

BERLIN LOOKS TO BREAK LINES IN A WEEK'S TIME

TERRIBLE SCENES IN TRENCHES DESCRIBED

Shells Exploding in the Trenches Tear Men to Pieces, and Groans of Wounded and Dying Constant. Trenches Filled With Water the Only Shelter for the Troops—Big Guns Being Used by Both Armies.

United Press Service
BERLIN, Sept. 29.—(By Wire)—Reports from the front say that the German field officers in charge of the campaign in France, predict that the Teuton forces will break the allied lines within a week. It is declared that conditions at the front prove conclusively that the resistance of the allies is slackening. This is due to the hellish fighting that has been continuing day and night, and is declared to be the most bitter ever known in the history of warfare.

First it was an artillery duel, then an attempted charge on one side or the other, followed by the big machine guns being brought into play, and finally resorting to the bayonet to check any advancing rush. Always shells were exploding in the trenches, literally blowing men to pieces by the hundreds and thousands. The perpetual groans and cries of the wounded and dying, continuing day and night, was disheartening. The troops were compelled to remain constantly in the water filled trenches and the slightest movement anywhere would provoke the shelling of that portion of the line.

How well he has done his work has been told in the dispatches from day to day. Rouszky's present purpose is the capture of Cracow, a heavily fortified city, and a march from there to Berlin, co-operating with Russian armies now in the vicinity of Koenigsberg.

EXHAUSTED TROOPS PAUSE IN ASSAULTS

United Press Service
PARIS, Sept. 29.—There is continuous fighting in the Alsace district and along the heights of the Meuse. Elsewhere there is much quiet, owing to the exhausted conditions of the troops.

The French general flanking movement has gained slowly, according to headquarters. It is reported that the German operations in Upper Alsace have been renewed, under General von Heeringer. The assaults on Verdun and Toul continue.

The casualties along the Meuse are reported as 100,000 killed, wounded and missing. Of this number the allies' losses are 100,000.

A Bordeaux dispatch says it is reported that the German right is retreating from its fortified position between the Meuse and Moselle.

It is also reported that the allies have succeeded in cutting the German line of communication, and that a part of von Kluck's command, on the extreme right, is in danger.

The war bureau says this is unconfirmed, and adds nothing to the earlier report which declared the Germans are still hammering the French left.

OHIO IN THROES OF DRY CAMPAIGN

LOTS OF MONEY BEING RAISED BY BOTH FACTIONS IN AN EFFORT TO PUT THE BUCCYNE STATE IN DESIRED COLUMN

United Press Service
CLEVELAND, Sept. 29.—The campaign to add a statewide prohibition amendment to Ohio's constitution at the general elections in November was formally opened here today when "wet" and "dry" speakers clashed in a joint debate before the City Club of Cleveland.

Thirty thousand dollars has been raised to conduct the temperance fighting in Cleveland and Cuyahoga county alone. In nearly every county in the state both factions have their central committee, with ward and precinct captains to canvass every voter.

Although both "wet" and "dry" forces declare the fight is non-political, Governor Cox, democratic candidate for re-election, is said to have "wet" tendencies, while his progressive opponent, James E. Garfield, has joined the "drys." The republican platform refused to take a stand on the question, but Congressman Frank B. Willis, candidate for governor, is known to have strong "dry" sympathies.

CONSERVATION HITS COUNCIL

MATTHEWS ASKS THAT PART OF ROOSEVELT STREET BE SET ASIDE FOR FIRE STATION—SOUNDLY ARGUMENT FOLLOWS

If Councilman Matthews has his way not all of that portion of Roosevelt street between blocks 17 and 18, in first addition will be vacated, as M. R. Doty petitions. He believes the city should retain a 30x60 foot strip at Rose street for a fire station. "This opens a way to four streets, and a fire station is needed in that section," said he. "I think we should retain this part, and not buy a site later."

Thereupon a little argument began with Matthews and Mayor Nicholas as the chief participants. Nicholas stated that the city does not own the streets, but maintains them under an easement, for street purposes.

"If you hold that part of the street you do more harm than if you leave the street open," said Doty, in response to a query from Matthews if he would deed the strip in return for the vacation. "There is a strip at Ninth and Upham offered the city for a fire station, which is within easy reach of a much larger district."

The ordinance for the vacation passed the second reading. Matthews asked an opinion from City Attorney Rutenic regarding Matthews' contention, and this will be given at next meeting.

FOREIGN EXPERTS LOOK FOR AN END BEFORE THE SNOW

OTHER FIGHTS ARE EXPECTED SOON

It is predicted by these military men that as soon as the battle now raging along the Meuse reaches the decisive stage, simultaneous combats will break out elsewhere. One of these fights, it is predicted, will be in Belgium, and another west of Rheims. A third of the battles will be between the Russians, Germans and Austrian troops in the Eastern theater.

Disease Kills Troops

Cholera, Typhus, Typhoid, Etc., Raging in Armies

United Press Service
LONDON, Sept. 29.—It is admitted by army officials that they are greatly concerned over the alarming developments of the sanitary situation over the entire battle fields in all the countries where the European war is being fought. Constant reports are being received of the wholesale prevalence of Asiatic cholera among the wounded at Vienna, Budapest and on the spring line in Galicia, and also in certain parts of Russia. Typhoid, typhus and dysentery are reported as raging among the German troops. Many of the British and French troops are suffering from milder diseases. The constant rains and exposure in the wet trenches for weeks have brought an epidemic of rheumatism to the British troops. It is unofficially predicted that the end of the war may not have to wait for the success of the murderous siege guns and artillery of either side, but that the cessation of war may be forced through the complete exhaustion of the millions of men and the crippling of the fighting armies by the ravages of disease.
