

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Proud beauties, you must not disdain the lowly of the earth; Just think but for the crawling worm. What would your clothes be worth? Dame Fashion has decreed that silk this spring shall be the thing. And this is where the wee silk worms now have their little fling.

Both night and day they toil away To clothe you for the ball. And for the street in silk complete— They never rest at all.

And even as the silk worms slave, So also more men do. Both night and day they toil away For silken robes for you.

Proud beauties, do not then disdain The lowly of the earth. For worms, and even husbands, too, All have their little worth.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—The spring maid has come to town shimmering in silken shawl and even as a song of the first robin is heard on every limb, so is the rustle of tulle heard on every fiber, hand. Into a Watteau shepherdess, a Nattier beauty, a gay Marquise or a Dolly Varden, the new silk model gown will turn you for they are all built on the quaint ruffled and patterned lines of these periods and the silks themselves are adorably spotted and flowered and striped. You simply can't be a plain Jane this season and be in style at the very time, for their light plain silk among the whole bewitching display.

The bright hued Roman striped effects are the smartest of the new silks while the delicate rainbow tinted tulle, soft as charmeuse, blooming with tiny garlands and rosebuds tied with true lovers knots of peeping from quaint little shepherdess baskets are perfect for the richings and painters and Watteau pleats of the present picturesque modes.

Silk crepes, striped, flowered, brocaded and embroidered, offer alluring inducement among the new materials and a decided innovation is a fabric called "goffine," which is an all cotton material and has a corduroy effect with a heavy velvet looking stripe on a thin crepe background. The same effect in silk is called "rattine."

As for the hats, those that strive for the greatest heights of favor seem to be those that simply strive for the greatest heights. On some the ostrich plumes and feather tangles actually stick up two feet in the air. The straw shapes are hard little tight little affairs that turn up at odd angles close to the crownless hats worn casually and intermittently by the most extreme dressers in Paris last season have now reached us with a vengeance and in profusion. In most cases they are mere head bands with high upstanding ruffles of tulle or more silk all the way around or just on one side to suit your taste or your face.

Because of the playful custom of the customs to pluck all feathers, by fair means or foul, from the incoming Paris chapeaux, the new models from the Rue de la Paix are shy of feathers and profuse in the products of Flora or Pomona. Camellias, pink and or white, are the smartest flowers while tiny lemons and life sized oranges seem to be the favored fruits. Quills being permissible, however, they are used in literally killing ways. Tucked at such barbarous angles are they that an unfortunate male or female in close proximity to one of these quilled torture bonnets may not hope to escape without the loss of at least one eye.

Your nasal appendage seems to have become the impregnable boundary line beyond which no fashionable veil may pass. You must either wear a barren veil whose heavily embroidered net covers the lower half of your face and leaves only your eyes exposed, or the newest little complexion veils which are draped over the shy brutish turbans and high crowned hats and cover the upper part of your physiognomy to the tip of your nose.

In both instances your Roman or retroussé feature, whichever the type may be, gets under the veil by a narrow margin and thus saves its skin from a sunburned season.

This halfway taking of the veil ought to make a decided hit with the dandies whose features aren't all quite up to Grecian standards. By simply playing both ends against the middle she is sure to win either by a couple of orbs or a pair of red lips.

Has J. J. Hill secured the old C. & O. roadbed between Ashland and Portland, now forming a part of the Southern Pacific? Such is the rumor brought to Ashland Saturday last, and while there is no way to substantiate it, there are some things which are not of harmony with that state of affairs.—Ashland Tidings.

Today brings to a close one of the busiest weeks in the social history of Klamath Falls, practically every day of the week being taken up with one or more parties or entertainments. According to some of the hostesses, this is the usual pre-Lenten rush, preparatory to abandoning pleasures for a period of forty days, and giving oneself to pious meditations. Ash Wednesday, which ushers in the Lenten season, occurs next week. Easter Sunday will be April 12th this year, and already matrons and maids, before forswearing social gatherings, are mentioning with a note of satisfaction the fact that Easter is late enough this year to practically insure perfect weather for the regular Easter parade and display of the spring and summer shapes in millinery.

The biggest event of the week was, of course, the dancing party given by Klamath Falls Lodge No. 1247, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, at the White Pelican hotel Thursday night. There were two hundred or more in attendance, and the Klamath Falls women lived up to their reputation of being the most tastefully gowned to be found in any small city in the West. Purple and white, the colors of the order, predominated in the decorative scheme, and many American flags were used, bringing out a very pretty effect. The ladies were all presented with favor bouquets of violet and white flowers, while the gentlemen were tagged with purple cards on white ribbons. The waltz, two-step and three-step, the germania, the tango and rag were all included in the evening's program, and the dances were anchored repeatedly by the happy throng. Music was furnished by the Star orchestra, consisting of six pieces.

Over a hundred were present at the Klamath county high school last night, the occasion being the reception given the Freshmen class by the Sophomores. In addition to the members of these classes, there were some guests from the upper classes and members of the faculty. The evening was devoted to playing unique games, which caused much merriment, and ice cream and wafers were served late in the evening.

Master Charles Riley Jr. and Master Russell Crandall are entertaining a number of their young friends this afternoon in the spacious parlors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Riley on Main street, in an appropriate celebration of Washington's birthday. Over the archway connecting the parlors is a mounted American eagle, and from the ceiling hangs a picture of Washington, done in oils. Everywhere are silk flags and national colors, and at each plate at the banquet table are placed a cluster of cherries, a red apple bearing a silk flag, and a place card in the shape of a hatchet. Even the napkins are patriotic red and blue shield surrounded with clusters of cherries. A musical program by Miss Martha Harwood, games by the children, and one of Mrs. Riley's famous feasts will be the order of the afternoon. Unique invitations were sent to the following: Gertrude Cofar, Florence Bradley, Veronica McAndrews, Anita Lawrence, Thelma Brown, Helen Turner, Stella Turner, Frances McLean, Freda Bielan, Nellie Elliott, Elbert Bradley, Kenneth Breneman, Geo. Bradley, Charles House, J. MacDonald, J. Urlling, Wallace Urlling, J. Kuykendall, Harry Bolvin, John Stewart and Billy Turner.

Summons
In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for Klamath County.
Emma R. Grigsby, Plaintiff, vs.
Frank Irish, Defendant.
To Frank Irish, the above named defendant:

That the said sum be made by the sheriff of Klamath county, Oregon, in manner provided by law. That the proceeds of said sale be applied in the payment of said judgment, interest, costs and attorney's fees and all accruing costs. That plaintiff have execution against the defendant for any balance that may remain due the plaintiff after applying all the proceeds of said sale as above provided. That the defendant and all persons claiming under him subsequent to the execution of plaintiff's said mortgage upon said lands and premises, either as purchasers, incumbents or otherwise may be barred and foreclosed of all right, claim or equity of redemption in and to said lands and premises and every part thereof. That plaintiff have such other and further relief as to the court may seem just and equitable.

In the name of the state of Oregon, you are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit on or before Saturday, the 7th day of March, 1914, that being the last day of the time prescribed in the order for publication of this summons, and if you fail so to appear and answer, for want thereof the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint, to wit: For a judgment against the said defendant, Frank Irish, for the sum of $590, together with interest thereon at the rate of 10 per cent per annum from January 8, 1913, and for the further sum of $57.08 paid out for taxes on said premises, with interest thereon at the rate of 10 per cent per annum from December 13, 1913, and for the further sum of $100 at attorney's fees for instituting this suit, and for the costs and disbursements here-

This summons is served by publication thereof in the Evening Herald, a daily newspaper of general circulation published in Klamath county, Oregon, by order of Honorable Henry J. Benson, judge of the above entitled court, made, dated and filed in said suit at Klamath Falls, Oregon, on the 24th day of January, 1914, which said order requires that summons in said suit be published once a week for a period of six consecutive weeks, from the 24th day of January, 1914, the date of the first publication of summons prescribed in said order.

NOSTRILS AND HEAD STOPPED UP FROM COLD? TRY MY CATARRH BALM

Instantly Clears Air Passages; You Breathe Freely; Dull Headache Goes; Nasty Catarrhal Discharge

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the Nostrils and instantly your plugged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; fullness and headache disappear. By morning, the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will disappear. End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foot mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear. (Paid Advertisement)

IF BACK ACHES BEGIN ON SALTS

BREAKFAST IF YOUR BACK HURTS OR BLADDER IS TROUBLING YOU

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become over worked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headache, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

"T'WAS EVER THUS"

Mrs. Kicker—"Did you ever see such rotten electric service as we have in Klamath Falls? Why, I have the awfulest time with my ironing—just beats anything I ever saw."

Mrs. Wise—"Why, I haven't found it so. In fact, I find the service here fully as good as in the large cities."

Mrs. Kicker—"Well, I consider it abnormal. I just can't get my iron to heat up right."

Mrs. Wise—"Have you told the company about it? hey would be glad to fix any trouble."

Mrs. Kicker—"Er—um—, n-o; don't say anything to the company. You see, I'm using a second-hand iron that I got real cheap, and—er—, they might think that had something to do with it. Besides, they don't know I have an iron."

Mrs. Wise (smiling knowingly)—"Oh, yes;" (to herself) "I thought it must be something like that."

The company cannot remedy troubles they are not allowed to know about
