Infantry, Cavalry and Artillery Combine in Attack on Trapped Germans, Inflicting Heavy Loss. Big Zeppelin Scouting Over Brussels Victim of High Angle Gun. Two Belgian Forts Abandoned

United Press Service
BRUSSELS, Aug. 6.—Daybreak was the signal for the renewal of the desperate battle at Liege, the Belgians fighting stubbornly to stay an invasion.

Two outlying forts were vacated, the German fire rendering them untenable. The Germans had the range of these, and were firing effectively. Both armies were reinforced over night.

Late in the afternoon, one of the crack German regiments, led by General Uhlans, penetrated the Belgian defenses, under support of the German artillery fire. They made a speedy charge while Belgium's skirmish line was being rearranged.

Belgian infantry and cavalry cooperated with the big guns of the fort in an assault upon the charging troopers and Uhlans' command was annihilated. Half were killed or wounded, and the remainder captured.

It is believed that the Germans are preparing for a night assault.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 6.—A big German Zeppelin, flying over the fortifications, was wrecked when a Belgian high angle gun sent an explosive shell through the envelope.

It is announced that the German losses, killed and wounded at Liege, were 3,500 and twice that number in the vicinity of Liege.

SCHROEDER TO LEAVE SOON

RECEIVES WORD THAT TICKET HAS BEEN SENT BY TACOMA MANAGER, WHO IS IN A HURRY FOR KLAMATH PITCHER

Klamath Falls will lose her new pitcher without giving him a chance to show what he has if the transportation said to have been sent arrives before Sunday.

In a letter received today, Schroeder, of the Western Tri-State League, who was engaged for the locals, but has been offered a berth with the Tacoma League at a higher salary, was informed that his transportation had been sent him. It also stated that they wanted him there to pitch Sunday if possible and to have his arm in good shape. Schroeder had accepted the offer, providing transportation was sent and he has been awaiting the answer.

In case it does not arrive tonight, enabling him to leave in the morning for Tacoma, which he will have to do to pitch there Sunday, it is probable that he may lay over and pitch for Klamath Falls.

"Army" Invades the Big Klamath Basin

By M. A. McCall (County Agriculturist)

The past season seems to have been a specially favorable one for the development of insect life in Klamath county. The latest pest to make its appearance is the "army worm."

While as yet confined to a very limited area, and not particularly serious as it now stands, the possibility for large damage is present. For this reason a brief description of the pest and its control is given. The "army worm" is a caterpillar, the larval stage of a large moth. The worm is dark in color, almost black.
