LAKE SUPRISSES MARK DANIELS

SURPASSES ALL SCENIC WONDERS WITH GRANDEUR. BELIEVED THAT NEW BUREAU OF PARKS IS TO BE CREATED

Mark Daniels, general superintendent and landscape gardener for Uncle Sam's national parks, left Crater Lake Tuesday night for Medford, from where he will go to Ranier Park and other national parks in the Northwest on his tour of inspection.

"I can see no reason why Crater Lake cannot be the most attractive spot for its scenic beauty and grandeur in the United States," said Superintendent Daniels, in speaking of the lake. While he had been prepared for the wonderful view that was to meet his eyes on arriving there, he was much surprised. In talking with other members of the party he said that he had never seen anything that came up to it. Many other places were famed for various things, but none of them compared with the wonderful beauty combined with the grandeur of the scene, as one arrives at the rim of the lake.

Owing to the red tape that is necessary to secure appropriations for the national parks, it is believed to be President Wilson's plan to organize a new bureau which will have under its charge the national parks. At present in the various parks there are three different departments at work, the war department doing work on the roads, the department of agriculture and the department of the interior. The general plan, believing that America's wonders are worth seeing and worth the expenditure of a great deal of money on improvements, of the new administration is to place these under the control of a special department, thereby creating an efficient control of the parks.

Daniels was accompanied to the lake by Postmaster Delsell, James Thompson and Miss Estelle Blair, who returned Tuesday.

HYLAND WANTS ACTION TAKEN

COMMISSIONER OFFERS SOME SUGGESTIONS FOR KLAMATH'S EXHIBIT AND WANTS SPACE FILLED

Geo. M. Hyland, member of the Oregon commission to the Panama-Pacific Exposition to be held in San Francisco in 1915, will be present at a special meeting of the Klamath Chamber of Commerce tonight to be held in the club rooms.

Mr. Hyland is here in the interests of Klamath county and is endeavoring to create interest in her exhibit to be placed in the Oregon building. Regarding the situation at present, Mr. Hyland said, "Plans for your exhibit should have been under way long ago. This is important and should be started as soon as possible so that when the time comes everything will be complete and you will be able to make a favorable showing with the exhibits from other districts as well as giving your section of the state the representation that it should have."

"I should suggest as a novel feature a pine tree pergola as a place to put your fish and game exhibit in the outdoor exhibit of Southern Oregon pine. Another good plan which I think would do your section lots of good would be a large relief map of Klamath county, which would show in their relative positions and scenic advantages, Crater Lake, the Upper and Lower Klamath Lakes, the lava beds and other scenic attractions which you have here."

Klamath county has paid its portion of the building cost and maintenance in the Oregon building and should get active and fill the space assigned to it with specimens of agriculture and other resources."

Mr. Hyland is giving over his time as director of exploitation and the members of the commission board are doing everything in their power to make Oregon's exhibit at this world's exhibition everything that it should be.

This matter will be taken up at the meeting tonight by Mr. Hyland, when he will offer other suggestions that will aid Klamath greatly. A large attendance is requested by the members of the chamber to be present and all interested are invited to come.

OREGON ROAD BUILDING GROWS

STATISTICS SHOW STATE IS ON FAVORABLE FOOTING WITH OTHER STATES OF THE UNITED STATES

In a table of statistics recently issued by the United States department of agriculture, a complete total of all state expenditures for roads during the year 1913 is given with the amount of state aided roads completed in that year, and the total mileage of improved and unimproved roads. In addition, it shows the amount of automobile revenues received in 1913 and the state funds available for the present year.

Considering the fact that Oregon passed her original state highway law in 1913, she compares very favorably with the other states of the union in the matter of road improvements. The state first to pass this law was New Jersey in 1891. The grand total for construction, maintenance and administration up to January 1, 1914, for Oregon was $5,008. Total mileage of state aid roads in state is 4,941, and the total mileage in state amounts to 35,896. The per cent of roads improved is 13.7.

The fact that the states for 1914 have appropriated nearly $42,000,000, or an increase of more than $4,000,000 over the 1913 appropriation indicates an increased interest in the state development of good roads. The mileage of roads built with the aid of state funds to the close of 1913 aggregated nearly 21,000 miles, or only about 2,000 miles less than the famous national road system of France. The present annual expenditure for roads is more than two and a half times as great as it was nine years ago. Only nine states set aside no state funds for road building and only seven now have no state highway law. Automobile owners paid in licenses and fees in 1913 $7,830,895, or about one-thirtieth of state and local expenditures for roads.
