

Outlook Is Bright on Coast, Says the Espee

(Herald Special Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, April 15.—The latest report of the Southern Pacific company on the condition of business on the Pacific Coast shows great prosperity prospects.

The rain has been general throughout the Coast recently, and has been sufficient to do all that was required. The February storms filled the underground reservoirs and deposited an ample supply of snow upon the mountains. Water for irrigation and power is assured.

The report says in part: "Oregon—Outlook is considered as good if not better than at the same time in 1913. Banks in excellent condition, with heavy resources. Among bankers, merchants and manufacturers a more optimistic feeling prevails than for some time. Lumber outlook better. Crop prospects good.

"California—Prospects for very large yield of crops. Orchards in splendid condition. Stock ranges in fine shape, affording an abundance of feed. In Santa Clara Valley quite an amount of planting to prunes and apricots, most of it new, other than replanting on account of dead trees due to past two seasons.

Warns Local Farmers About Russian Thistle

Editor Herald:

I desire to call attention of our county commissioners to the necessity of taking some action toward exterminating noxious weeds upon our public highways, and also to call attention of our farmers to a serious danger that confronts them in the presence of the Russian thistle, which has found a lodgment in the southeastern part of our county, so I am informed.

On my trip east last fall, through Eastern Oregon, Idaho, Wyoming, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Utah and Nevada, I had ample evidence of the destructiveness of this weed. More especially in the Snake River Valley, it had taken the alfalfa and grain fields, covered the highways and railroad rights of way, and even in the gardens and orchards, it was piled up against the fences in huge rows. Like the tumble weed, it travels with the winds when ripe, scattering its seed as it goes, and its hardness and persistence almost prevents its eradication.

The time to stop it is at its earliest appearance, when a persistent and thorough warfare should be kept up, and a strict quarantine maintained against any grain, garden or grass seeds from regions where it grows.

Every farmer or land owner should join in the eradication of this pest wherever and whenever it appears, for its spread is rapid and its presence would soon cause many thousands of dollars loss to our agriculturists, rendering unsalable the alfalfa and entailing enormous expense in preventing its overrunning everything.

In Wyoming it has taken the range, where it is only of use for grazing sheep in its early growth. True, it adds a gaudy coloring to some of the rather bleak hills and worthless badlands, as it is dark red, almost purple, in color, and forms a thick, almost impenetrable mat under foot. Unlike the dagger cocklebur, that for many years enervated upon the public highways of the state until it became necessary to take stringent methods to eradicate it, this thistle not only encroaches upon the road-

Grand-Nephew of Napoleon I. Weds Mrs. Harold Strebeigh

When Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte, the great-grandnephew of Napoleon I. and great grandson of Jerome, brother of the emperor, decided to wed Mrs. Harold Strebeigh the other day in New York, the pair just went down to the city hall and obtained a license, and found Alderman "Happy" Jack Reardon. In ten minutes they were united, and it is probable that no Napoleon, including the emperor, has been married with less fuss.

Mrs. Strebeigh and Mr. Bonaparte arrived at the city hall in a limousine and went straight to the marriage license bureau in the basement. In his affidavit Mr. Bonaparte said he was 36 years old, resided at 1120 Vermont avenue, Washington, D. C., and had no occupation. He was born in Paris, France, his father being Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte, and his mother Catherine Appleton. He has never been married before.

Mrs. Strebeigh met her lawyer at the city hall. He had a copy of the decree of Justice Manning in the Brooklyn supreme court, making her divorce absolute on April 3. The bride-elect swore that she was 34 years old, had no occupation, and lived at the Vanderbilt hotel. She was born in Newtonville, Mass.

They made a very attractive looking couple. Mr. Bonaparte is a well set-up man, tall, and wore a fancy check suit and up-to-date hat, and carried a cane.

The bride is handsome, dark, vivacious and dashing. Her dress was dark blue silk, and she wore a sizable hat with a feather. Everybody at the city hall agreed that she might be described as "chic." She is an accomplished dancer and is very fond of the new steps. She was in high spirits, and the slick tile floor of the basement tempted her. So while waiting for certain ceremonials she showed Mr. Bonaparte some of the new steps.

Outlook Good
"Alice in Wonderland" saw nothing to rival the wonder and beauty of the orchards in the Dalles district at this time of the year. A trip through the orchard districts now brings before the eye a wondrous array of blossoming trees, and if there is anything in favorable weather there will be such a crop of fruit this year as The Dalles Chronicle.

Swiss Dairymen
Curtis & Utley of Lakeview, have made connections with the lower country Swiss-Italians, and within the next sixty days will be bringing into Modoc county, Calif., and Lake county, Ore., several hundred Swiss dairymen. Irrigation in Rogue
A million dollar irrigation plant for the Rogue River Valley supplying water for 55,000 acres near Grant's Pass became an accomplished fact with the arrival of Francis M. Three miles of ditch have already been constructed on both sides of the river, the project extending from the Golden Drift dam to Hell Gate. The district is well settled now, and the water and power will be sold to ranchers.—Medford Sun.

Gold in Grizzly
The uncovering of what is believed to be an extensive ledge of gold-bearing ore on the slopes of Old Grizzly was one of the surprises of the past week. The find was made at an altitude of 5,000 feet at the head of a big gulch that extends from the north side of the peak down into the valley of Antelope Creek. The discoverers claim that the ledge is plainly discernible for a distance of 3,000 feet or more, and that it is 300 feet wide.—Ashland Record.
