

BOHEMIAN HELD BY FEDERAL OFFICIALS

DEPUTY MARSHAL AND POSTAL INSPECTOR ARE HERE LOOKING UP THE RECORD OF FRANK CACKA

YOUNG BOHEMIAN HELD IN CONNECTION WITH THE HUNTHOUSE AFFAIR

It is said to have confessed to friends that he took mail from the Hunthouse letter box in the Tule Lake Star Route—Cacka was arrested last fall on charge of looting automobiles.

(Herald Special Service)

PORTLAND, Feb. 12.—A new turn has been taken in the attempt of a "Mrs. Hunthouse" to sell to Spokane banks promissory notes for nearly $17,000, with the signature of Capt. J. W. Siemens of the First Trust and Savings bank of Klamath Falls forged thereto. Instead of W. M. Chandler, driver of the Merrill-Tule Lake stage line, Frank Cacka, a Bohemian residing in that section, is under suspicion.

Cacka was summoned to appear before the federal grand jury in session here. He was closely questioned by Federal District Attorney Rowman, and the officer decided it would be advisable to hold Cacka here, pending further investigation.

Deputy United States Marshal D. P. Fuller and Postal Inspector F. E. Whitney have been sent to Klamath county, to make a further investigation into the case.

Cacka came under suspicion a short time ago in connection with the raising of the figures on a postal money order.

Cacka is the Malin farmer who was arrested last fall on charge of looting automobiles while their owners were duck hunting on Tule Lake. He entered a plea of guilty, and was fined $20 by Justice of the Peace Gowen.

The United States officials are today making an investigation in the vicinity of Merrill and Tule Lake.

The attempted forgeries being the cause of Eugene Staxton being arrested in Idaho late in July, and held in the Klamath county jail for six months, to be finally liberated. W. M. Chandler, driver of the Merrill-Tule Lake stage, was arrested in connection with this case a couple of weeks ago. As Chandler has always borne an excellent reputation, and is considered by all to be a rugged, honest character, there was much surprise that he should even be suspected, but it is believed now that his detention in Portland was a ruse, by the Federal sleuths to divert attention from their subsequent movements.

MAY PUT C. A. R. UNDER WAR DEPT.

GOVERNMENT CONSIDERING TAKING DIRECTION OF COAST ARTILLERY RESERVES FROM THE STATES

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12.—There is a movement on foot in Washington to the end that the Coast Artillery Reserves of the various sea coast states may be placed directly under the war department and taken entirely away from the jurisdiction of the National Guard authorities of the different states in which they are located.

Although the plan is merely a tentative one and no authoritative information has so far been given out regarding it, it is known here that it is being seriously considered by the military authorities.

The Coast Artillery Reserves are in a class by themselves so far as National Guard organization is concerned. Their field work is entirely at sea coast batteries, saving semi-occasionally, when they go out on maneuvers as infantry with National Guard mobile troops.

In time of war they are immediately available for actual duty, for their work is such that they are not obliged to undergo weeks of field training to harden them sufficiently for campaign purposes. They can be placed in permanent camps at a day's notice and man the sea coast defenses without any delays incident to "hardening" the men for work as the mobile army is obliged to do.

"That this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people and for the people, shall not perish from this earth."—Abraham Lincoln.

Illinois Boss Would Be a Member of United States Senate

Roger Sullivan, boss of at least some of the democratic party in Illinois, wants to go to the United States senate. Many republicans are watching with considerable interest to try to learn the attitude of the Wilson administration.

While few of them expect anything will come from the White House to show an indication of the president's feelings, it was suspected, that in view of the action of Sullivan at the national democratic convention in Baltimore, when President Wilson got his nomination, some indication might be given.

RIVER OPENING OPPOSITION IS BEING WITHHELD

SINNOTT SAYS SELLS KEEPS PAPERS CONFIDENTIAL

Oregon Congressman Told That Decision Will Be Announced in a Few Days, But That There Is Not Much Chance of a Change—Lane Writes That Sells May Change If He Can Be Shown Why It Should Be Done.

A short time ago the Klamath Chamber of Commerce telegraphed $5 to Indian Commissioner Sells, asking him to send a transcript of the papers filed by those opposing the opening of the Williamson and Sprague rivers to logging.

Today Secretary Wyde received the following from Congressman N. J. Sinnott:

"I had a talk today with Commissioner Sells relative to your request for copies of complaints, etc., filed by opponents of the opening of the Williamson and Sprague rivers to logging. He informed me that it was the invariable rule of his office to treat such documents as confidential, and for this reason he would be unable to comply with your request. He informed me that he has returned the $5 and written you relative to the rules of the department in such matters.

"He further informed me that in a few days he would acquaint me with the final determination as to permitting logging on the rivers, but he rather indicated that there would be no material change in the present status and unless he changes his mind it looks as if the chances for a grant of any substantial concessions are very slight."

The same mail also brought the following to George Chastain from Senator Harry Lane:

"The question is now being considered by the commission of Indian affairs, and he has informed me, through his assistants, that he is willing to modify his opinion if he can be shown the wisdom of doing so. I shall call upon him again in a day or two and ascertain what decision he has arrived at concerning the matter."

A meeting will be held at the Chamber of Commerce this afternoon, and several members of the Indian council from the reservation will be present. Joe Ball, chairman of the council, is considering sending a telegram to Commissioner Sells, asking him to delay his decision until the Indian council, as a body, can meet and formulate resolutions, to be sent by wire.

Brand Reactor Cows

State Board Will Insist on More Stringent Rules

In order to protect the consumers of dairy products in the state of Oregon from impure milk the State Livestock Sanitary board is using extra precaution against tuberculin dairy cattle. Dr. George C. Mitchell, veterinarian for Klamath county, is in receipt of a letter from State Veterinarian W. H. Lytle, urging strict enforcement of all laws safeguarding against tuberculin dairy cattle. The letter in part follows:

"You will note that regulation 16, on page 29 of the livestock sanitary laws, provides that all animals that react to the tuberculin test shall be branded with the letter 'T' on the right jaw. Hereafter in making tests, if you should chance to find a reactor it will be necessary that you immediately brand the same, as is provided for in this regulation.

"We have had some trouble of late in regard to reactor cattle that have been tested by veterinarians authorized to administer interstate tests, as some cattle that have reacted to the test have apparently been moved to other sections and their identity has been lost, the owners contending that the animals had died. Hence, you can see if reactor cattle are immediately branded there can be no chance of their being moved to other sections and sold as tuberculous free cattle.

"Also, there seems to be a lack of knowledge concerning section 31, which provides that 'No public auction sale of any herd or part of a herd of dairy animals, or animals intended for breeding purposes, shall be held except under the process of court, unless all the animals offered for sale have, within twelve months prior to such sale, been submitted to a tuberculin test and received a certificate of health from a qualified veterinarian.'"

Pork--"Pen to Pan"

Miss Carpenter Has New Domestic Training Plan

Acting on the belief that the more her class knows about the production of the ingredients used in cooking, the more interest they will take in their work, Miss Addie Carpenter, at the head of the department of domestic science of the high school, has inaugurated a "take-a-look" series of trips.

The first of these was taken Wednesday, when Miss Carpenter accompanied her class to the Klamath Falls roller mills. Manager Martin of the mills very graciously escorted the young ladies over the plant from cellar to garret, explaining the process of turning wheat into flour.

On another day the class will be taken through the People's Market to watch the evolution of a pig, from the pen to the pan.

These trips, with the information gathered, are bound to prove both interesting and instructive.
