

NONE OUT YET FOR OFFICE OF COUNTY JUDGE

LIST OF PROBABLES HAS FADED VERY BADLY

Present Appearances Indicate That Judge Worden Will Have the Field to Himself. Though as Yet He Has Not Definitely Announced His Plans, Judge May Be Forced to Succeed Himself.

Candidates have been announced for practically all of the county offices with the exception of that of county judge. Earlier in the year there was considerable talk of probable candidates for this important office and efforts were made to induce someone to enter the race in opposition to Judge Worden.

As the time for filing petitions gets shorter the possibility of securing a suitable opponent to the present incumbent seems to diminish, and it now looks as if Judge Worden would have the field to himself. It is not known just what the attitude of the judge is with regard to another term, but it would look as if he would be forced to run again.

There are many things started by the present court which remain unfinished, and the friends and supporters of the court are anxious that Judge Worden remain another term in office to complete the work already started.

It will be impossible to complete the court house this year, as a large portion of the funds levied for this purpose will not be available, on account of the tax being paid in warrants. There are several important pieces of road that cannot be finished this year.

On the other hand, opponents to the present court have so far been unable to persuade anyone to make the run in opposition to Worden, and while confidence was expressed earlier in the season in being able to find plenty of men, yet all prospective candidates so far have refused to take any chance at being the goat.

While Judge Worden refuses to commit himself as to his intentions, it is quite generally believed that he will be a candidate, as it is positively stated that he so declared last fall, and his friends see no reason why he should change his mind at this time.

City Manager for Colorado Springs

United Press Service
COLORADO SPRING, March 4.—Colorado Springs may follow the example of Dayton, O., and adopt the city manager form of government. It was believed here today, as the result of a recent visit of Clinton Rogers Woodruff, of Philadelphia, secretary of the National Municipal League. Since Dayton adopted the plan, fifteen American cities have followed suit. Woodruff urged the plan here.

Will Reopen Box Factory

Ewauna Box Co. Has Doubled Capacity of Plant

The Ewauna Box company will open next Tuesday for the season's run. According to the officials, the orders now on file are twice as large as last year, so the plant will be kept crowded to the minute all through the season. At least thirty-five men will be given steady employment.

Since the plant closed down last winter, a number of big improvements have been made. As a result, the daily output has been doubled, and the concern will now turn out 60,000 feet of box shooks in a day's run, making it as large as any other factory in the county.

INSURGENCY IN "COXEY" ARMY; FIGHT EXPECTED

L. W. W. FACTION HAS SECEDED FROM RANKS

Industrialists Plan a Separate Hike to Washington—Kelley's Army Is Still Encamped on the Outskirts of Oakland, Awaiting Box Cars to Transport Them on their Journey—Are Kept Out of Oakland.

United Press Service
OAKLAND, March 4.—Recession has broken out in the ranks of "General" Kelley's army of unemployed, which is going to Washington to demand work.

Led by William Thorne, 500 Industrial Workers, who were part of the force, have deserted, and say they will also go to Washington. This faction is camped near Kelley's force, and there are frequent threats of hostilities.

Kelley's forces are still camped in the suburbs, awaiting the box cars promised by the Southern Pacific.

"As soon as the promised box cars are secured the army will move to Sacramento, and from there to Ogden," said Kelley today. "We are leaving despite the fact that the men are not equipped for a long trip."

"There is an insufficient number of tents, blankets and cooking utensils. The clothing of the majority of the men is torn and ragged, and I doubt if there are three pairs of stout shoes in camp."

"We expect to meet General Coxe's army in Ohio in May, and march from there to Washington. It is expected that the army by that time will number 10,000."

REGISTRATION GOOD IN CITY

CITY HALL IS MORE SOUGHT THIS WEEK THAN THE BOOKS AT THE OFFICE OF THE COUNTY CLERK

Registration for the city's election in May today reached 188. By wards this is divided in the following manner:

First Ward	19
Second Ward	54

Total	185

The erection of an extensive aerial station midway between Berlin and Vienna is expected to lead to regular aeroplane service between the two cities.

Lieutenant Becker, Who Gets a New Trial on Murder Charge

The highest court of New York state, the court of appeals, has granted Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, sentenced to death for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the New York gambler, a new trial. At the same time, the four gunmen, who actually did the killing, have been denied new trials, and they must die in the electric chair at Sing Sing, unless they find a lawyer to carry their case into the federal courts.

Rosenthal was shot to death July 16, 1912, in front of the Hotel Metropolitan on Forty-third street. About a year ago Becker was convicted and sentenced to death. The case has dragged along since then. At the same rate of speed, three years may elapse before another conviction and confirmation by the court of appeals may be obtained.

In the meantime, Becker must be taken from the death house at Sing Sing to the Tombs prison in New York City. He and his friends believe another conviction will not be obtained.

MRS. WAKEFIELD'S DEPT. OF LABOR LOVER IS HANGED YEAR OLD TODAY

JAMES PLEW, IMPLICATED WITH WOMAN IN THE KILLING OF HER HUSBAND, DIES ON THE SCAFFOLD

United Press Service
HARTFORD, Conn., March 4.—James Plew, companion of Besie Wakefield, "the woman who never had a chance," convicted with her of murdering her husband, William Wakefield, last June, today was hanged in the "death yard" at Weatherfield state prison. Plew and Mrs. Wakefield both were sentenced on November 5 to die on the gallows, following Plew's admission that he planned the murder and aided the woman, who is but 24, carrying it out. Judge L. F. Burpee passed the sentence.

Immediately the woman was sentenced to be hanged, a state-wide fight was begun to save her life. The fight soon became nation-wide, but Governor Baldwin declared he could not commute the sentence to life imprisonment. It was argued that Connecticut has not taken the life of a woman by hanging for more than 100 years; that Plew exerted an almost supernatural influence over the woman, who had been maltreated by her husband both before and after their marriage. She had two children living, a boy 6 years old and a girl of 4. Shortly after the court ordered both Plew and Mrs. Wakefield to be hanged on March 4th, the woman's lawyer secured a reprieve for her until the court meets later this month to receive the complete printed records of the case.

Lodgepole pine seeds sown broadcast on the snow in Southern Idaho last spring germinated when the snow melted, and as many as sixty little trees were counted to the square foot. The summer was so dry, however, that most of the plants died except where sheltered by brush or logs.

SCHOOL FAIR TO BE HELD IN FALL

FORT KLAMATH, BONANZA, MERRILL AND KLAMATH FALLS ARE CHOSEN AS CENTERS FOR THESE EXHIBITS.

School fairs will be held next fall throughout the county, according to announcement just made by County School Superintendent Fred Peterson. These will be held at Fort Klamath, Bonanza, Merrill and Klamath Falls, and the smaller districts will participate at the center nearest them.

A local committee will be named in each of the four towns to make arrangements for the fairs. The prize winners at these will have a chance to compete for the prizes at the state fair, which include trips to the Panama-Pacific exposition, and many other good things.

Material relating to the industrial club movement has been sent to all the schools. It is hoped that nearly every district will take up this work.

HARDING SLAYER IS HOME TO DIE

U. S. GOVERNMENT SENDS PRISON WEEKS TO HIS NATIVE BEATH. IS IN THE LAST STAGES OF TUBERCULOSIS.

(Herald Special Service)

KLAMATH AGENCY, March 4.—Prison Weeks, who has been serving a ten-year sentence for the killing of little Harding, another Indian, on the Klamath Reservation in 1911, has been sent home from the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kansas. He is not expected to live but a short time.

At the time he was incarcerated, Weeks was a victim of tuberculosis. Confinement in the prison has made much worse the ravages of the disease, so, knowing that his days are numbered, the Indian was sent home to breathe his last surrounded by familiar faces and objects.

CONGER ESTATE IN COUNTY COURT

ATTORNEY GROESBECK FILES A PETITION FOR AN ADJUSTMENT—SCHOOL DISTRICT A BIG BENEFICIARY

A petition asking for an adjustment of the estate of Joseph Conger, one of the prominent men in the early history of the town, has been filed in the county court by Rollo C. Groesbeck, attorney. This requests that the property be distributed according to the terms of Conger's will.

By the terms of the will the heirs, who are about fifty in number, will receive $25 each. The remainder, which amounts to approximately $13,500, was willed to the school district. This action was filed under the new law for the adjustment of estates.

WOMEN LEARNING MUCH OF VALUE AT HIGH SCHOOL

ECONOMIC HOME METHODS ARE EXPLAINED

Attendance by the Women at This Department is Even Larger Than the Number of Farmers Who Are Devoting the Week to a Study of Scientific Methods as Applied to Agricultural Pursuits.

While the attendance of farmers at the short course being held at the high school this week is large, it is smaller than the number of women who are taking advantage of the week's work offered in home economics. Every session in this department is well attended, and much of practical value is taught.

At the morning session of the third day's short course, Mrs. L. W. Robbins continued her demonstrations in needle work and the things appertaining to sewing. She reviewed the history of threads and textiles, declaring the distaff to have been in use 3,000 years before the spinning wheel replaced it.

In comparing the ancient customs and methods, she spoke of the thrace of those old days to be found in the Hull House of Chicago, where peasants, fresh from the benighted regions of the Old World, still clung to life-long habits.

In the afternoon, Miss Addie Carpenter spoke on the "Evolution of Table Service and Manners." This talk was one of the most interesting and instructive of the entire course, and extremely well delivered.

She told of the discovery of fire, and the many years before it was conquered and made to serve the multiple purposes of the human race, as in the development of industries of various kinds; of the crude and cumbersome cooking and eating utensils of early periods, when wood, clay and stone constituted the stock of materials for the making of these utensils; of the gradual rise to silver and glass ware, till dining room splendor reached its pinnacle in the days of the luxuriant living of Caesar; of the Dark Ages, following the fall of Rome; of the introduction of pewter spoons and knives in the twelfth century, with forks unheard of till the days of Elizabeth; of the dining halls of the lords in the twelfth century, when tables were constructed of rude boards placed on benches, and every man carried his own knife when dining out.

In contrast to those customs, Miss Carpenter had two of her pupils, Miss Waive Jacobs and Miss Marie Griffith, set a table with china, silver and glass ware, then had one serve the other, this way demonstrating the proper way of serving and the correct usage of knife, fork, etc.

"Good manners," said Miss Carpenter, "is simplicity in doing the kindly, thoughtful thing at the right time."

'NO WORSE THAN OTHER COUNTIES,' SAYS WORDEN

DECLARES COURT WILL 'STAY WITH THE SHIP'

Stating That Warrants Attacked in Federal Suit Were Issued for Honest Debts Incurred for Necessary Highway Improvements in Klamath County, Judge Worden Says He Will See They Are Paid.

"The warrants which are attacked in the suit filed Tuesday in the federal court at Portland were issued in payment of honest bills. The money was expended in the construction of roads and other necessary expenses for Klamath county," was the statement made today by County Judge Will S. Worden, prefacing a resolve to see these warrants paid at par, instead of being repudiated.

"When the present administration commenced, Klamath county had no poor farm, no roads to speak of, a poor, unsafe system of bridges, and an antiquated court house. Like practically every other county in the state, we have done the best we could under the system.

"We had to start from the bottom, as it was impossible to raise money by a bond issue. We have done the best we could under the circumstances, and will stay by the ship until every warrant under attack is paid off at par."

BASEBALL DANCE TOMORROW NIGHT

BIG SALE OF TICKETS INDICATES ENJOYABLE AFFAIR WHEN MUSIC COMMENCES AT THE WHITE PELICAN

The big dance to be given Thursday night at the White Pelican hotel by the baseball boys gives every indication of being a winner from every viewpoint.

The committee in charge of the event have been working night and day to make the affair a success socially, and the number of tickets already disposed of guarantees its financial success.

A six-piece orchestra has been engaged to furnish the music, and no detail has been overlooked that would add to the enjoyment of the occasion.

The best people of the city are interested in the welfare of the baseball team, and are helping in every possible way to make these baseball dances events to be looked forward to with a vast deal of pleasure.

Opposes Candidate Ball

Peterson Frowns on Basket Socials, Dances, Etc.

The "candidate" balls, basket socials, etc., whereby during the political campaigns, Klamath county school districts, lodges, aid societies and other organizations have for years swelled their treasuries by means of spirited bidding on lunch baskets by rival candidates, has received another setback. In a letter sent to the various school teachers, County School Superintendent Fred Peterson writes as follows:

"We will soon have a political campaign with us, at which will be chosen our various state and county officers. It has seemed a custom to hold box suppers and festivals which the candidates were invited to attend and spend their money.

"If this is a custom, it is one that is more honored in the breach than in the observance. It is not conducive to the best government and ought not to be tolerated. The public schools ought surely to be the last to encourage the practice."

A similar plea is being made through the county by Rollo C. Groesbeck, who is lecturing on "Government and the Citizen" in the free lecture course offered the various school districts.
