SPRING CREEK IS VISITED BY PARTY

PEOPLE AUTO TO THE TROUT STREAM, BUT ARE TOO BUSY TO ENJOY THE FISHING

Sunday morning a party of twenty-four left Klamath Falls in autos for an outing and fishing trip on Spring Creek. The outing itself proved so perfectly enjoyable that they found no time for fishing, returning to the city without taking the fishing tackle out of the machines. At noon the party camped near the Spink resort, made coffee, and enjoyed a picnic lunch.

In the party were Miss Lillian Stiltz, Miss Elizabeth Stiltz, Mrs. Claude Daggett, Mrs. Eliza Leach, Mr. and Mrs. George Humphries, Francis and Earl Humphries, Phil Stiltz, J. A. Maddox, Mr. and Mrs. William Crandall, Chas. Crandall, Miss Martha Harwood, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Riley, Miss Virginia Callahan, Jack Horner, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stiltz, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Day and Miss Dorothy Day.

FT. KLAMATH COUPLE WEDDED

AGENCY PARSONAGE IS SCENE OF MARRIAGE OF FORT KLAMATH GIRL TO WELL KNOWN YOUNG PHYSICIAN

(Herald Special Service) FORT KLAMATH, April 20.—In the presence of only immediate relatives of the bride, Miss Eva Melhase and Dr. Andrew A. Soule were married Sunday by Rev. J. W. Worrell of the Klamath Agency. The couple left immediately afterward for their honeymoon, their destination being kept a mystery.

The contracting parties are well known residents of this section. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Melhase. She was born and reared here, and has a host of friends. The groom was born in Little Shasta, Calif., his parents being Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Soule. After finishing the state normal school at Chico, Dr. Soule took up medicine at the University of Oregon Medical School, and after graduation he did one year of hospital work at the city hospital in Salem.

Since coming to this community the doctor has built a substantial practice, and his many friends wish he and his estimable bride a happy and prosperous journey over the matrimonial sea.

Good Fishing. "Bun" Brown, J. I. Johnstone, Chas. Lowery, J. W. Steinmits and Harry Egan autoped to Williamson River Sunday for a day's fishing. Each filled his basket with beautiful specimens of the sunny tripe, though the fish were not as plentiful as was expected.

GENERAL WOOD TO COMMAND TROOPS

bounds. His rapid promotion was the cause of considerable comment in the army, and was accentuated by the old fight between the "line and staff."

As a surgeon in the army, Wood was of the staff faction. His rise to power made the West Pointers and others of the "line" faction peevish. But most of them were today willing to admit that the "physician" has done more for the army in his four years as chief of staff than any other one individual.

Not only did Wood have to buck opposition from the army, but he made powerful foes in congress by his firm stand in favor of abolition of a dozen or more army posts. The army posts have been largely distributed in the past as political favors rather than by strategic choice.

It helped a congressman or a senator to have a post in his district. But it resulted in the army being scattered all over the country. General Wood came out for mobilization of the standing forces into half a dozen — no more — concentration posts. He wanted to abandon isolated garrisons and keep the army near big centers.

Wood's greatest achievement as the head of the army was the development of the militia as an authorized auxiliary of the regular army. He has persistently boosted the "reserve enlistment" plan.

The retiring chief of staff is a fine figure of a man. He is over six feet in height, has the neck, arms and trunk of a gladiator, a face that is firm and purposeful, and makes a figure in the saddle like Marg himself. He walks with a slight limp, due to an injury.

KIDDIES' NOTES ALL INTERESTING

MR. AND MRS. HOUSTON SEE MUCH OF HUMAN INTEREST IN LETTERS WRITTEN BY PARENTS FOR CHILDREN'S SHOW

The notes from parents of children to J. V. Houston stating that the little bearers had worked faithfully in cleaning up yards, and therefore entitled to free pass to Saturday's matinee at the Temple theater, are being preserved by Mr. Houston as though each note was a check for a thousand dollars.

The great number of such notes received, and the positive assurance of faithful work done, is a splendid tribute to the energy and patriotism of the children of Klamath Falls. The fact that Klamath Falls is getting to be a city was emphasized by two little girls who stood in front of the theater and watched the others present their notes and pass in to see the wonderful pictures. Mrs. Houston, noticing the little ones, asked them if they had a note from their parents about cleaning up the yard.

"We have no yard," piped the little ones, "We live upstairs in a flat." Mrs. Houston quickly passed them in to see the show.

Heard on the K.C.H.S. Campus

Assistant Principal Coats spoke to the students in chapel this morning, telling of the trip to Eugene with the debating team. The Oregon City team excelled in delivery, said Mr. Coats, but the Klamath High team had the best arguments. He seemed to think the judges could easily have given the decision to either side.

The finals in the cooking contest will be decided Wednesday and Thursday and the prizes given out. Miss Helen Zumpfe will prepare a luncheon Wednesday, and Miss Lucile Waldron will give hers Thursday. Miss Abbie Carpenter will select judges.

Miss Hattie White takes her examination in laboratory work tomorrow all alone. It is the new rule, and seems a good one, to have the students take their examinations one at a time.

Concrete experts are at work today building forms and running concrete for the foundation of the Senior memorial fountain.

Miss Willa Leonard slipped on the wet grass on the high school lawn this morning, and tobogganed right under the shower from the lawn sprinkler.

An Explanation.

The statement in Saturday's Herald regarding a possible shortage in Ford cars should have been that George Behn, Ford agent here, feared he would be out of cars before another shipment from the factory reached here. Mr. Behn said this morning that he had received no word from the factory about a car shortage, and that his statement was that what cars he had on hand would be gone before more could be shipped from Detroit.

Warships Can Now Use the Canal, According to Chief

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 20.—"The Panama Canal is now ready for the passage of the largest warship in the United States Navy," was the message sent to Washington today by Colonel George W. Goethals, engineer in charge of the construction of the canal, and newly appointed governor of the Canal Zone.

Since the "war-with-Mexico" talk became serious Colonel Goethals has kept men and dredgers at work night and day to clear away what debris remained from slides, and has the dredgers stationed strategically for the quick removal of any other slides, thus affording a clear passage from one ocean to the other.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE IS SUPPORTED

(Continued from page 1) result of Huerta's personal attitude of resentment toward this government, we should be fighting only General Huerta and those who adhere to him and give him their support. Our only object in this would be to restore to the people of that distracted republic the right to set up again their own laws and their own government.

"Our feeling for the people of Mexico is one of deep and genuine friendship. Everything we have so far done or refrained from doing has proceeded from our desire to help them, not to hinder or embarrass them. "Undoubtedly I could do what is necessary to enforce respect for our government without recourse to congress, but I do not wish to act in a manner possibly of so grave consequence except in close conference and co-operation with both the senate and the house. I therefore ask your approval that I use the armed force of
