

ENGINEER GOES TO ANOTHER JOB

B. E. HAYDEN LEAVES FOR THE TRUCKEE-CARSON PROJECT TO BE IRRIGATION MANAGER. IS WELL KNOWN HERE

B. E. Hayden, connected with the Klamath project for eight years, left this morning for Nevada, where he will be connected with the Truckee-Carson project. He will be connected with the operation and maintenance division there.

Mr. Hayden has been with the reclamation service since 1903, doing engineering work on many of the most important projects. In 1906 he came to the Klamath project, and with the exception of a few months' work on the Yakima project, has been here continuously.

At the time of leaving, he was engineer in charge of the operation and maintenance. His position has been such that he has been constantly in contact with the water users, and his departure will be keenly felt by them, as well as his many other friends throughout Klamath county.

German Officers Telephoning in Field

The German army organization is believed to be the most perfect as well as the greatest in the world. This photograph shows army officers telephoning from a forest in the dark of the night. Not even a lantern was permitted. The photograph was taken by flashlight, which was a concession to the photographer.

Harris, of the bureau of census, department of commerce, there were 305,164 persons 10 years of age and over in Oregon in 1910 engaged in gainful occupations. ANOTHER "FEST" BY BOY SCOUTS

DISCIPLES OF BADEN-POWELL ARE DETERMINED TO HAVE A LIBRARY. TO SELL ICE CREAM SATURDAY

Sticktiveness is one of the cardinal principles of the Boy Scout organization, and that the local scouts have mastered the principles of perseverance is shown by their determination to have a library in their hall. A few days ago they gave an ice cream social in the McDonald building, when they raised considerable money, and tomorrow afternoon and evening they will give another. They say that a library is almost a necessity with them this winter.

THIS GUN MIGHT END LIEGE FORT

SIXTEEN-INCH GUN, TO GUARD THE PANAMA CANAL, CAN THROW A SHELL THIRTY-FIVE MILES. FIFTY FEET LONG

United Press Service

WATERVILLE, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Repairs to the monster sixteen-inch gun, which will be the colossus of the Panama Canal fortifications, are nearing completion today in the local arsenal.

Some months ago the canon, which is the biggest specimen of ordnance in the world, was turned out at the Watervliet factory. Subsequent tests at the Sandy Hook proving station showed that its projectile could pierce twelve-inch armor set eleven miles away from the firing point.

The tremendous powers of the gun, destined to guard the Pacific entrance to the canal, are not easily appreciated. The canon itself is fifty feet in length and weighs 142 tons. Its projectile, over six feet long, tips the scales at 2,400 pounds. More than a quarter of a ton of powder is needed to discharge this destructive bullet.

Although capable of carrying at least thirty-five miles this iron-and-steel-boned agent of death can be "accurately bull's eyed" at twenty-two to twenty-three miles.

PORTLAND HAS NEWSIE STRIKE

THREE AFTERNOON PAPERS ARE ACCUSED BY THE BOYS OF UNFAIRNESS IN HANDLING THE WAR EXTRAS

PORTLAND, Aug. 14.—With the war raging in Europe, a new shortage has developed in Portland—a shortage of newspapers for the sale of the afternoon papers. The boys who have been thus employed have gone on a strike.

The boys say that the three afternoon papers are not playing fair with them. There are many extras issued daily now, and the boys say that the circulation heads are crowding more papers on them than they can sell, and then refuse to take back the unsold papers. The boys also dislike the sale price being two instead of five cents.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

To the Taxpayers:

Would the load be far lighter on your shoulders, if the prosecuting attorney would call the grand jury into session immediately to dispose of the cases now pending than to keep the five inmates of "Hell's Kitchen," commonly called the county jail, until December?

It seems to me that it is an outrage to keep men five and six months in jail at the expense of the county. Three of these men have pleaded guilty, so why not dispose of their cases?

Four of the five are sick, and it is more than likely that the county will have a good sized doctor bill to pay before December rolls around.

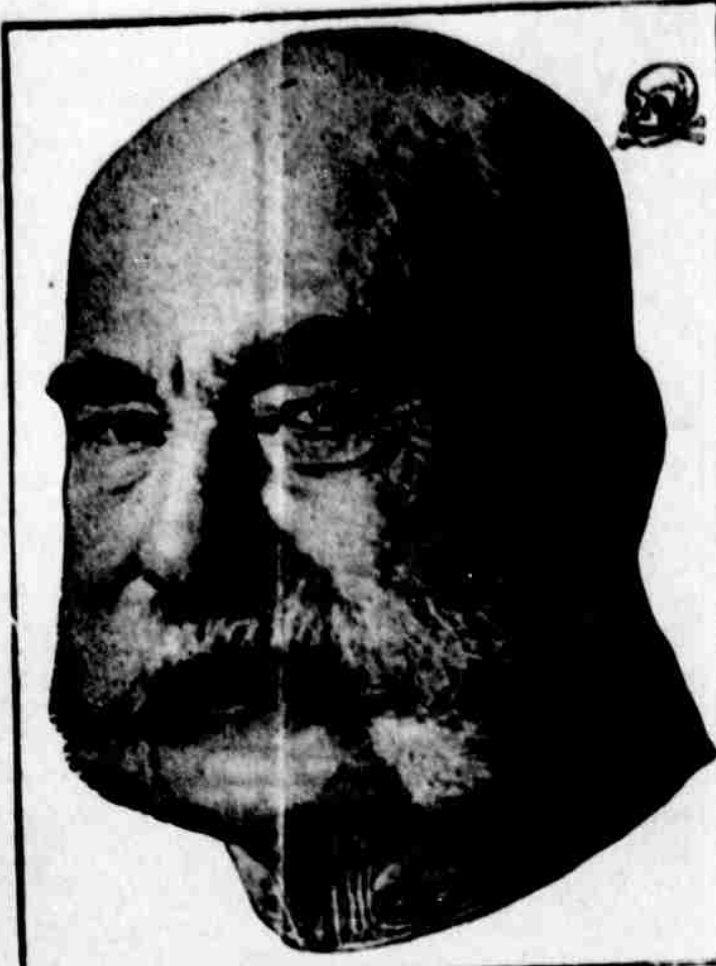

We are supposed to be in a country of equal rights—not in a barbarous country.

AN INMATE'S FRIEND.

Feature Film Tonight

The Orpheus management tonight will treat their patrons to the third installment of "Lucille Love," a thrilling story of the adventures of a girl in an attempt to prove the innocence of her lover. The plot of the play so far developed is about as follows: The father of Lucille, a naval officer of high standing loses papers of great importance to his government, and suspects the lover of Lucille of stealing them. Lucille suspects another man, who makes his escape by steamer, which the girl follows in a hydro-aeroplane and overtakes. Before she can accomplish anything, however, the boat is lost at sea, and Lucille escapes to a South Sea island, and is taken captive by the natives. It was at this point that the second installment left the girl, and those who have been following the fortunes of Lucille are anxious to see tonight's pictures.

The Cause of the Conflagration

Franz Josef is the oldest of the monarchs and rulers of the six powers of Europe. In all human expectation he cannot live more than a few years. He is now celebrating the end of a long life by causing the greatest conflagration the world has ever known. Germany, bound by the agreement of the Triple Alliance, has gone to the aid of the aged emperor. Italy, another member of the alliance may have to follow. Thereupon France and England, the parties with Russia to the Triple

Entente, are helping the czar.

King George of Great Britain is comparatively a young man. The czar is also young as rulers go. The Kaiser is a little past the meridian of life. Victor Emmanuel of Italy has not yet reached his prime, and the president of France has just reached it. The aged ruler of the dual monarchy reigned with the fathers of the present monarchs, who saw Queen Victoria and her son, Edward VII, pass, who has seen three czars, two emperors of Germany, and many presidents of France.

Eugene Odd Fellows will erect a $20,000 lodge building.
