

Lotches Alleges His Son Was Badly Beaten

EDITOR HERALD:

There appeared in the columns of the evening Herald on May 22, 1914, a lengthy communication from Mr. Watson, superintendent of my reservation, in which he recited quite a number of cases and complaints that the Indians, as well as some of the white employees, had against him. And also disclaiming any knowledge of the brutal and inhuman whipping of my son, Willard Lotches, for the trifling offense of chewing tobacco.

son to his subordinate officials. He has no right to make any denial or excuse for the brutal punishment he encouraged. While I regret very much the tactics and the issue I took against Mr. Watson in this matter, I feel justified in my course and procedure, by receiving vindication from the source of the interior department in my complaint and allegation. Feeling sensibly as I do, that this is not the proper way of advancing or progressing our reservation, the interests of which I have at heart, or of getting into open hostility with those officials who have the managing hand of our institutions, I am, respectfully yours,
MORRIS LOTCHES.
Per Chas. R. Hood.

(Editor's Note—The article referred to in the foregoing was not a communication from Mr. Watson, as Mr. Lotches supposes, but an interview, secured on one of Mr. Watson's visits to Klamath Falls, and written afterward by a reporter.)

Co-Operative Creamery Running
The Eugene Farmers' co-operative creamery became a live and working organization Monday morning, when it began its first operations at the former headquarters, on Olive street, of the Eugene creamery, which it has bought out. J. L. Harpham, manager, states that complete arrangements have been made whereby the business of the old creamery will be carried on as usual, and the new business will be gradually worked in.—Eugene Register.

After finding out the particular method of punishment given to my son, I went to see Mr. Watson, to see if he allowed our children to be punished in this brutal way. He answered me in a very stern and haughty way, "he had instructed Mr. Simms, the principal, to use this method of punishing out children."
Getting no satisfaction, or any indication of an amicable settlement with Mr. Watson, I took up the matter with the Hon. Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior, filing a complaint against Mr. Watson, the superintendent, Mr. Simms, the principal, and Mr. Hendrick, the industrial teacher. Also requesting that an inspector be sent, so that a thorough investigation might be made of the allegations mentioned in my complaint.
In due time the inspector arrived, and proceeded with the investigation. Subsequent to the investigation, before the completion of the same, Mr. Watson tendered his resignation as superintendent of Klamath, and Mr. Simms and Mr. Hendrick were separated from the Indian school service.
The Hon. Cato Sells, commissioner of Indian affairs, in rendering his decision, emphasized this fact: "This office does not approve of the brutal and inhuman method of punishing the children," and so had informed Mr. Watson.
That my friends and the public may know the full extent of this inhuman and brutal method of punishing my boy, along with the other children, the boys that were punished were ordered and compelled to strip from the waist down.
This method of punishment was instituted and authorized by Mr. Watson.

OUR WEEKLY SERMON

"Christ the Truth of the World"

By ELDER S. D. HARLAN, Pastor Christian Church

John 8:32—"And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."
I have a friend—you ought to know Him.
He is a Savior, tender and true; Jesus, my king—how I adore Him.
And He should be as precious to you.

The two most important questions ever asked are, "What is truth," and "What think ye of Christ?"
Thomas Kempis says "Without Christ the Way here is no journey, without Him is the Truth there a no knowledge, and without Him as the Life there is no living." Truth is the food of the soul. Food is to eat, to bring nourishment. The alphabet is a great truth, but we are to use the letters to express our thoughts. The mount of Transfiguration was glorious to the three chosen disciples of Jesus, but they could not camp there, for the afflicted valley was calling for their assistance. If you wish to know God's thought for man look at the Christ, who was perfect in body, soul and intellect. While at the same time, if we desire the truth concerning God, we find it in the Christ, who is a revelation of divine perfection.

Christ is the truth of the world-book, the Bible. He is the theme of its sermons, the character of its history, and the revelation of its mystery. He is the authority of its law and the goal of its destiny, the soul of its religion and the heart of its tenderness. Christ looks out from every page of the Bible, and the Bible student becomes like Him. The world's great need is for the truth of the Bible.

of many races and creeds," said Miss Arma Clark, an officer of the Chicago Women's Club. "We have anti-suffragists, suffragists, and non-climittals in the organization. We are essentially non-partisan. We don't care for politics, and we do not believe in coercing the minority."
That a strong bid will be made for action of the votes-for-women proposition is forecasted in the elaborate banquet planned for Sunday night, June 13, by the Illinois Equal Suffrage Association at the Congress hotel. Already 1,900 reservations have been made, and influential delegates to the federation meeting invited to attend.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, international head of the suffrage movement, will be the chief speaker at the banquet. She is also to address the federation on "The Progress of the American Woman." Other speakers at the dinner will be Miss Julia La-throp, head of the children's bureau at Washington; Mrs. Harlan Ward Conley, president of the Chicago Women's Club; Mrs. Frederick A. Dow, president of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. George Bass, in charge of arrangements for the federation convention, and Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout.
