Interesting to the Ladies

BY MARGARET MASON

(Written for the United Press)

My Lady Fashion used to mock the simple peasant in his smock. But now midst garden hollyhock, Or on the farm among the stock, And 'round the house with pan and crock She thinks it smart to wear a smock— She mimicks where she used to mock.

NEW YORK, May 16.—There really seems to be a sort of "back to the farm" movement among the fashions. There's a perfect craze for quaint smocks of colored linen cut exactly like those affected by honest Gaffer Gray, and all the other perfectly good old English tenantry.

It's a far cry from a thatched cottage in rural England to an apartment or house in an American city but the smock adapts itself beautifully as well as artistically to all the modern improvements and looks even more delectable on a peach than a peasant.

Modeled on the same loose lines as the actual peasant smocks, they reach to the knees and are made of loose woven linen in lovely shades of old blue, old rose, leaf green, orange, or in fact any shade you want them. Their round turned-over collars and cuffs may be of a contrasting shade or the same material and the smocking that characterizes the yoke in front, or back, or both, as you choose, is prettiest caught with thread of blending colors.

They are indeed a charming as well as a practical adjunct to your summer wardrobe, either to slip on when you "come into the garden, Maude," and dig among your posies or to wear just around the house in lieu of a regulation apron effect.

Of course, we long ago reveled in the charm of the smocking for the kiddies and artists discovered their practicability for studio work, but now that they have been offered for general consumption, we can't help feeling quite shocked to think we all haven't been smocked as well as frocked long, long ago.

Another farm fashion is the tendency of all millinery to burst forth not into bloom but into fruit. Cherries appear to be the favorite fruits of the moment and are found on the very best heads not only as a hat trimming but even as coiffure or ornaments.

It seems a natural tendency of the cherry to go to one's head whether it be on a hat or in a cocktail. Tiny oranges, peaches, apples, grapes, strawberries, lemons, plums, currants and even gooseberries are pressed into service as hat adornments. Indeed, there seems to be no forbidden fruits of Fashion.

From the farmyard comes also the cockscomb frill. The fullness of a taffeta skirt is drawn up into a bustle effect behind and jutting pertly out of the center of the entire length of the bustle are two frills with pinked edges that end in the girle. With the frock developed in a bright red coral taffeta the effect of the cockscomb is startlingly realistic. This fad of the moment is certainly a cocky one.

Where the latest Fashion fancies aren't taken from the old farm, war seems to be the next best field of fashionable discovery. Last year we had Balkan blouses and Bulgarian embroideries and now the Mexican shawls and mantillas are upon us, the boleros, the high back combs and the skirts buttoning up over each hip like trousers a la peau.

The gaily colored Mexican shawls and the filmy black or white lace mantillas make ideal wraps for summer evenings either in their natural state or draped up into loose wrap effects. Whether or not we can blame on the Mexicans the sash girdles that have been with us so long and so wide is a question, but at least the incriminating evidence is there.

Some of the wider brimmed hats for the hot weather show marked sombrero tendencies, and the white hoisery affected by the high caste Spanish-Mexican belles—well fair America has put her foot in it.

After all it seems quite appropriate that fashion should seek inspiration from war, for, according to General Sherman, it would seem they have so much in common.

Aerial Ferry Running Across From Oakland

(Herald Special Service) OAKLAND, May 16.—For the first time in the history of aviation, aerial ferry service across a body of water was established here May 14.

Hourly airships are now running between Oakland and San Francisco, across the bay, with Oakland as the headquarters of the service. The first trip was made at noon, with Mayor Rolph of San Francisco as a passenger. On the return trip Mayor Frank K. Mott of Oakland, occupied a seat in the unique ferry.

The flying ferry boat is called the "Airemaide," and was built by Miss Christofferson, who drove it on the first few flights, and then turned it over to Weldon B. Cook, who will be the permanent pilot.

The boat carries four passengers in addition to the pilot, and comfortable upholstered chairs are provided for them. A second aerial service will be started soon by Roy Francis, also a well known aviator.

A report of the interstate commerce commission gives 1,699,213 as the total number of men and women employed by the steam railroads of the United States.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

IT'S GRANDMOTHER'S RECIPE TO KEEP HER LOCKS DARK, GLOSSY, THICK

The old time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment, and folks are again using it to keep their hair good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the musy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular, because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.

NOSTRILS AND HEAD STOPPED UP FROM COLD? TRY MY CATARRH BALM

Instantly Clears Air Passages; You Breathe Freely; Dull Headache Goes; Nasty Catarrhal Discharge Stops.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm." Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the Nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will disappear. End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing Catarrh or a cold, with its rankling nose, foul mucous droppings into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.
