Two Percent of Land in Garden

Finance More Than Farming Needed

There Is Plenty of Garden Land, Says Agricultural Expert, But Lack of Shipping Facilities Is Harmful

United Press Service
WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Garden truck, the second largest crop, in the point of value, grown in the United States, is raised on but 2 percent of the land especially adapted for that purpose and most of the remaining 98 percent is idle. Dr. F. K. Cameron of the bureau of soils, who knows more about dirt than any other man in the country, has reached this conclusion and he says that the present need is not for more extensive gardening but for better shipping facilities at terminals. The barrier between the city dweller and a mess of green peas is to be removed by finance rather than by farming.

"The finest garden soil in the world is a sandy loam, usually not very good for general farming," said the expert today in discussing the question with a United Press correspondent, and land of this nature stretches all the way from New England to Texas. Transportation to market is the biggest problem. In New York, Chicago, St. Louis and other big cities, the problem is much more the same and it is being attacked from two angles. The city people are turning "back to the soil" and the engineers are devising new methods of quick transportation.

Dr. Cameron was moved to this comment in view of a recent story from New York that an agriculturist there had devised a new method of forcing vegetable growth by applying "carbonic acid gas" direct to the earth. The government has made several experiments of this nature, but has produced no unusual results. Certain other methods, however, resulted in abnormally large vegetables, but these are generally without economic value.

"Big vegetables do not save anything, because there is plenty of room to grow truck," explained the expert. "The best land for this purpose is a sandy loam, because it can be controlled easily and worked up nicely. A soil analysis will show the proper fertilizer, and land, like muscle, improves in strength and productivity when properly used."

A pound of fresh poultry represents an investment of from 13.1 cents to 20.5 cents, providing the most scientific methods have been used in breeding and feeding. After experiments covering nearly three years, during which time more than a million fowls were fattened for the market, the animal industry division of the bureau of animal industry has arrived at these figures. The higher figure represents the cost of the fowl in July and this gradually becomes less until November.

The experiments were conducted under the supervision of Alfred R. Lee, whose aim was to discover the cheapest food for the commercial fattening of poultry. Every variety of fattening was tried and three model rations were finally decided upon.

No. 1 consists of three parts corn meal, two parts low grade wheat flour and one part shorts; No. 2 has three parts corn meal and two parts low grade wheat flour, and No. 3 has five parts corn meal, three parts low grade wheat flour, one part shorts and 5 percent (correct) tallow. The same feeding value is secured in a ration of three parts corn meal and two parts oat flour, but at an increased cost of 37 cents per hundred pounds of grain.

Tallow makes the fat on the birds more pronounced, but increases the cost of the grain in weight. Thick condensed buttermilk in the place of tallow produces better results. The addition of beef scraps to the buttermilk was tried but this did not increase the gain. Grit was found to be of no value in fattening for a period under fifteen days.

Under commercial conditions in the Middle West the best results are secured by fattening for about fourteen days during the summer. After the middle of September this period should be shortened gradually till the fatting process lasts only six or seven days.

Birds eat more when fed three times a day, but show greater gain per pound when fed but twice a day.

In the experiments conducted by the government there was a great variation in the results secured in fattening. This was due to the difference in the ability of the birds to take on flesh, to their weight at the beginning of the feeding, and to weather conditions.

The variation in birds makes their selection in fattening of considerable importance. It was also shown that broilers can be fattened about a cent cheaper per pound than roasters.

Tree planting on national forests has to be confined to comparatively short intervals in spring and fall. In spring it starts when the snow melts, and stops with the drying out of the ground; in the fall it comes between the fall rains and first snowfall.

Canada has established a forest products laboratory in connection with McGill University at Montreal, on the lines of the United States institution of the same sort at the University of Wisconsin.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

TAKE A GLASS OF SALTS TO FLUSH OUT YOUR KIDNEYS AND NEUTRALIZE IRRITATING ACIDS.

Kidney and bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normally again.

Jad salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

Late Dance in London

In the effort to displace the tango and its attendant dances, London society has taken up a troupe of Javanese dancers, members of which are teaching an entirely new series of steps. These new dances are said to be very simple and attractive, but if they are to be danced in bare feet it is doubtful if they will become popular here.
