Boosting the Pet Roster
That "if more children were interested in poultry and other pets there would be fewer of them appear in the juvenile courts," was the statement made last evening by D. B. McKnight, juvenile judge of this city, in his speech at the poultrymen's banquet.—Albany Herald.

For Attorney-General.
George M. Brown, for the past 15 years prosecuting attorney of this district, today stated that he would be a candidate for attorney-general of Oregon at the republican primary election to be held on May 15. It is believed that Mr. Brown will be opposed for the nomination by former City Attorney Grant of Portland. District Attorney Brown is one of the most widely known lawyers in the state, and has made a reputation as a prosecutor.—Roseburg News.

Oacht!
The option on the Scott ranch which has been held for the last five years by a syndicate of wealthy Minnesotans, and which has cost them about seven thousand dollars, was allowed to lapse December 31 last. Various reasons are assigned for failure to pungle up the initial payment of ten thousand dollars, one being the delay in passing the currency bill and the consequent stringency in the money market, and the failure of the Medford Commercial club to make concerted effort to secure a regional bank for Medford. It is charged that the club expends too much effort in banquets and sawing the air with club oratory, and handing out red apples to southbound pilgrims, both native and foreign, and, as a consequence, Phoenix or Central Point is apt to grab off the regional bank and get the full benefit of the advertising such a stunt would give.—Wm. J. Scott in Medford Mail Tribune.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

By MARGARET MADON
(Written for the United Press)

Belinda's gown is oyster white. And biscuit hued her coat. With touches of tomato red. About the sleeves and throat. Her hat's of cafe au lait plush. Whence claret feathers float. She looks the latest style and sounds Just like a table d'hotel.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Nowadays it is hard to tell from the conversation whether modists and dressmakers are talking about the French dressing on a salad or French dressing on a lady. Culinary art and sartorial art are indeed akin and a raspberry confection on a fashion plate is quite as delectable as one on a desert plate. There seems to be a perfect passion for all the light edible tones of oyster, biscuit, champagne, cafe au lait and cream for street costumes. Combined with dark fur they are truly stunning and a decided relief from the dark toned blue, brown and black street suits to which we have been so long addicted.

A lovely biscuit duvetyn trimmed in skunk has a four-inch band of skunk midway of the skirt to stimulate a tunic and another four-inch band around the hem. A wide girle of old blue boire ribbon eight inches wide finishes in the back like a Japanese obi and gives a smart square effect to the figure.

The coat hangs in a loose sack from the shoulders in back to well below the hips. In front it is cut short almost to the bust and buttoned on the side with four square old blue buttons. The collar and cuffs of the sleeves are of skunk. A pale blue combined with fitch, and a delicate pink duvetyn with sealskin while not so gastronomically named certainly looks good enough to eat.

This craze for the delicate shades will no doubt bring joy to the dry cleaner's heart and much gold to his coffers. The vivid shades that the futurists brought forth have faded quite away and indeed only bright hue which has the sartorial sanction for smart street wear is red in every and any conceivable shade—cherry, beet, tomato, raspberry, strawberry and wine to suit your taste.

The last new use for fur was the ankle of fitch, ermine or sable, according to your furry fancy and now it has gone to the other extreme and appeared as a head band. Quite the chicest addition to the evening coiffure is a flat circlet of skunk wreathing the brow of the debutante or the matron. A soft crush of chiffon in any desired tone combined with it breaks the rather hard line of the fur against your head and helps distinguish your own hair from the hair of the defunct animal.

The round balls of fluffy full-like buttons are charming additions to a three-piece cloth suit and quite the only trimming necessary, while the new pouch bags of velour and plush are lovely fur banded to match the costume of the carrier.

Beads in all the garish colors are used lavishly in quaint designs as trimmings on fur turbans. Done into dragons, birds, beasts and butterflies they also adorn the patrician silk clad ankles of many a haut monde turkey trotter.

If you want to be a vision of loveliness when your own particular tired business man comes home for a late dinner slip into one of the so adorable pink or blue crepe de chine negligees outlined in swansdown with cap and ribbon slippers edged in the same snowy fluff. Don't forget a fleeting glimpse of a lace edged crepe de chine petticoat also swansdown banded and he will be sure to forgive you for not dressing to dine. Nothing more temptingly fascinating than these swansdown trimmed sets have been seen in the white enameled cases of the shops where the negligees grow for a long time.

The robes themselves are cut all in one in a loose sack effect, each side crossing in front and fastening on the opposite side in a characteristic Paul Poiret manner.

To match up the stunning new silk knitted sweaters Oriental turbans are being shown from a fringed knitted scarf of silk in a bright hue to match the sweater and twisted around the head. They fasten on one side with a hook and eye and the fringe is allowed to fall coquettishly over one ear as a finish. When you see one you are sure to be all wrapped up in it very soon.

Chicago Honors Chief Lazy Boy

The Adventurers' Club, consisting of well known war correspondents, military men and scientists of the country, has made Lazy Boy (Pah-kops-co-ma-p) one of the remaining noted warriors of the Glacier National Park Blackfoot tribe of Indians, an honorary member.

The only other honorary member of the Adventurers' Club is Theodore Roosevelt. Lazy Boy's qualifications embrace adventures in many Indian battles against the Sioux, Crow, Nez Perces and Kootenai tribes, but the one incident he rested his laurels upon was a night attack by himself, his brother and two Indian companions upon a band of 200 Crows in 1874. They crawled out upon the shelf rock of Mount Henry, which is nine miles from Glacier Park station, Mont., and opened fire upon their enemies, who were sleeping in twenty lodges in the Two Medicine valley, 1,000 feet below.

NOSTRILS AND HEAD STOPPED UP FROM COLD? TRY MY CATARRH BALM

Instantly Clears Air Passages; You Breathe Freely, Nasty Discharge Stops; Head Colds and Dull Headache Vanish

Try "Ely's Cream Balm." Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the Nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning, the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will disappear. End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing soothing relief comes immediately. Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous drooping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless. Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

Money

Is the easiest made when saved, and saving is especially easy when foresight is used—for instance, in buying groceries, anticipate your wants ahead and buy your supplies in quantities at practically wholesale—eliminate the soliciting nuisance, the hap-hazard way of buying from hand-to-mouth. It is just as easy for your grocery man to deliver a box of soap, a case of fruit or vegetables, 50 or 100 pounds of sugar, rice, beans, dry fruit, etc., as it is the small purchases of many articles gotten so often—and the bigger way you'll find such a good investment that once tried will be followed up with the result that a pleasing balance will be in your favor at the end of the year.

Come in, bring a list; no harm if you don't buy—just the same we'll be glad to show you how and why we can about equally share profits with you to our mutual advantage.
