United Press Service

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 11.—The state of Ohio is to make clothes for its wards in the different state institutions. Six new looms have been ordered installed at once in the state penitentiary and reformatory inmates will be made at first. As soon as the new venture is under way, clothes will be made for the wards in the state hospitals, homes and other institutions. Board of administration officials believe they will effect a great saving in this way.

Ohio started in the cloth manufacturing business when looms were installed at the penitentiary for the making of woolen blankets for its institutions. This proved successful and saved the state many thousands of dollars in the course of a year. Then it was decided to enlarge the shop to include the manufacture of cloth for clothing.
