

U. S. MARINE IS MISSING; TROOPS ARE AGGRAVATED

DELIYED HUERTA TRYING TO CAUSE WAR MAY ALSO BUILD BOX FACTORY THERE

General Funston is preparing to balk any such plan on the part of the Dictator—Today He Refused the Request of the Mexican Commander to Run the Train to a Point Suspected as an Ambush.

United Press Service WASHINGTON, D. C., June 23.—General Funston has wired the White House that Private Heinrich Throb, a member of the marine corps, disappeared last Saturday. Throb has been on outpost duty at the time of his disappearance, and left his rifle and ammunition at his post. The man previous to resuming active duty, had been held under observation in the hospital, his mental condition being under surveillance.

United Press Service VERA CRUZ, June 23.—It is believed here that the Huertistas are planning to provoke an engagement with the American troops. The friction between American and Mexican outposts is acute.

An American marine, whose name has been withheld, has disappeared, and officers fear that he will meet the fate of the late Private Parks, killed by the federales.

The American outposts shouted questions to the Mexicans regarding this man, but the latter jerked them. The American boys are highly angered, but they were ordered not to start hostilities.

Feeling that Huerta is trying to force some attack, General Funston is planning to balk his efforts. Today he refused the Mexican commander's request that the American daily train toward Mexico City should run as far as Tembladeras. There it would be easy to ambush.

For three days, the outposts state, the Mexicans have been seeking an opportunity to start something.

PELICAN BAY MILL WILL BE REBUILT IS LATEST REPORT

Directors of the Klamath Chamber of Commerce Journey to Pelican City and Extend to Mr. Mortenson the Sympathy of the Community, and an Offer of Assistance in Getting a New Start.

The Pelican Bay Lumber company's sawmill and planing mill, which were burned down Sunday afternoon, will be rebuilt. Information to this effect was given to the directors of the Klamath Chamber of Commerce this morning by Harold D. Mortenson, the president and manager of the concern. This forenoon the directors of the Chamber of Commerce motored to Pelican City, the thriving little settlement built up around the mill by its employees, and in behalf of the people of Klamath Falls, they extended to Mr. Mortenson the deep sympathy the entire community feels for the company over the $90,000 loss Sunday, which also puts over 200 men out of work.

The directors went further than mere words of sympathy, and they offered to give what financial aid they could.

Mr. Mortenson's appreciation of this was shown by the sincerity of his short speech of thanks. He also assured the directors that already the company was considering plans for rebuilding their ruined plant.

Just what the company will do will not be known for several days. It is reported, though, that a box factory will be built by the company, to provide yet another method of marketing the lumber which is in many places a drug on the market.

A box factory could run through the winter months, and this would give still further employment to the residents of Pelican City, all loyal employees of the lumber company. The announcement of the company's rehabilitation plans are being awaited with great interest by the citizens of Klamath Falls.

Coronation Chair the Militants Unsuccessfully Tried to Blow Up

The attempt of the militant suffragettes to blow up Britain's ancient coronation chair the other day in Westminster Abbey had a greater effect on public sentiment than anything done by them so far. To many torturers the chair is intimately and essentially connected with the monarchy. The coronation chair, in itself and associations, is, perhaps, the most remarkable relic in the world. The chair was made in the year 1399 for Edward I. It was copied in wood at a cost of 100s from a design in bronze; 13s 4d more was paid for carving and gilding the two leopards, and 39s 7d for making the step, painting and gilding the chair and providing a chair cover. The seat is the famous stone of fortune on which the luck of the monarchy, according to fable, depends. As the legend has it, the stone was that upon which Jacob rested his head at Bethel, and it was carried by Pharaoh's daughter, whose heart Moses had touched, to Spain, whence it was borne to Ireland and then to Iona. There is little doubt that St. Columba laid his dying head upon it. The Scottish King Kenneth took it to Scone and enclosed it in a wooden chair. On this for four centuries Scotland's kings were crowned, till Edward I. captured it and carried it off to his shrine at Westminster. "The coronation chair," said Dean Staley, "is the one primeval monument which binds together the whole empire. Its iron rings, battered surface and the crack which has all but rent its solid mass asunder bear witness to its long migrations. It thus embodied in the heart of the English monarchy the element of the poetic, patriarchal heathen times."

MORE OUTLAWS FOR THE RODEO

"GRIZZLY MURPHY" AND "RIM ROCK JOHNNIE," RESERVATION TERRORS, ARE HIRED FOR THE CONTESTS

Jackson county's famous outlaw, "Grizzly Murphy," who threw all riders at the county fair at Medford last fall, is to be one of the big string of buckers at the Elks rodeo, July 3, 4 and 5. Monday Art Acord, the expert horseman who is trying out and securing bad buckers for the bucking championship contests, closed a deal for "Grizzly" and for "Rim Rock Johnnie," two of the worst known horses owned by Sims & Chandler's Wild West show.

The cowboys are beginning to arrive for the Rodeo from other points. In addition to Art Acord, Earl Simpson and Vera McGinnis, who are under contract to do exhibition riding, roping, etc., Jim Massey, world's champion bareback rider, and Buff Jones, one of the best ropers and bulldoggers in the West, are here from Stockton, waiting to compete. "Skeeter Bill" Robbins, the poetical puncher, Johnnie and Ben Dobbins, riders, bulldoggers and ropers, and other frontier stars will be here in a very short time.

Auto as Squirrel Killer

Albert Ward of Bidwell has a novel way of getting rid of squirrels that infest his ranch, and one in which his automobile plays an important part. He simply drives up to a squirrel hole, with a rubber pipe attached to the exhaust pipe of his machine, inserts the hose into the hole and starts his engine. The fumes of the gasoline kills the squirrels. In this manner he has rid his place of the pests after many unsuccessful attempts to get rid of them with poison.—Alturas Plaindealer.

GRANNIS WANTED IN ANOTHER CITY

SALT LAKE AUTHORITIES ARE SEARCHING FOR CLEVER SWINDLER, WHO TRIMMED KLAMATH FALLS PEOPLE

The Klamath county authorities are not the only ones who are looking for Jack Grannis or Granas, who, during the brief career of the "House of Berry," got into the finances of several Klamath Falls people. The current issue of a jewelry trade journal warns all jewelers to beware of Grannis, who is representing himself as a manufacturers' agent, and selling imported novelties.

According to the publication, he worked the Salt Lake Jewelry concern, and is being sought by authorities. He gave a number of worthless checks, which jewelers he talked with, cashed. The picture with the article is the same as that of the man who left here last winter with a few hundred dollars a local man loaned him to purchase suits with and sell to Klamath Falls stores.

STRENGTH TEST DRAWS A CROWD

LOGGER ESSAYS TO RAISE 75-POUND BLOCK OF WOOD BY SETTING HIS TEETH OVER A SHARP AXE BLADE

After sharpening a double-bladed axe, and driving it in a block of wood weighing 75 pounds, a logger known as "Husky Joe," this afternoon worked like a Trojan to lift the block by setting his teeth on the axe blade, but was unable to raise it. A large crowd watched the attempt. "Joe is a little off his feed, or something," said another logger. "For we have seen him do that trick many times in the woods."

REDFIELD SAYS TIMES HERE ARE BEST IN WORLD

DEPRESSION LEAVES FASTEST IN THIS COUNTRY

Head of the Department of Commerce Points to the Reports of Imports and Exports to Prove This, and Substantiates Wilson's Contention That the Panic Spoken of Here is "Psychological."

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 23.—"America was the last nation in the world to enter the world-wide depression, and now the first to emerge," said Secretary William C. Redfield of the department of commerce today.

"Furthermore," he added, "America felt the effects of this depression the least of all nations."

"The reported dullness in trade and industry is psychological, as President Wilson says. The reports and figures compiled as to imports, exports, etc., prove this."

"Other nations suffered longer and much worse than America in this depression. Of these, notably are Germany, France, Brazil, Canada and England."

Redfield stated that the bumper crops have created an extraordinary demand for agricultural machinery, and farm hands. He said that the market prices are all good.

Salvationists Hold an All Day Service

LONDON, June 23.—An all-day "Festival of Praise" at the famous Crystal Palace marked the climax today of the international congress of the Salvation Army, which has been in session in London since June 11.

Participating in this most spectacular demonstration in the army's history were 2,100 foreign delegates, many of them attired in their native garb, and some 18,000 delegates and visiting Salvationists from all parts of the British Isles.

From 8 o'clock in the morning there was a continuous succession of meetings within the huge glass and steel structure, and in the big park surrounding—forty-six events in all, and conducted in thirty-four different languages.

The two principal events of the day were the reception to General and Mrs. Booth in the great transept of the palace at 10 a. m., and the review of the Army by the General and his staff at 5 p. m. in the football ground.

One of the most picturesque features was the early morning unfurling of the flags of the various nations represented in the congress, from staffs especially erected for the occasion in the palace grounds. As each standard was broken out by chosen delegates the national anthem of each standard the country represented was played, and at the conclusion of the ceremony the fluted banner of the Army itself floated above the others to the tune of "Onward Christian Soldiers."
