FIND DOROTHY ARNOLD CLUES

APPALLING FACTS BROUGHT OUT BY RAIDING OF A HOSPITAL FOR CRIMINAL OPERATIONS IN PITTSBURG.

PITTSBURG, April 10.—The police raided a maternity hospital in Bellevue, a suburb of this city, and arrested Dr. C. C. Meredith, the head of the institution. Miss Lucy Orr, the head nurse; Mary Snyder, a nurse employed by Meredith, and H. E. Lutz, who was also employed in the institution.

Lutz confessed that more than a score of patients had been criminally operated on at the place, and when the operations proved fatal the remains of the victims were consigned to the furnace.

The indications are that Dorothy Arnold, the missing New York heiress came to her end in this place.

District Attorney Jackson said this afternoon: "Lutz came through and told everything. We have evidence that Miss Dorothy Arnold was a patient at the institution, and her movements have been traced right to the door of Dr. Meredith's downtown office, in the Schmidt building.

"We have learned enough to convince us that in this raid we have broken up one of the worst places in the country. It is too early, however, to tell what will be revealed about Dorothy Arnold's fate."

MUTUAL MILLING CO. DEFENDANT IN A DAMAGE ACTION

CYRUS E. KREIGH ASKS MONEY FOR INJURY

Alleging That the Company's Plant Was Defective Because of Escaping Steam Obscuring the Vision; Belts and Pulleys Not Properly Guarded, Man Asks $7,500 for the Loss of an Arm.

The Mutual Milling company, owned by local men, and operating a sawmill at Chiloquin, is the defendant in a suit for $7,500 damages, filed today by Cyrus E. Kreigh.

Kreigh lost an arm in the mill, and states that he was otherwise permanently injured as a result of the mishap.

W. H. A. Renner is attorney for the plaintiff. In the complaint it is alleged that the company has failed to meet the requirements of the law regarding proper safeguards.

There is a constant escaping of steam when the mill is in operation, says the complaint, which obscures the vision of the men employed and makes their work more hazardous. In addition, it is alleged that the live roller lift is unguarded, there are not proper belt shifts at the edger, and a lack of signals between the operating department of the mill and the engine room, whereby the mill could be shut down with no loss of time in case of emergency.

The accident which caused the suit occurred December 19th. The complainant alleges that owing to the fact that they were not properly equipped for safety, his right hand was caught between the live rollers on the edger, and drawn into the saw. Besides, he alleges that he was thrown violently against the machine.

As a result of the mishap, Kreigh's right arm was severed below the elbow. In addition he alleges that his right side is permanently injured and that he lapses into semi-unconsciousness and is afflicted with nervous headaches.

Last year only twenty-three murders were committed in the city of London.

Metcalf Shows Correspondence for River Opening

The Southern Pacific is using every effort to bring about the reopening of Sprague and Williamson rivers to logging operations, as is shown by the following letter, received from Division Superintendent J. W. Metcalf by the Klamath Chamber of Commerce:

"Our assistant general manager advises the writer that you have recently written Mr. Chas. S. Fee concerning the 'Order from Government forbidding rafting logs down Williamson and Sprague rivers,' and in view of my having the file most fully covering our efforts to secure a modification of abrogation of such order, I was instructed to write you in connection therewith.

"The question was first opened up by Mr. Milburn Knapp, addressing our then general superintendent, Mr. D. W. Campbell, December 19, 1913, to which Mr. Campbell replied under date of December 16th, copy to the writer, with request that I look into and advise concerning what information I could secure as to who first formulated the complaint, which I did under date of December 20th. Since that time the matter has been a subject of continued consideration and action culminating in our Mr. Luce, freight traffic manager, having the subject taken up at Washington direct with Honorable Cato Sells, commissioner of Indian affairs, by our attorney, Mr. C. H. Bates; his report being anything but encouraging for the lumber industry in the vicinity of Klamath Falls.

"You will readily understand the appreciating of our interests in connection with yours, the following being an extract from my letter of January 1, 1914, addressed to Mr. Campbell:

"We are vitally interested in having such order rescinded, permitting the floating of logs down the Williamson River; as it means to us the offering of a great deal of business which we could not otherwise secure, and I am convinced we would not be running counter to the feelings of any other parties, as from what I can learn, all are combining with a view to having such order rescinded."

This morning Mr. Metcalf passed through Klamath Falls on his way to Chiloquin to make an inspection, and a delegation from the Chamber of Commerce, consisting of President George J. Walton, Secretary Lewis Wylde, W. T. Lee, Kip Van Riper, J. W. Siemens and S. B. Evans, called on his private car to discuss the river matter with him.

Mr. Metcalf gave the committee his complete files on the matter, which proved that the railroad is working ardently for the lumber interests of Klamath county.
