

REMOVAL FURNITURE SALE

Some Specials

Elastic felt mattress, rolled edge, regular $7.50, sale price $5.50

Matting rugs, 3x4 feet, regular 75c, your choice of many varieties 50c

WE HAVE SOME ATTRACTIVE BARGAINS IN CAMPING OUT-FITS, INCLUDING FOLDING COTS, CAMP STOVES, COMFORTS, BLANKETS, ETC.

We are going to move to larger and better quarters. Our present store is too small for our increased business, and we have received such inducement in the way of low rent, in a modern fireproof building, that we cannot afford not to accept it.

We have never had a sale before, as we believe in small profits and more sales, but, rather than move our entire stock at a heavy cost, we are going to cut out profit for three days, beginning Monday and continuing on Tuesday and Wednesday.

THREE DAYS OF OPPORTUNITY

Some Specials

Extra well built solid oak sewing rocker, cheap at our regular price, $1.75, sale price $1.30

Parlor stand, solid oak, regular $2.75, sale price $1.65

Porch reclining chairs, strong and durable, regular $2.50 sale price $1.75

Our stock is complete and includes everything in furniture, stoves and ranges, rugs, matting, art squares, bedsteads, mattresses, springs, couches, cots and hammocks. Everything will be marked at a special price on Saturday and Sunday and at

EIGHT O'CLOCK, MONDAY MORNING

we will be ready. Be on hand early. Remember the sale only lasts Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday---three days, that is all.

Big Ad Convention Comes to a Close

United Press Service
 TORONTO, Canada, June 20.—Absolute honesty in advertising, square deal business methods to back it up, and a better understanding between advertisers and the newspaper publishers were strongly urged here at the opening today of the tenth annual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America.

Representatives of the 10,000 business men who comprise the 140 affiliated clubs of the association were present when the first session convened today.

"Our goods, our salesmanship and our advertising," declared one of today's speakers, "are being cleansed and vitalized by the spirit of truth and sincerity. As a result, we see a growing public confidence in manufacturing products and their advertising—a confidence, which if preserved and fostered, decreases our costs, increases our profits, and becomes a business asset of incalculable value."

Who in the last twelve years has heard "Goo-Goo Eyes," "Coon, Coon, Coon," "Won't You Come Home, Bill Bailey?" or any of the ragtime songs so popular at that time? To come more up to date, who would dare sing "It Looks Like a Good Night Tonight" or "Preacher and the Bear," or who remembers these, which were whistled and sang but a few years ago? On the other hand, who is there, old or young, in the United States who does not know "Just a Song at Twilight," "Old Kentucky Home," "In the Gloaming," and those other grand old songs? There are a not "popular songs" which take a sudden hold because of some syncopated lilt, and then have a tremendous run for a few months, but they are "grand old songs," which have been sung for generations, and which still endure, with all of their sweetness of melody and theme, long after the ragtime muse has passed into the discard. Our fathers and mothers, in their courtship days, joined in singing these old melodies to the accompaniment of the melodion or the square piano, and they were old familiar airs at that time. And today, after the young people have rendered "Get Out and Get Under," and other late numbers, the sheet music is piled aside to give place to a book of the old favorites, after the suggestion is made by someone that it's "time for some real music." Tuesday night, however, the old time heartsongs held the entire attention at Houston's opera house, and as singer after singer rendered some of the old numbers, seldom sung but always remembered, hearty applause greeted all, and encores, such as "Last Rose of Summer," "Silver Threads Among the Gold," "Believe Me When All Those Endearing Young Charms," "Comin' Thro' the Rye," were also heard with heartfelt interest. Years and faces long since gone were recalled to many by these numbers, and to one man at least, the quartet rendition of "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground" brought back vividly to mind the first rendering of the song in Portland, while the Civil War was in progress, and every community in the land was giving benefits, etc., to raise money for the "sanitary commission" to carry on its work of aiding the injured soldiers. From the "See-Saw" by a number of children and the well rendered little duet by the Walton sisters, the entire program was enjoyable, and much credit is due the Episcopal Guild and Mrs. Don J. Zumwalt for the splendid entertainment. The program follows:

- 1—See-Saw Crowe Margaret Cummings, Margaret Hargus, Helen Hamilton, Florence Morgan, Fred Goeller, Austin and Beatrice Gale, Beatrice and Catherine Walton.
- 2—In the Gloaming Harrison Miss Vera Houston
- 3—Duet—Doat Thou Love Me, Sister Ruth Haydn Misses Beatrice and Catherine Walton.
- 4—Dream Faces Hutchinson Miss Elizabeth Houston
- 5—Duet—Alice, Where Art Thou? Ascher Mrs. R. R. Hamilton, Miss Louise Benson.
- 6—The Laird o' Cockpen . Old Scotch Mr. Arthur D. Hay
- 7—Solo and quartet chorus—Sweet Genevieve Tucker Miss Louise Benson, and Mrs. Hamilton, Mr. Kinnear, Mr. Upp.
- 8—In Old Madrid Trotere Miss Marjorie McClure
- 9—A Warrior Bold Adams Mr. Lawrence Mehaffey
- 10—Duet—Flow Gently, Sweet Afton Spillman Mrs. Thomas, Mr. Hay
- 11—Long, Long Ago Bayly Mrs. A. J. Voge
- 12—Male quartet—Tenting Tonight

Mrs. Clarence O. Morgan and Mrs. C. K. Seltz entertained the Presbyterian Missionary Society at the home of Mrs. Morgan on Ewauna Heights Thursday afternoon. During the afternoon highly interesting talks on the Chinese and Japanese were made by Miss Nellie Cogwell, Miss Wilson and Miss Jessie Telford, and some excellent piano numbers were rendered by Mrs. L. L. Truax. A piano duet by Miss Vera Houston and Miss Greta McMillan was well received, as was a vocal solo by Miss Wilson. In attendance were Mr. A. A. Mehaffey, Mrs. W. S. Slough, Mrs. J. B. Mason, Mrs. Arthur R. Wilson, Miss Wilson, Mrs. S. P. Lowery, Miss Minnie Sargent, Mrs. J. S. Stubblefield, Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. C. P. Stewart, Mrs. Charles Loomis, Mrs. Mason-Peace of St. Paul.
