

RUSSIAN ADVANCE LIKE STEAM ROLLER

Vienna Fears an Invasion

United Press Service
VIENNA, (via Rome), Oct. 2.—Anticipating the besieging of this city before long by the Russian forces, Emperor Franz Josef and his cabinet this afternoon decided to remove the capital to Prague. Prague is the central city in Bohemia.

The date of the arrival of the seat of government to the north has not been announced. It will be ordered as soon as it becomes apparent that the Russians intend to advance on this city.

In the meantime, plans are being outlined to prepare Prague for the temporary capital. The necessary buildings are to be remodelled there. The Military Council today ordered the immediate fortification of the suburbs of Vienna.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 2.—It is announced that the Germans are in full retreat in Suwalki province. They were demoralized after the Russian advance broke through their center.

There is violent fighting west of Simons. The main German army in this campaign is concentrated west of Ptaszkow and Kelle. They are strongly entrenched, and a hot fight is expected when the Russian advance comes in contact with them.

The Russian cavalry operations cut off German communications in many places, and captured many prisoners. These prisoners say that the forces at Suwalki included many veterans of the earlier Franco-Prussian campaign.

The main Russian army, under Grand Duke Nicholas, and operating against the Germans and Austrians in Galicia, has crossed the Nida River in Poland and the Donajec River in Galicia.

Wednesday Tarnow was captured by them.

Pacific Coast Past the Crisis and Has Great Things in Future

United Press Service
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1.—That Pacific coast business has just passed safely through a somewhat trying crisis and has settled to a sane, sound and gratifying healthy plane, with splendid promises of steady improvement, is the opinion here of I. O. Rhoades, general purchasing agent for the Southern Pacific railway.

Rhoades has just returned from an extended trip of the coast. He purchased from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 of supplies each year for his company from various points and from nearly a thousand firms.

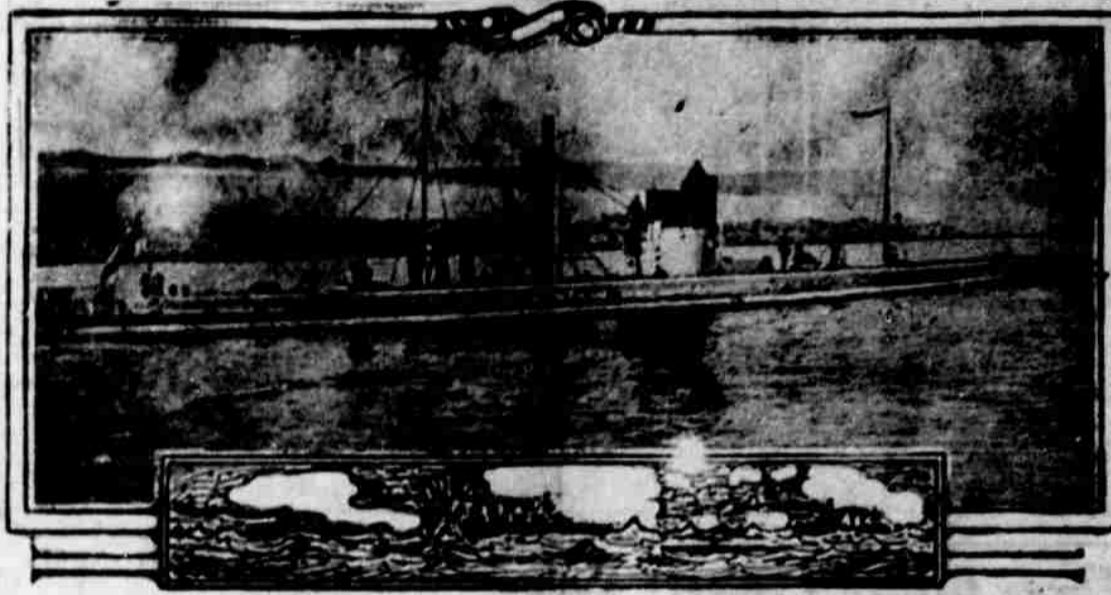

"The era of extravagance and waste is now a thing of the past," said Rhoades here. "A reaction has set in, and people are now getting down to sound and economical living. I believe the hard times were due largely to the unduly large profits which had been made during the preceding period. Profits are not so large, now, but goods are selling more rapidly.

"The country trade is growing stronger. It is stronger than the trade in the city. People are not buying so many luxuries now, but they are buying the things they need.

"Where before a woman would pay $75 for a hat, she now pays $15, and seems perfectly satisfied. In the hotels the high priced rooms are not being taken, but the hotel register shows that the number of patrons is just as large, if not larger than before. Tailors are selling less expensive clothes, shoe men are selling cheaper priced shoes, and dry goods stores are selling lower priced goods. The complaints of hard times are now coming chiefly from those business concerns that are dealing in luxuries.

"The man who is really producing something finds a ready market for his goods.

MANY GOING TO FAIR AT FORT

IN ADDITION TO WOOD RIVER VALLEY PRODUCTS THERE WILL BE A DISPLAY FROM A MALIN FARM

Klamath Falls will be well represented at Fort Klamath tomorrow, for in addition to a number of automobile parties of county seat folk, the Klamath Falls Military band will discourse harmony at the district fair there. Besides this, the Foster Stock company, which played here this week will play at the Fort two nights.

Forage crops and livestock will be the principal features of the Wood River Valley display. That section is ideal for dairying, and tomorrow the natives expect to show the whole county a thing or two along that line.

Besides this, there will be a baseball game, athletic races, a bucking contest and a dance in the evening.

In addition to the Fort Klamath exhibits, there will also be a display at the fair of farm products from the ranch of John Honak, an enterprising Malin farmer. This consists of onions, beets, rutabagas, carrots, cabbage, etc., of a quality that is surprising.

GERMANS STRIVE TO TURN BATTLE WEST

French Drag in Big Guns

United Press Service
PARIS, Oct. 2.—"We continue our progress on the right and left of the line," says the latest war office bulletin.

The allies left has been strongly reinforced by artillery. Some big guns, originally built for use on French naval vessels, have been converted into monster field pieces, and these are shelling the Germans at the angle of the Aisne and Oise, north of the Somme.

It is understood that the bombardment with these pieces are largely responsible for the recent successes gained by the allies.

United Press Service
PARIS, Oct. 2.—The Germans are already partly flanked, and their communications are in serious danger.

The Kaiser's troops are resisting desperately every movement of the allies. It is declared that the desperate character of their fighting proves that the Germans fear a part of their forces in the triangle between the confluence of the Aisne and Oise are in danger of being cut off.

The Germans are striving furiously to drive the battle line farther west. This would clear the way for these troops to retire when necessary.

Practically the entire army held for the defense of Paris has been hurled into the conflict, with all other reserves. The Germans have also reinforced, drawing from the Rhine forts and from Alsace, hoping to turn the tide of battle.

BERLIN, Oct. 2.—(Via The Hague)—It is announced that the allies left is attempting to flank the Germans. Steps have been taken to frustrate this. The fighting is mainly west of the Oise and north of Noyon. Near the Somme, the allies assault was so severe that some German positions were abandoned.

Fighting north of the Somme was the most severe. Here the enemy repeatedly attempted to break the Toulon line.

French troops operating from Nancy and Toul are assaulting the Germans. They have taken several positions, sacrificing thousands while doing this, but most of these have been recaptured.

President Wilson's Proclamation for Sunday's Prayer for Peace

By the president of the United States of America.
A proclamation:

"Whereas great nations of the world have taken up arms against one another and war now draws millions of men into battle whom the counsel of statesmen have not been able to save from terrible sacrifice;

"And, Whereas, in this, as in all things, it is our privilege and duty to seek counsel and succor of Almighty God, humbling ourselves before him, confessing our weakness and our lack of any wisdom equal to these things;

"And, Whereas, it is the especial wish and longing of the people of the United States, in prayer and counsel and friendliness, to serve the cause of peace;

"Therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States of America, do designate Sunday, the fourth day of October, a day of prayer and supplication, and do request all God-fearing persons to repair on that day to their places of worship, there to unite their petitions to Almighty God, that overruling the counsel of men, setting straight the things they cannot govern or alter, taking pity on the nations now in the throes of conflict, in his mercy and goodness showing a way where men can see none, he vouchsafe his children healing peace again and restore once more that concord among men and nations without which there can be neither happiness nor true friendship, nor any wholesome fruit of toil or thought in the world; praying also to this end that he forgive us our sins, our ignorance of his holy will, our willfulness and many errors, and lead us in the paths of obedience to places of vision and to thoughts and counsels that purge and make wise.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the city of Washington, this eighth day of September, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and fourteen, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and thirty-ninth.

(Signed.)

WOODROW WILSON.

By the President:
WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN, Secretary of State.
