

Two Jumpers to Feds Are Feeling Some Ill

By HAL SHERIDAN

(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—If there ever were two ball players in the world who have a legitimate excuse for kicking themselves all over a ball lot, Vin Campbell and Bill Hariden, outfielder and catcher respectively on the Indianapolis Federal League baseball club, are the ones.

These two athletes—both stars—last year were members of the Boston National League club. Campbell didn't play in 1913, having quit the national pastime in a huff the season previous, but he still belonged to the Braves, and at the beginning of this season he was importuned by George Stallings, the Braves' manager, to join the club.

Hariden was a member of the club last year. He caught the majority of Boston's games, and was ranked as one of the classiest receivers in the National League. During last winter Federal League agents whispered luring offers into the ears of both Campbell and Hariden. The athletes listened and fell.

Now Boston last year was a down and outer, with no show of getting into the world's series money. And the prospects for 1914 were not much brighter at the time the new league's agents were after Hariden and Campbell.

But now with the Boston Braves knocking the props from under the Giants and being picked by many to win the National League flag, it's a different thing—much different. Hariden and Campbell groan every time they pick up a paper and read that Boston has won another game.

Dreadnaughts of the French Fleet, Which Have Been in the Mediterranean

The French fleet has been a mysterious quantity in the European war. Little has been heard of it since the day Germany began war on France. Occasionally reports have been made of operations of individual ships, like those supposed to have been off New York harbor, but the battleships have so far as known accomplished nothing. In this photograph the fleet is shown in maneuvers, with the Michel, a large dreadnaught, in center.

95 per Cent Fail in Business

(Advertisement)

Of the hundreds of thousands of merchants engaged in business, 95 per cent of them fail. Why should they fail? Suppose 95 per cent of the people died of diphtheria, what would we say? There is no more reason in 95 per cent of merchants failing in business than there would be reason in 95 per cent of the people dying of diphtheria. It is pure waste. Statistics prove that 85 per cent of the merchants who fail in business are non-advertising merchants. Advertising is the only antidote. Results of good advertising are certain. The inexperienced generally meets with disappointments in his advertising. Advertising is a special business, just as medicine, law, dentistry, etc. The watchmaker takes $5 worth of pig iron and converts it into hair springs worth $2,000.000. That is what efficiency does with pig iron. What would efficiency do with your business? What every merchant needs is the assistance of an advertising specialist, who has studied carefully the problem of advertising efficiency. My years of experience in the field of newspaper advertising is at your service at the small sum of one-third of a cent an hour. I have the only reasonable plan for newspaper publicity on the market. Results guaranteed. Write me for my plan of assisting the local merchant with his newspaper advertising. Let me send you free my 52 copyrighted articles on newspaper advertising.
