used in Combatting This Pestil to Western Timber.

To further carry on the fight for the eradication of the Western pine bark beetle, or genus Dendroctonus, the Klamath-Lake Counties Forest Fire Association has opened another camp. This is located at Parker Station, and will be in charge of Fire Warden Chitwood.

Under Chitwood there will be a force of twelve or more men. Besides these there will be men from the forestry bureau and other branches, detailed to observe closely the methods used in combatting the spread of the beetle, and report to their respective departments.

The camp will make a careful survey of the timber in that district, marking any trees where infestation is noticed. These trees will be cut and burned, thus killing the beetles and their eggs, and preventing a spread to other trees.

Extensive work is being done all through Southern Oregon to stamp out the threatened spread of the bark beetle. By this early start it is believed that this menace will be obliterated while in its incipency.

Would Have a Federal University in Washington

Edmund J. James, president of the University of Illinois, is at work drafting a bill for a federal university at Washington. He will present the document to a member of the house of representatives for introduction. The James plan provides for the appointment of a board by the president of the United States for the management of the school. An advisory board, consisting of a delegate from each state is to form a definite policy for the institution. The bill will call for a preliminary appropriation of $500,000.

ENGINEER DARLEY SEES NO REASON FOR A HIGH COST

LOOKS FOR WATER FOR $20 OR LESS PER ACRE
Attorney Ferguson is instructed to Look Up the Legal Status of the Plan to Issue Script for Labor on the Horsefly Project—This Script, Issued to the Water Users, Can Be Used in Paying the Charges.

(Herald Special Service)
BONANZA, Jan. 7.—That there has been nothing found to date to indicate that the cost of the Horsefly irrigation district will be as high as $20 per acre, was the report made by Engineer C. T. Darley at Tuesday's meeting of the directors of the district.

Darley has been pretty thoroughly over the ground, and has completed all of his field work. He says that he sees no reason so far to change his former opinion that the project would cost less than $20 per acre.

Charles J. Ferguson, whose firm is legal adviser for the district, was present at Tuesday's meeting. Many routine and special matters were attended to at this time.

One of the important matters considered at this meeting was the figuring out of the denominations and retiring dates of the $20,000 bond issue, which has been made for paying for the dam site and the preliminary work. The form of the bond was arranged in detail.

Another important matter considered is the plan to issue script to land owners under the project, in turn for services rendered by them in the building of the project. The script thus issued can then be used by them in paying off construction, operation and maintenance charges.

Attorney Ferguson was instructed to look up the legal questions involved in this plan.

Twenty-two states, including Hawaii, now employ state foresters.

Chamber of Commerce Names Officers for Year

At last night's meeting of the Klamath Chamber of Commerce, the following officers were elected to serve during the ensuing year:

President—George J. Walton.
Vice President—Wm. T. Lee.
Directors—S. B. Evans, Hunter Savidge, J. W. Siemens, Charles F. De Lap, Leslie Rogers, Charles Martin, H. J. Darling, Charles Grayes and Richard E. Smith, Klamath Falls; J. Frank Adams, Merrill; F. W. Broadsword, Bonanza; James Felton, Fort Klamath.

Hunter Savidge, who retired as president, was warmly commended by the members for the successful administration he has just completed, and he was urged to run again. Upon the ground that he could not spare the time he thought the office needed, he declined.

The same reason for not accepting was given by R. H. Dunbar, who also was nominated.

The new president was one of the directors of the board last year, and is thoroughly acquainted with the aims and plans of the organization. A successful year is looked for by all. There is no question but what Lewis Wyde, the efficient secretary, will be returned by the board, as he has demonstrated his fitness for the position.
