Uncle Sam Close to Intervention Ships and Troops Moving; Mexicans Must Salute

ADMIRAL MAYO SAYS IF SALUTE IS NOT FORCED, IT IS USELESS TO KEEP WARSHIPS AT TAMPICO

BRYAN, WILSON AND LIND ARE HOLDING A CONFERENCE AT THE CAPITOL.

Officials Realize That if the Mexicans Do Not Meet This Demand on the Part of Naval Official, Americans Will Be Subjected to Contempt by Mexicans, and Nation's Prestige Is Lessened.

United Press Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 14.—The Mexican policy today hangs in the balance.

Mexican Ambassador Lind, State Secretary Bryan and President Wilson are holding a conference at the White House.

Two squadrons of American warships are anchored in the harbor of Vera Cruz and at Tampico. Unless the Tampico federals fire a salute to the American flag very soon there is every reason to believe that the marines will land at both ports.

The officials are very reticent.

It is known that Admiral Mayo, commanding the squadron at Tampico has told the president that if, after the arrest of American marines by the federals, the Mexican government does not insist upon a salute being given to the American flag, it will be useless for the warships to remain at Tampico, as this would only increase more open contempt upon the part of the Mexicans.

Wilson and Bryan are determined, if it is honorably possible, to prevent intervention. They realize that recent events have increased the difficulty of this task. Their advisors say that unless the administration upholds Mayo's demand for a salute, the prestige of the nation will be lessened in the eyes of the world.

None deny that the situation is most serious. The tension increased rather than diminished at the Wilson-Bryan-Lind conference today, which in no way cleared the air.

The only statement made regarding this was that the president backed Mayo's demand for the salute, which has not yet been fired. O'haughnessy, it is hoped, will be able to persuade Huerta to order the salute

Roads Getting Better.

W. T. Lee of the Oregon-California Auto company, returned at 1:30 today from an auto trip to Bly. Mr. Lee drove over Monday, taking Dr. Gray and wife. On the return trip he brought in Mr. and Mrs. John Wells and Ollie Howard of Bly, and T. J. Smith of Central Point. Mr. Lee says the roads from Klamath Falls to the top of the mountains are getting in good shape, but on the other side of the mountain they are in very bad condition.

QUEENS TALLER THAN THE KING

THE LATEST LINE OF STATISTICS PROVES THIS TO BE THE CASE IN ENGLAND, GERMANY, SPAIN, RUSSIA AND ITALY

United Press Service

LONDON, April 14.—Suffragettes who are prone to emphasize the decadence of the male species have discovered a handy argument in the comparative stature of the kings and queens of Europe. Nearly all the monarchs are shorter than their wives.

George of England is several inches less than Queen Mary in height.

The German Empress is so much taller than her husband that the kaiser usually has her sit down when they are photographed together.

The czarina makes her husband look like Mr. Pip when she stands beside him.

Queen Ena of Spain is nearly a head taller than Alfonso, and King Victor of Italy barely reaches the shoulder of Queen Helene.

Davis in Town.

Alex Davis, cattle and stock man, is in from his ranch for a few days business in the city.

The first five months of 1913 saw all previous records in Texas broken for the amount of bonds voted in the various counties and road precincts for good roads.

HARRY THAW'S HABEAS CORPUS WRIT IS UPHeld

FEDERAL JUDGE GIVES THIRTY PAGE OPINION

Despite This Ruling, Prosecutor Jerome of New York Will Not Let Up on the Slayer of Stanford White and Declares He Will Appeal the Case to the United States Supreme Court at Once.

United Press Service

CONCORD, N. H., April 14.—Federal Judge Edgar Aldrich today, in a thirty-page opinion, upheld the demand of the attorneys for Harry K. Thaw for a writ of habeas corpus.

The opinion was devoted to a discussion of whether New York took the proper course in seeking the return of Thaw by extradition process. Judge Aldrich held that the constitutional right to extradite for crime does not reasonably apply to such cases where the right to extradite contended for by the demanding state lies in a decree of custody based on insanity.

The court made no formal order for Thaw's discharge, but gives the New York authorities ample time in which to perfect an appeal to the supreme court.

United Press Service

NEW YORK, April 14.—William T. Jerome, in speaking of the decision of the Concord judge today, said:

Judge Aldrich's decision makes no difference. I will go to the supreme court of the United States to fight this matter out. New York state does not alter its contention that Thaw is criminally responsible for the escape from Mattawan. Of course I will object to Thaw being released on bail as strenuously as ever, and the only effect the decision of Judge Aldrich will have in reality will be to bring the case to a head.

Major Rodolfo Fierro, Charged With Killing William S. Benton

Major Rodolfo Fierro, accused by the commission appointed by Carranza, head of the Mexican revolutionists for the investigation of the murder of William S. Benton, the British subject, who was shot to death at Jaurez, has at last been photographed. This is the first picture of him sent to the United States. In his field costume he looks the bandit and as savage as any of the followers of Pancho Villa, who was a bandit for years. Fierro was the superintendent of railways for Villa. The picture of him was taken by a photographer who knew him well, and who traveled on the National railway under passes signed by Fierro. The report of the Carranza commission which held that Fierro was guilty of the crime, cleared Villa of part in it. Fierro is now in jail in Chihuahua. The report said the investigation showed he was assassinated, that there was no court martial, and that he was killed by being stabbed. The assassin buried him in the soft sand of Samalyuca. The body was later disinterred by Villa and sent to Chihuahua.

WILL GIVE SERIES OF LODGE DANCES

ENTERTAINMENT COMMITTEE OF LOCAL LODGE WILL GIVE SIX SATURDAY NIGHT DANCES TO BEGIN THIS WEEK

HOLIDAY FOR THE CHILDREN FRIDAY

WILL BE DISMISSED IN ORDER TO GIVE THEM AN OPPORTUNITY TO CLEAN UP THEIR OWN YARDS, ETC.

In order to give the school children a chance to participate in the cleanup campaign, the schools will be dismissed Friday afternoon. This will allow the scholars to rake up all the trash, etc., around their yards.

Friday and Saturday have been designated as cleanup days by the city council. The city will employ teams to gather the trash, etc., and haul it to the dump grounds. To have refuse hauled away it is necessary that it be placed in cans, boxes or sacks and left in front of the sidewalks or in the alleys, so it can be quickly thrown into the clean-up wagons.

Choosing Teachers

More Selections Are to Be Made by Next Monday

Just what teachers will be in charge of the grades next year is a matter that is now being given serious consideration at the hands of the board of directors. It is expected that the list for the 1914-15 term will be fully completed by Monday.

At Monday's meeting of the school board an effort was made to select the teachers, but it was found that this would require a few days of thought. Some selections were made Monday, but these the board would not announce.

"A great many of the present teachers will remain," said President Fountain today. "There will be several positions to fill, though, largely due to resignations, and it will be Monday, at least, before the directors fully decide upon who will teach, and assign the teachers to grades and buildings."
