

Rome's Forum Had Nothing Over Broadway, Near 35th

Here It Is That the Open Air Orators Hold Forth--Many Are Surprised at Intelligence of Those Participating in These Meetings

By CARLTON TEN EYCK
(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, June 15.—New York has no regularly appointed forum, but, that crookedest, longest street in the world, fits every demand of that ancient Roman talk spot. Every night in the week one may find on Broadway, between Thirty-fifth street and Fifteenth street almost every sort of discussion imaginable.

Socialists, Industrial Workers of the World, Anarchists, Suffragists, religious speakers of various kinds, utilize Broadway nightly to spread their propaganda.

The untitled who have never attended the dozen or more street symposiums to be found on the Great White Way every night, would be surprised to learn the intelligent people who take part in them.

Thirty-fifth street is the particular place frequented by the socialists. On that street, just west of Broadway, there nightly gather socialists, anarchists, suffragists, and at other times they mount a carttail. Men and women of almost every nationality are among the talkers.

Constant listeners at these debates are astonished at the even temper uniformly displayed by the speakers and their failure to become excited in the face of heckling. There is never a meeting but there are in the audience certain men who apparently are there entirely for the purpose of confusing the speakers.

Perhaps there never was coined a broader term than socialism. Its devotees are legion, yet almost every one of them has a different theory. Few of them agree on the methods by which their nostrums for the world's ills may be worked out. So, when a socialist speaker mounts his box or cart he is sure to find in his audience one or more men who are there for the purpose of answering him and injecting arguments into the discussion. But no matter how many persons speak there in one night, and no matter how many interruptions there are, the Thirty-fifth street meetings up to date have never resulted in any disorder. The socialists there argue heatedly, and seldom agree, but they never lose their temper and never become boisterous. To the unbiased listener that argues well for their sincerity of purpose.

An astonishing thing happened the other night at one of the socialist meetings. When the regular speaker finished and yielded his improvised rostrum, it was occupied by a young negro girl. She explained that she was the daughter of a Southern ex-slave, who had been sent north at the expense of the savings of her aged father, that she might study socialism first hand.

The girl talked for an hour, and successfully answered every question put to her. She was hangered by a dozen men, but failed absolutely to become confused or to lose her temper. When the meeting broke up she was greeted with a storm of cheers.

Sometimes these street meetings have their humorous side. One night recently a rather choleric speaker was holding forth on socialism. In the course of his argument he assailed the United States government for enslaving the Philippines.

"Hold on," cried a voice. "Have you ever been in the Philippines?" "No," answered the speaker, "but let me get through before you interrupt." He went ahead for some fifteen minutes, and then again took up the alleged injustice done the Philippines.

"Say," said the same voice, "have you ever been in the Philippines? If you have not, do not talk about what you do not know. I have been there, and I know you are mis-stating the facts."

"My friend," retorted the speaker, "if you want these people to see how big a fool you are, come upon this box beside me." And he wondered why the audience laughed so immoderately.

Nightly, while the socialists hold forth at Thirty-fifth street, the "Votes for Women" speakers conduct open air soapbox meetings in Forty-fifth street, off Broadway, and the women speakers always are surrounded by eager listeners. At the same time the Salvation Army conducts open air gatherings at Thirty-sixth street, and while these corner gatherings are in progress, devotees of the Church of the Social Revolution may be seen proceeding through Broadway with its red flag in the van.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

SAYS BACKACHE IS A SIGN YOU HAVE BEEN EATING TOO MUCH MEAT, WHICH FORMS URIC ACID

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood, and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure, and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia water drink.

Launching Lipton's Shamrock IV.

Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock IV, with which he hopes to lift the America's cup this year, is the strangest model of a yacht that has ever engaged in the international races. She is so constructed that those who saw the launching at Gosport said her hull looked like that of a tugboat. But Designer Nicholson and Lipton are sure she will prove a surprise when it comes to speed.

Women inmates of the workhouse and other correctional places in New York will no longer have to wear dresses made of bedticking. Commissioner Katherine B. in the selling game. It is purely co-operative. The organization will sell on a commission of 10 cents per box, which is sufficient to pay the expenses of salaried agents in all parts of the world and of sixty-seven representatives. Through these agents we distribute the fruit to all parts of the world, keeping the markets fully supplied, but never over-stocked."

In order to stimulate interest among the stock breeders in Oregon, the Oregon exposition commission announces that $10,000 will be set aside as prizes for the best stock from this state exhibited at San Francisco next year. This will be in addition to the $175,000 which will be distributed in livestock prizes by the authorities of the exposition.

A month or two ago considerable unfavorable comment was made concerning the so called "strength of the electricity" being delivered in the city of Klamath Falls.

The Council invested in a voltmeter and put it on the lighting circuit.

There has been a conspicuous absence of any report of the findings of this instrument.

We think it might be interesting to the customers of electricity to know what the Council found.

They found that the instrument has not shown a registration of less than 110 volts.

Do you know that the Rules and Regulations of the Railroad Commission allows a variation of 5 per cent below this figure?
