"The Sea Wolf" Will Be Shown in Movies

One of the strongest features ever shown in Klamath Falls is the Saturday and Sunday program at the Star theater, when "The Sea Wolf," Jack London's masterpiece, in seven reels of motion, will be shown. There is no doubt but what this powerful story of the self-educated man, eager for knowledge, and when he is not subjecting his cabin boy to a beating, the two read poetry and philosophic to each other. The fight of Larsen against his entire crew, the rescuing of a woman from a wrecked steamer, the development of a love plot, and Larsen's intention of keeping the girl in his power, are all gripping points in the story that are brought out vividly in the motion pictures. Even to the last, when he is stricken with blindness and is paralyzed, Larsen's hatred is evidenced, and in that helpless condition he made two attempts to read or slay the hero and heroine, who attended him after the "Ghost" was wrecked.

U. S. Bureau of Education Interested in County Unit

Valuable Suggestions Are Made in the Interests of the County Basis of Organization for the Rural Schools, and the County School Tax

The United States Bureau of Education suggests the following essentials of the county unit basis of organization for the administration of rural schools. They result from studies of the various regulations in the states now organized on that basis:

- 1—The county the unit of taxation and administration of schools (except that in administration, independent city districts employing a superintendent would not be included).
- 2—A county school tax levied on all taxable property in the county, covered into the county treasury, and divided between the independent city districts and the rest of the county on a basis of the school population.
- 3—The county school funds, including those raised by taxation and those received from the state, expended in such a way as would as nearly as possible insure equal educational opportunities in all parts of the county, regardless of the amount raised in any particular part. (Any sub-district should be permitted to raise, by taxation or otherwise, additional funds to supplement the county funds, provided the sub-district desired a better school plant, additional equipment, or a more efficient teaching force than could be provided from the county funds.)

- 4—A county board of education in which is vested the administration of the public schools of the county (except those in independent city districts), composed of from five to nine persons, elected or appointed from the county at large; the board to be non-partisan; the term of office to be at least five years, and the terms arranged so that not more than one-fifth would expire in any one year.
- 5—A county superintendent of schools, a professional educator, selected by the county board of education, from within or without the county or state, for a long term (at least two years), who shall serve as the secretary and executive officer of the county board and as such be the recognized head of the public schools in the county (except those in independent city districts).
- 6—District trustees in each sub-district of the county, one or more persons, elected by the voters of the district or selected by the county board; to be custodians of the school property and to serve in an advisory capacity to the county board. The expenditures of local funds raised by the sub-district would rest with the trustees subject to the approval of the county board.

- 7—The powers and duties of the county board of education: (a) To select a county superintendent who would be its secretary and executive officer in the performance of all of its other functions; and to appoint assistants as required. (b) To have general control and management of the schools of the county. (c) To submit estimates to the regular county taxing authority of the amount of money needed to support the schools. (d) To regulate the boundaries of the sub-districts of the county, making from time to time such alterations as in its judgment would serve the best interests of the county system. (e) To locate and erect school buildings. (f) To supply the necessary equipment. (g) To fix the course of study and select text books (using the state course and state adopted text books in the states where action has been taken). (h) To enforce the compulsory education laws. (i) To employ teachers, fix their salaries and the salaries of other employees.

PRACTICAL WORK IN AGRICULTURE, POULTRY, ETC., INCREASES INTEREST, AND LOWERS LIVING EXPENSES

United Press Service
SALEM, Sept. 23.—The school children of the state are today taking greater interest in agricultural pursuits than ever before, as a result of supplementing text book instruction with practical demonstration work in gardening. State Superintendent of Schools Churchill contends that if every school child in the state is made familiar with gardening from a practical standpoint, the production of poultry, eggs and vegetables will be materially increased, with a resultant decrease in the cost of living.

Hearings (No. 627 Equity)
In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for the County of Klamath.

Marion A. Clement, Plaintiff, vs. Oscar F. North and J. W. Newhart, (doing business under the firm name, style and description of North & Newhart), co-partners, Orr Lake Lumber Company (a corporation), and Oscar Panno, Defendants.

To Orr Lake Company, a corporation, one of the defendants above named:

In the name of the State of Oregon, you are hereby required to be and appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled cause, on or before the fifth day of November, 1916, and if you fail so to appear and answer, the plaintiff, for want thereof, will apply to the court for the relief prayed for in the complaint, which is as follows:

That four certain claims for logger's liens, filed in the clerk's office of the county court, Klamath county, Oregon, on the 15th day of September, 1914, by Marion A. Clement, plaintiff, Charles Stallworth, Ed Kelly and Joe Clement, aggregating the amount of five hundred fifty dollars and twenty cents, which last three claims for liens were duly assigned to the plaintiff, be foreclosed and judgment thereon obtained, together with seven dollars and twenty cents, clerk's filing fee, twenty-five dollars attorney's fees for preparing said claims, and one hundred dollars, attorney's fee for foreclosing the same, and for costs of suit. That the logs and lumber upon which the same is attached and held to be a valid lien, is located and situated upon the following premises, to-wit:

Beginning at cattle guard number 415A on the Southern Pacific right of way, in Section five, township forty-one, south range eight, east of Willamette Meridian, Klamath county, Oregon, extending thence southerly along said right of way one thousand feet; thence westerly and of right angle with said right of way, one thousand feet; thence northerly and parallel with said right of way one thousand feet; thence easterly to the place of beginning; and

The west half of the northern quarter of Section six, township forty-one, south range eight, east of Willamette Meridian, Klamath county, Oregon.

That said property sold upon execution, and the proceeds applied to the payment of said sums of money above mentioned, due the plaintiff herein, and that you be forever barred and forever foreclosed of all right, title and interest in and to said property, and for such other and further relief as to the court may seem just and as to equity appertains.

This summons is served upon you by order of the Honorable Henry J. Keenan, judge of the above entitled court, which order is dated September 19th, 1916. The date of first publication is September 23d, 1916, and the last date of publication is November 4th, 1916.
