Musical Novelty Act

Tonight is the final appearance of DeFay and Moore, whose musical novelty act has drawn large crowds to the Star theater, and pleased all.
Their act is bright and clean, and it is also a quality attraction. Various musical numbers are given, the finale being a realistic boxing bout, in which a big exhibition of jabs and swings are given, with rhythmic music from chimes on the elbows and feet of the performers.

Stops Nasal Discharge, Clears Stuffed Head, Heals Inflamed Air Passages and You Breathe Freely.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm." Get a small bottle anyway. Just to try it—Apply a little in the Nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning, the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will disappear.
End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the clears air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing.
Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.
Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

Auburn Haired Belles Are Plentiful in Washington Society Circles--Public Towel Is a Dead One--Even in Swords, Styles Change

By HURTON K. STANDISH
(Written for the United Press)

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Personal liberty certainly is getting its bumps these days. No more in many places may one approach the common towel and seek with dripping hands and face a clean spot.
The common towel is passing along with many other legislative taboos.
Since 1911 fourteen states have enacted laws restricting the use of common towels in public places. Common carriers engaged in interstate traffic are prohibited from using the common towel.

Woodrow Wilson's name is signed to an executive order, "In the interest of public health," discontinuing in federal buildings the use of roller towels and other towels intended for use by more than one person.
The states which handed the common disease carriers its passports are Arkansas, Connecticut, Iowa, Maine, Massachusetts, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, North Dakota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Vermont and Wisconsin.

Red-head society buds are said to be more common in Washington than in the upper crust of any other city in the United States. Tiltan, auburn, brunse, gold, chestnut—anything but red-head—the owners of the hair prefer to describe the color. Three daughters of Senator O'Gorman of New York have red—excuse us—Tiltan colored hair. Miss Murdock, daughter of the Kansas progressive, and Miss Margaret Britton, one of the local "400," have handsome Tiltan hair and are inseparable chums.
Miss Carrie Lee, Chamberlain, daughter of the senator from Oregon, possesses locks of "red-gold." "Carrots" was her childhood nickname, she admits. "Spun-gold" describes Miss Nancy McClellan's hair and Miss Frances Duhn, daughter of the New York representative, has perfect auburn hair. The list contains scores of others.

There are as many styles in swords as in women's dresses, according to the interesting sword collections in the national museum here. The hundreds of different pieces show the development of the sword as a weapon and as a badge of rank and office.
Types changed all over the world every ten or twenty years, resulting from succeeding wars and new peace regulations and standards.
In the exhibits are mementoes of gallant officers and relics from battlefields, recalling tales of glory and honor. There are also Turkish and Arabian yataghans, Russian swords, Scottish dirks, a crusader's sword, a two-handed weapon dated 1710, Japanese cutlasses, and native weapons of the Philippines, Cuba and Porto Rico.

No mosquitos—no malaria and no yellow fever. No fleas—no bubonic plague. No lice—no typhus. No trout—no sleeping sickness. No ticks—no spotted fever. "These are the fundamental principles of the fight against preventable diseases carried by insect pests," writes William Showalter in a report on "Redeeming the Tropics," sent to the National Geographic Society.

"In the generations to come, there can be no doubt," he says, "that with a sanitary science that is broad enough to reach both man and beast, the great plains of the highlands in the tropics will be converted into vast cattle ranches, where cattle can be brought to the stock cattle stage and then shipped to the temperate climates for feeding and finishing, thus adding to the world's meat supply to the extent of billions of pounds."

Continued school activity of some kind in summer months for most children is advocated by Dr. P. P.
Claxton, United States commissioner of education.

"The schools should provide some kind of instruction for the children through what is now, in most cities, a long and wasteful vacation," he declared.

From 7 or 8 o'clock to 11 or 12 o'clock—not more than four hours in the forenoon—is all summer work, Dr. Claxton recommends. More work in shops, outdoor gardens or in the home, was recommended for all the year round work as well as summer courses.

"With this kind of organization," Dr. Claxton declared, "it would be very easy for children to do ordinary school work three hours a day six days in the week, through all calendar months in the year, and at the same time contribute largely to their own support by well-directed productive educational work, either at home or in the school, and thus making it possible for the great majority of children to remain in school throughout the high school period."

The government is now going out of the reindeer business. Of 47,326 reindeer in sixty-two Alaskan herds, the government owns only 2,852, and officials of the Alaskan division, bureau of education, are planning to give them up as fast as it can train natives for individual ownership.
The policy is to encourage the independence and initiative among the native Alaskans. Distribution of reindeer is in charge of the United States school teachers, and it is expected that the government will dispose of all its reindeer within the next four years. The bureau denied that the deer are deteriorating or diminishing and declared that on the contrary Alaskan reindeer are constantly increasing in number without deterioration.

Forest botanists recognize only one cypress in the United States. Its range extends from Delaware southward around the coast into Texas and up the Mississippi Valley to Illinois and Indiana. It is one of the few cone-bearing trees which drop their leaves in winter. The heart-wood of cypress is noted for its decay resisting properties.

The Chinese national conservation bureau is considering reforestation at the headwaters of the Yellow River.
The government report shows that this will ameliorate the torrents and cause a more regular flow from the now denuded uplands. It is acknowledged, however, that this reforestation may not have an appreciable effect within the lifetime of the present generation.

SALTS FINE FOR
ACHING KIDNEYS
WE EAT TOO MUCH MEAT, WHICH CLOGS THE KIDNEYS, THEN BACK HURTS AND BLADDER
BOTHERS YOU
Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.
You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine.
This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to rush the kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.
