Candidate for Alderman in Chicago

Miss Marion H. Drake, progressive candidate for alderman in the First Ward in Chicago against John J. Coughlin, has carried her campaign among the women of the south end of the ward.

Miss Drake visited more than fifty housewives in a house-to-house canvass before she went to the loop district to attend matters connected with her law business.

On her way to the loop district the woman candidate was hailed by a number of teamsters, to whom she has become a familiar sight working in the business streets of the ward. At one corner she stopped to chat with a mounted policeman to learn some facts about the policing of the ward. Miss Drake has been joined in her campaign work by a number of her close friends. They gather daily with her at headquarters.

OUR WEEKLY SERMON

"Rest for the Weary"

By ELDER S. D. HARLAN, Pastor Christian Church

Matt. 11:28, "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

Today when so many tired people are unemployed and those who have employment often get so tired and weary, the words of our text should be given special attention. When Jesus came to this world He brought with Him heaven's atmosphere. For this reason Satan soon left His presence, and the false teachers wished Him destroyed, while "the angels of heaven came and ministered unto Him."

Christ called the people of His day to become subjects of His kingdom, the church. Those who heeded not His call remained tired and weary, wondering why their yoke was so heavy. Today men are calling for "loaves and fish," as in Christ's day, but they are unwilling to pay the price that provides food for soul hunger and brings peace of heart. As soon as we cease building on the sand and step out on the rock Christ Jesus, the advantages of our royal citizenship is appreciated. We realize that the great Grand Master of this universe is our loving, heavenly Father. The same, that St. Luke says "had passion" on his wayward child. This wonderful father has compassion on the weary today, but to realize it we must walk in His way. Do not imagine that the church of Christ is opposed to true social service. Christ was a laboring man and knew the burdens of those who earned their bread in the sweat of their face.

In the church of Christ, conscience is the master, and not law. The unregenerated conscience is not a true guide, just as an uncleaned watch is not a true time keeper. But when our time piece has been cleaned, then we say, "It's like a new one." The conscience seared by sin will run the soul on the rocks of destruction. Paul says the conscience is purified by faith. Tim. 1:19, "Holding faith and a good conscience which some having thrust from them made shipwreck concerning the faith," and again, Heb. 9:14, "How much more shall the blood of Christ who through the eternal spirit offered Himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?"

In the church, service is the standard of honor. Jesus came to earth to minister and serve and give His life a ransom for many. No office in the church carries with it any authority. The position of service alone carries with it honor. Ask for the place in the church which no one else desires. There is room at the bottom in Christ's service.

In Christ's church fellowship is the joy. 1 John, 1:7, "If we walk in the light, as He is in the light, we have fellowship one with another." Man is so lonely without the friendship of Christ. Many today restless in the vineyard of the Lord would find rest to their souls in serving others. Christ found a crippled man by the pool with no one to help him into its waters. This man found the needed fellowship in Christ. His kingdom offers refuge to all even today. If you are weary, give Him a trial.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

(Written for the United Press)
She ruffles her coats and she ruffles her frocks.
She ruffles her hats and they ruffle her locks;
She ruffles her sleeves and her bodice—so low,
While her temper is easily ruffled also.

NEW YORK, March 14.—To be fashionable you must be ruffled up from top to toe. We have been straight lined and slimsy and sleek so long that once the break was made there has been a mad revolt from the straight and narrow. The consequence is an amazing eruption of ruffles on all the spring frocks and hats.

While most of the ruffling on the gowns catches you on the hip following the approved hippy outline of the tunic, puff and pannier, others begin at the knee and take a crooked and bias path to the waist line. Some of the ruffles have even dared to break into that narrow zone about the ankles and on some of the newest taffeta models they ripple three deep about the feet so long bounded only by the straight and narrow, plain and uncompromising hem.

For the skirt ruffles, net or taffeta, from which the entire gown is built, are the approved materials. For the wrist ruffles and those outlining the low bodices the same materials are the thing, although lace is also popular. The neck frills evolved from the taffeta medium are very chic, but not as full as those of the thinner fabrics.

The new coat are all cut with a flaring circular ruffle around the bottom when the suit is of serge or the heavier twilled silks. When the suit is of the omnipresent taffeta the coats are finished with ruffles as full and flamboyant as the law allows.

Separate silk wraps of flowered or plain silk are very quaint with kimono tops and deep ruffles two or three deep set on from the yoke line to the finish. The loose sleeves of these wraps end in deep ruffles, while an upstanding one finishes the neck.

As for the hats, the small turban shapes almost all boast an upstanding frill of either taffeta or net, while the brimmed ones have ruffles of lace, net or taffeta, gathered around their crowns and fluffily veiling their brows.

When you have donned a suit whose short jacket is finished with two fitted circular ruffles and whose skirt is set one fitted circular flounce after another, then topped it off with a tiny turban of hemp with an upstanding frill of black net, you certainly present a fashionable but scarcely a calm and unruffled appearance.

Hardly in the hat class, but still something that goes to your head, is the new tulle halo made up for all fashionable sinners in imitation of saintlike models. It is fashioned of a tulle frill that stands out from the face in most approved halo fashion.

Since we have taken no halos it is no wonder that waistlines are again striving to lead the higher life. For evening gowns, and in fact for all dressy occasions, the high waist is again de rigueur, although the normal line still clings triumphant about your middle for middle day wear.

After the surfeit of wide girdles and sashes galore, it is a promised relief from monotony that many Parisian dressmakers and designers are now favoring narrow inch-and-a-half girdles, or rather belts, and in many instances no girde at all, but simply a line joining between the blouse and skirt. Of course the girde will not submit to annihilation without a struggle, and so it is putting forth new lures and fascinations to hold its devotees.

Not the least of these charms is a girde composed of two and three shades or contrasting colors. One is a sweet pea shade of pink is adorable. In three shades of green, yellow or American beauty tints these girdles are indeed lovely, and it is well to have at least one about you, even if the rest of your wardrobe be girdeless.

It is sad to relate, but waistlines on sport and top coats absolutely refuse to be elevated like the rest of their ilk. They have sunk to the lowest depths. Even the belts that hang around them have fallen into their low ways and slump loosely and discouragingly in the rear.

WARREN CONSTRUCTION COMPANY
AND GRANTS PASS FIRM
HAVE MEN HERE LOOKING IN TO PHOENIX PAVING

In addition to the local contractors who are considering submitting bids on the various street improvements to be made this summer, outside firms are making investigations as to the kind of work, etc.

A representative of the Warren Construction company is here, and a looking over the field. This company, through the Strange-Maguire Paving company, laid the last surface pavement here a couple of years ago.

It is also understood that Shell & Co., Grants Pass contractors, are figuring on bidding on some of the Klamath Falls work.
