

MEDIATORS NOW REALLY TALKING OF PACIFICATION

TWO HOUR CONFERENCE IS HELD TODAY

While the Points Now Under Discussion Are Being Withheld, the Members of the Conference Give Out a Statement That All Are Highly Pleased With the Progress That Has Already Been Made.

United Press Service NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 26.—The American delegates conferred with the mediation commission for two hours this afternoon. Following this, Associate Justice Lamar made the following statement: "It is agreed that I can say that we have begun to discuss the actual details of the plan for pacification. On a number of them we find ourselves in substantial accord, and on others there is discussion. "It is improper to discuss the points under discussion." This is the first direct word as yet of the progress of the conference. Lamar and Lehman were smiling and obviously pleased as they left the conference.

Bond Company Delays

Wires for Additional Data Regarding the Issues

Is the firm of R. M. Grant & Co. sparring for more time to effect a sale for the $50,000 city hall bonds before accepting the issue from the city? This is a question which has been raised, following the receipt of a telegram from the bonding house Monday, requesting additional data. The wire advised the city that the bond house attorney, after examining the forms, transcripts, etc., submitted that he found a couple of omissions, and requested that the corrected copies be forwarded. Upon the receipt of these, and the approval of the bonds by the attorney,

The Elks will leave Klamath Falls between 6 and 7 o'clock Saturday morning, so as to arrive in Lakeview in time for a meeting in the afternoon. Most of the cars will return Sunday afternoon. Following are the owners of the cars who will make the trip: D. B. Campbell, with four passengers; Leslie Rogers, with five; Austin White, with four; Harry Bilts, with four; Chas. I. McGEE-JEFFERS WEDDING TODAY

LOCAL COUPLE ARE WEDDED THIS AFTERNOON IN THE PRESENCE OF ONLY A FEW FRIENDS

E. E. Magee and Mrs. Nell Jeffers were married this afternoon at the residence of the bride, Rev. J. S. Stubblefield officiating. The house was prettily decorated with lilies of the valley. Only a few intimate friends of the couple were present, and following the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served. These present were Rev. J. S. Stubblefield, Mrs. S. W. Dowling, Mr. and Mrs. Nate Otterbein and Ronald Jeffers. Mrs. Magee is a native daughter of Oregon, one of her brothers, C. W. Leever, being a member of the county court of Jackson county. Another brother, E. M. Leever, is a resident of Fort Klamath. She has been a resident of Klamath Falls for over a year, and has made many friends. Mr. Magee hails from California, but has been associated with Underwood's pharmacy in this place for nearly two years, and has made a wide circle of friends here. The newlyweds expect to make their home in Klamath Falls, and have prepared an attractive bungalow on Washington street for a residence. Friends and relatives of the couple presented them with a number of beautiful and useful gifts.

Colonel and Mrs. Roosevelt on Deck of Steamship Aidan

Mrs. Roosevelt took charge of the former president of the United States when he reached quarantine in New York harbor on the steamship Aidan, which had brought him from Panama. The reports which had come by wire that he was in bad health, having been stricken by fever in Brazil, had, of course, worried her, and she went out to quarantine with a tug to meet him. There was something of a demonstration from other friends, but it was no such homecoming as on his trip from Africa. The Colonel was hardly in a condition to stand the welcome he was given then. Roosevelt weighed about sixty pounds less than he did formerly, but the same old spirit was there. He snapped his jaws just as he had done when in the best of health, and he had the same old smile. The tug which carried him did not take him to the shores of New York city, but headed out to his home at Oyster Bay, some sixty miles away. Every craft in the lower New York harbor that boasted a whistle blew three long blasts of greeting as the Aidan passed. When the vessel entered quarantine the din the waiting tugs emitted was answered by the Aidan and by Colonel Roosevelt himself, who stood at the ship's rail flourishing a big Panama hat. Standing by the starboard rail of the Aidan, the progressive leader showed the effects of the illness which nearly cost him his life. His face, beneath a dark coat of tan, painted by a tropical sun, was thin and drawn; his neck was lean and sinewy, while his back tapered from his shoulders to a waist remarkably thin for the Colonel. Before the ship reached quarantine he experienced two chills, proving that the fever had not been eradicated from his system.

Visiting in Bly. Miss Bessie Pickett left today for a few days' visit in Bly and points in Langell Valley.

ROOSEVELT TO BE GUEST OF WILSON AT DINNER PARTY

BULL MOOSERS ARE BECOMING MORE ACTIVE

Clapp and Poindexter Go to Philadelphia to Meet Party Leader and Have a Conference—Wilson Says Politics Will Not Be Discussed. Reorganization of the G. O. P. May Be Broached Soon.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 26.—Clapp, Poindexter and other progressive leaders went to Philadelphia today to meet Wilson and confer with him after tonight's lecture. This afternoon, Wilson will visit the Smithsonian Institution, and be a guest at a dinner party at the White House. The White House emphasized the fact that Roosevelt's visit is merely a friendly call. It is stated authoritatively that Wilson expects Roosevelt to be the strongest critic of his administration, and the president rather welcomes a fight. It is understood that Senator Lodge has confided to friends that he intends to tell Roosevelt that "the time is ripe for patriotism to rise above partisanship," and that he owes it to himself to unite the republican factions.

A Methodist Dinner. A pleasant dinner party was held last evening at the residence of Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Richards, when all of the guests were either Methodist clergymen or their wives. Attending were Rev. and Mrs. H. J. VanFossen, superintendent of the Klamath district; Rev. and Mrs. G. W. Hall of Bonanza, Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Worrell of Klamath Agency, and Rev. Thomas Acheson of Merrill.

A Little Wreck. A wooden sill flat car, caught between heavier cars as a switch string was backing up near the station Monday, was telescoped, and the trucks thrown off the track. The damage was cleared up without any delays in train schedules.

The first of the Astoria-San Francisco line of Hill steamers will be launched July 1st at the Cramp shipyard in Philadelphia.

COMMITTEES ARE NOT ORGANIZING

NEITHER THE DEMOCRAT OR REPUBLICAN CENTRAL COMMITTEES HAVE HELD THEIR MEETINGS

Although the five days provided by law are past, neither the republican nor the democratic central committees elected at the primary election have organized. As the official count was not completed until the fifth day, it was impossible to call the newly elected members together within the time specified by law, but it is probable that the committees of both parties will organize at a later date. The law provides that the newly elected members are to be called together for organization by the chairman of the old committee. The chairman of the republican committee is R. A. Emmitt, and that of the democratic George Chastain. Both of these men have been re-elected committee men from their precincts. Only a small number of precincts in the county elected committeemen. Those elected are: Republican—C. S. Moore, West Klamath Falls; R. A. Emmitt, Fourth ward; E. M. Leever, Fort Klamath; B. F. Kerns, Keno; A. Noeler, Shippington; Jesse Davis, Odell; W. P. Sedge, Dairy; E. S. Terwilliger, Merrill; F. H. Downing, Worden; J. S. Mills, Pine Grove, and Harry E. Wilson, Malin. Democrat—George Chastain, Second ward; C. J. McCollum, Worden; Chas. Sherman, Dairy; D. B. Campbell, Fourth ward; D. W. Ryan, Fort Klamath; Frank Davis, Klamath Lake; F. Zumpfe, Malin; T. B. Nichols, Bonanza.

MOVING WILL BE TALKED TONIGHT

QUESTION OF A CHANGE OF LOCATION FOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WILL BE THERESHED OUT BY DIRECTORS

"To be, or not to be," This will again be the question at the Chamber of Commerce, but at this evening's meeting, the query will be to settle whether the headquarters will be in the Loomis building, or somewhere else. There are men in favor both of remaining and moving. There will be other matters taken up at this session.

WISCONSIN FIRM SENDS MONEY TO HELP THE CAUSE

THIRTY DOLLAR DONATION IS RECEIVED

Oshkosh Land and Timber Company, Through Wm. B. Bray, Sends Bank Draft to Bert E. Withrow to Give to the Chamber of Commerce, and lauds the Spirit of Progress—Yes, He Gets the Herald.

It is not only in Klamath county and in the Portland Commercial Club that the meritorious work of the people of Klamath Falls in raising money for the Klamath Chamber of Commerce is attracting attention. From Oshkosh, Wis., comes a note of encouragement, accompanied by a donation of $30. The contribution is made by the Oshkosh Land and Timber company, which has considerable timber land here. Reading in the Evening Herald of the work that is being carried on, William B. Bray, one of the company, sent the following to Bert E. Withrow of this city: "Klamath Falls folks certainly show public spirit to raise $5,000 for their Chamber of Commerce during these dull days. Enclosed please find draft for $30 for your Chamber of Commerce from the Oshkosh Land and Timber company."

FORT WANTS TO SEE THE RODEO

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE CELEBRATION IN WOOD RIVER METROPOLIS WILL ALLOW TIME TO GET HERE AFTERWARDS

The different committees arranging for the Fort Klamath celebration will meet in their city this evening to consider the best time to hold their affair. The exact date, according to Ed Hoyt, will depend on the time allowance of getting animals from Fort Klamath to Klamath Falls, as a great many who enter the contests at Fort Klamath will also want to enter the Rodeo contests.

McNary Leads in Revised Count

Fourth Supreme Court Nomination Is Seesawing

United Press Service SALEM, May 26.—In the revised count of the contest between Judge and Justice Charles McNary of Salem for the fourth republican nomination as supreme judge, McNary is leading this afternoon by thirty votes.

Even yet the figures are not entirely official. It will in all probabilities take a complete canvass of the entire state vote, or maybe a recount to establish who is nominee.

Figures compiled from the official county vote and state canvasses show that McNary received 34,598 and Benson 34,568. The official canvass of Multnomah returns showed a discrepancy from the unofficial returns in favor of McNary.

The race between these men is one of the closest that has ever been held in the history of Oregon. Politicians firmly believe that a recount of the entire vote will be necessary to denitely decide whose name is to be printed on the republican ticket with

Deny Crystal a License

"Second Class" Proprietor Not Granted Renewal

If the Central (or Second Class) bar continues in operation after June 1st, it will not be under the ownership of Al Crystal. The city council last night refused to renew his license for a year.

"This city is not hungry for saloon keepers, and if it is, there are plenty of good, decent men who will run them," said Councilman Doty, after Crystal's application was read. "I move that this be refused."

Townsend seconded the motion. Mat thews suggested laying the matter over.

"There is a full session of the council now, and this is the time to act," retorted Doty. "When a man has to be watched so he won't set his clock back or resort to other tricks, it's time to move him."

"I believe we ought to give Mr. Crystal a chance to sell out," said Matthews.

"I say, put him out," answered Doty.

The Doty motion, put by Nicholas, carried. "Gentlemen, where you get this from about my place of business being undesirable is beyond me," said

Crystal, addressing the council. "I have resided in your city for three years."

"And you have been no credit to it," interrupted Doty.

"At least, I have done it no harm," was Crystal's answer. "This has been my home during that time, and I have my wife and family here. I've conducted my business honestly; I have never stolen anything, and there has never been any trouble in my place. Why do I get this?"

"You are under bonds right now on account of trouble there," said Doty.

"There has been no crooked deal in my house," continued Crystal. "I'll leave it to the police force if there has been any trouble there, compared to other establishments of the kind. I'll leave it to the members of this council who have been in my place to prove that my place of business is fair."

Crystal then asked if he would be given permission to sell the establishment, or if it would be closed or confiscated. He was given until Thursday night in which to find a suitable successor, to whom, if the council is satisfied with him, a license will be issued.
