The pupils of Mrs. Don J. Zumwalt gave a most pleasing recital at Houston's opera house Wednesday night to one of the largest gatherings ever assembled in the theater. Although the program was a lengthy one, the appreciative audience sat enraptured till the final number, and their expressed wish that still other numbers followed proved the excellency of the evening's entertainment. Mrs. Zumwalt may well feel proud of her class, for each pupil did so splendidly individually, that, as a class, their program was exceptionally fine. Miss Marjorie McClure is so well known as a vocalist of much talent that, as a matter of course, much was expected of her; but at that she surprised pleasantly, to be sure, her most ardent admirers. Other surprises were Miss Vera Houston, Miss Elizabeth Houston, Miss Louise Benson, Miss Dorothy Darling, Miss Marguerite Williams and Lawrence Mehahey, whose able rendition of vocal solos caused much favorable comment. Of the instrumental selections, while all were really good, dainty little Miss Beatrice Walton's execution of Beethoven's Fur Elise deserves special mention. The success of the evening's entertainment was, doubtless, due largely to the confidence inspired by the presence of Mrs. Zumwalt, and in the vocal solos by her perfectly played accompaniments.

On Wednesday afternoon, in honor of Mrs. R. E. Wattenburg, Mrs. Nate Otterbein entertained the past grands and officers of Prosperity Rebekah Lodge at her home on Klamath avenue. The occasion was in the nature of a jollification over the success of Mrs. Wattenburg in her contest for the office of grand warden of the Rebekah assembly, and hearty congratulations were showered upon the lady by those present. While seated at the table Mrs. Otterbein, in behalf of the past grands and the officers of the lodge, presented Mrs. Wattenburg with a past grand jewel of the Rebekah degree. Attending the affair were Mrs. Nellie Wattenburg, Mrs. Nellie Van Ripper, Mrs. Elizabeth Ramsey, Mrs. Brookfield, Mrs. Wallace Baldwin, Mrs. John Uring, Mrs. Dolly Summers, Mrs. Jennie Hurs, Mrs. J. Fred Goeller, Mrs. Nate Otterbein, Mrs. Fred Cofer, Mrs. W. P. Johnson, Mrs. Wm. North, Mrs. A. W. Fell, Mrs. Ed Martin, Mrs. R. J. Sheets, Miss Fannie Vitgil, Mrs. O. D. Matthews, Mrs. Claude Daggett, Mrs. Evelyn Atherton, Mrs. Percy Sholl, Mrs. K. D. North, Mrs. Geo. Humphrey, Mrs. Fred Bremer, Mrs. C. C. Hogue, Mrs. Walter Cofer, Mrs. Anna O'Farrell, Mrs. Levi McDonald and Miss Marie Harpold assisted Mrs. Otterbein in entertaining the guests.

Mrs. Levi McDonald and daughter, Joanna, who have been visiting relatives and friends for a week or so in this city, contemplate returning to their Bonanza home early next week.

One of the objects of the "Splash Club" will have been accomplished when Miss Elsie Low learns to swim. On the chutes, riding the log and in the tank two-step, Miss Elsie is great, but as yet, she has not learned to swim. Whether this is due to the negligence of her tutor or not is not known, but Will H. Bennett suggests a change in instructors. At Friday night's meeting twenty-three cavorted in the water. They were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moulien, Hazel Barnes, Elsie Low, Marjorie Weeks, Dorothy Weeks, Pearl Bovin, Willa Leonard, Pearl Wheeler, Roma Stone, Winnie Wampler, Mary Schubert, Alice Duncan, Anna Beebe, Dr. Wheeler, Dr. Leonard, Will H. Bennett, John Siemens, H. J. Lincoln, L. B. Kinnear, Frank Nolan, Herbert Barry, W. G. Freed, Cecil Weeks and Mr. Matthies.

TED SHIPLEY IS IN BED WITH A COMBINATION OF RHEUMATISM AND TYPHOID FEVER—IS RESTING EASY.

Theodore Shipley, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Shipley, is at his home in a precarious condition, due to an attack of typhoid fever and rheumatism. The lad was stricken to bed last Tuesday, having for many days previous been complaining to his parents that he hadn't felt at all well. Information secured from Ted's father stated that he was resting easier today. The attending physician, Dr. L. L. Truax, is hopeful that the worse has changed for the better. Kid Pitchers Are Doing Great Work

Carrol Brown Leslie J. Bush

No other evidence of the success of Connie Mack's system of grabbing young players need be pointed to than the work for the Athletics of Brown and Bush. Bush, who starred in the World's series last year, is just 21 years of age.

Mack took him after he had played but one season in the minors, with the Misoula team in the Union Association. He has been used with good results all of this season.

When Bush, the recruit, went in the box against the Giants last fall, Brown, another youngster, was on the bench to relieve him if necessary. Brown, who joined the Athletics two years ago, is getting better right along. His spitter fools many batters, and his control, at times erratic, is now almost perfect.

Capitol Elevator Men Have Pretty Easy Jobs

United Press Service
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 6.—Finding that he was expected to work only five hours a day, an Oregon man recently appointed as elevator conductor in the senate wing of the Capitol building, has made an attempt to get appointed through his congressman on the house side as well. If he succeeds in landing the additional job he will work ten hours a day and draw $200 a month, which is not bad, considering that he is taught the work of running the elevators and paid in full while he is being instructed. When congress adjourns, if he is successful in landing the additional place, he will get $200 a month for nothing at all until December 1st, when the two houses will reconvene.

Whether he lands the extra place or not, he is drawing $100 a month for five hours a day work, and will not have to work at all during the recess, but will continue to draw that hundred a month. That is the pay and those are the hours, of all the elevator men in the Capitol and in both office buildings. No union made any kick about the men standing on their feet so long and got the hours cut down. The principle is the same as that under which the doorkeepers get $1,400 a year for sitting at the many doors of the galleries from 11 a. m. to 6 p. m. (or earlier if the senate adjourns earlier). These men get whatever vacations the lawmakers decide upon without any reductions in pay.

ROCKEFELLER IS UNABLE TO TALK

ATTORNEY FOR OIL MAGNATE TELLS INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION THAT THE MAN IS TOO FEEBLE TO TESTIFY

United Press Service
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 6.—John Garver, attorney for William Rockefeller, testified today that the oil baron is too feeble to appear before the committee and testify in the Standard Oil probe.

Garver testified that the margin between Mr. Rockefeller and death is of the slightest, and the least irritation might kill him.

"Directors meetings," said Garver, "are merely routine matters, and does not excite him. On such occasions he merely nods his head in conversation, but does not talk."

It is expected that the commission will accept this statement, and will abandon any further attempt to call Rockefeller to the stand.
