ALLIES REPORT TROOPS GAINING

PARIS, Oct. 10.—Following is the latest war office statement:

"The battle continues satisfactorily to the allies.

"We have maintained our position all along the line in the face of vigorous attacks by the enemy. Particularly is this so on the left, in the region of Arrmentiers and Cassel, north of the Oise.

"We have gained several advantageous positions. The fullest utilization of the cavalry forces is impossible, owing to the rough nature of the ground.

"In the region of Ste Michel, we have made progress.

"Severe fighting is in progress along the East Prussian frontier where the Russians are successful. They now hold Lyck.

"Investment of Przemysl by the Russians progresses favorably. Today they captured one of the principal outlying forts from the Austro-German forces."

"The Mutual Girl and Her Auntie"

You just wait and see—if you do not hear of some funny experiences that Auntie and the Mutual Girl will have in Klamath Falls in shopping, trading and dealing with some of the live wire concerns in this town. It will be told exclusively in the Klamath Falls Herald. We trust that every reader of The Herald will watch this paper closely from day to day, and thereby they can keep close account of the doings and sayings of this pair of persons.

They will buy Groceries, Dry Goods, Shoes, Hardware; will build a house, hire an auto and go for a drive, have some painting done, paper hanging, get a pair of shoes repaired, go to some of the leading candy stores and cafes, take in some of the picture shows, and, in fact, will not miss a business of any kind in town.

"Daddy and His Boys" are here, and they know how to handle this matter, and The Herald will be right on the job, and all you need to do is to watch and read The Herald regular, and also you must watch the advertising in this paper carefully, and you will surely be benefited and entertained.

Read "Daddy's" talk in the next issue about the Honest Advertiser. It's good, and will help us all. I thank you.

"DADDY."

James' Pitching Wins 2d Game

Hold Athletics to Two Hits; Plank's Work Steady

SECOND CONTEST OF THE WORLD SERIES WAS ANYBODY'S UNTIL THE NINTH INNING, WHEN PINCH HITTER LINES OUT A DOUBLE AND SCORES WHEN OUTFIELDER LESLIE MANN SWATS A SINGLE

By HAL SHERIDAN

SHIBE PARK, Philadelphia, Oct. 10.—Boston took the second contest of the world's series from the Mackmen today through the masterly pitching of Bill James, the former Seattle twirler. James held the 1913 champions to two hits, and for the most of the contest disposed of them in one-two-three order.

Barely had the game been completed yesterday than the line began to form for the purchase of tickets for today's game. Hundreds were in line all night, and at midnight hordes who had snatched a little sleep, hurried to the park to wait their turn to purchase tickets.

Philadelphians expected to see the Athletics win today, and they expected to see a good game. Though they were disappointed about the result, they were not regarding the quality of the game, for although James had the Athletics and their murderous bats mystified, the game was nobody's up to the ninth, and the fans had settled themselves in their seats in anticipation of an extra inning pitchers' battle.

But in the ninth canto came the run that broke up the game. Pinch hitter Deal of the Braves paved the way for a National League victory when he clouted out a double. He crossed the plate when Outfielder Leslie Mann singled.

The only hits in the Athletic's column were a double by Catcher Behang and a single by Eddie Collins.

This is the second game to be lost

BOSTON'S NEWEST STARS

Supporters of the Athletics all over the nation are still wondering over the superb work of Dick Rudolph, the Boston twirler who yesterday held the Athletics down to one run, while his team batted Chief Bender out of the box, and at the work of Bill James, former Seattle stabster, who took a victory away from another veteran, Eddie Plank.

In this series by old world series war-horses, for Eddie Plank, who flung today for the Mackmen, helped pitch his team into the 1902, 1905, 1910, 1911 and 1913 pennants. His work today can by no means be held for the loss of the game, as he held the Braves to seven hits, with not more than two in any inning.

This is the thirteenth year that Plank has been pitching for the Athletics, as he joined that team after leaving college. Plank is 40 years old.

Following is the score by innings:

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R	H	E
Boston	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	1	7	1
Hits	1	0	1	2	1	0	0	2
Athletics	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	2	1

The Moose Lodge at Dallas is planning the erection of a new building.

ANTWERP FELL THURSDAY A.M.

THE HAGUE, via London.—(Delayed by censors)—Antwerp surrendered to the besieging German army Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. The white flag was hoisted from the top of the Cathedral Notre Dame, and the bombardment stopped at once.

Burgomaster Devose and Alderman Frank went to the Berchem gate, where they met General von Vedeler, and unconditionally surrendered the city.

ROME, Oct. 10.—The kaiser, according to German newspapers received here, intends striking at England immediately, Antwerp becoming the base of operations against the British.

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—"We are in entire control of the fortress of Antwerp," says the war office.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—According to a news agency dispatch, a large German force crossed the Schelde River at Termonde, and against Belgian opposition is advancing northeasterly toward St. Nicholas.

This force is apparently intent upon turning the rear of the Belgian army. If it succeeds in cutting off the retreat, the Belgians must either battle in the open country or be interned in Holland.

Two-thirds of Antwerp was wrecked by German shells, and the city is burning in many places. The Cathedral of Notre Dame, built in the fourteenth century, was badly damaged.

It is not known where the Belgian capital will now be established.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 10.—American Consul General Dietrich cables the state department that the Germans fired oil tanks at Antwerp flying the American flag, and burned them.

MARSE HENRI TO ENDEAVORERS TO BURY THE AXE HAVE A LECTURE

LETTERS EXCHANGED BY PRESIDENT AND KENTUCKY STATESMAN RESULT IN INVITATION TO MAKE A CALL.

HE IS INVITED TO THIS NEW PLAN, AND IF THIS SUCCEEDS, LECTURES WILL BE GIVEN EVERY MONTH

United Press Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 10.—President Wilson and Henry Watterson, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, have been exchanging letters, and it has been arranged that Watterson will call at the White House soon, and bury the hatchet.

Recently Watterson wrote Wilson, regretting the president's indisposition, and saying his disability would be a national calamity. He sent another note of condolence over Mrs. Wilson's death.

A new form of program will be tried out tomorrow afternoon by the Christian Endeavor Society of the Presbyterian church. This will be an illustrated lecture on "Immigration." Elegant slides have been purchased for this educational talk, and it is expected to prove highly interesting.

If this lecture is the success the promoters think it will be, similar ones will be held monthly.

Tomorrow's lecture begins at 6:30. All interested are invited.

The Gresham cannery is being rushed to completion.

Three Rich Indian Princes Who Are Fighting Germans in France

Major General Sir Pertab Singh, Maharajah of Patiala, Maharajah of Bikaner

Three wealthy Indian rulers, men who, under the British government in Hindoostan, rule over populations as large as that of England herself, have gone to France with their troops to fight for the allies. Some weeks ago reports were circulated that some of the native princes Britain has engaged in the war with Germany and Austria would be helpless in face of a native uprising, and a rebellion might be successful. It was said that some of them might lead the people against the rule of the British government in India. The reports caused instant action by some of these rulers. Three of them at least demanded to be sent to war. In all, twelve states of India raised troops or money. One of them gave more than $1,500,000 in cash for Great Britain's war fund.

Big Doings in Merrill

Water Users Gathered There for Mutual Benefits

Today is a red letter day with the water users near Merrill, for they are assembled at that city, holding a most beneficial meeting. In this reclamation service officials, farm experts and others are participating, and much of interest is being brought out.

The meeting was originally arranged by the Klamath Water Users Association, as a meeting at which to explain the new extension bill, since then it has grown into a big "get-together" meeting, with a farmers' institute thrown in.

Many from Klamath Falls are in attendance. Several of these people will speak. The assemblage is at the Merrill opera house, and the forenoon the welcome of Merrill was extended by two of her best known and oldest citizens, N. B. Merrill and Dan Van Brimmer. At noon a delicious luncheon was served by the Merrill women—really, "dinner" is a better word to describe one of these Merrill "luncheons."

The program includes a number of discussions, chiefly on problems pertaining to the water users, and on the advantages of farmers' co-operative enterprises.

Among those who will speak to lead discussions during the day are Dr. James Withycombe, former director of the experiment station of the Oregon Agricultural College; Project Manager J. G. Camp, Irrigation Manager George Fry, Theodore Campbell, President Ady of the Water Users Association; J. Frank Adams, J. S. Swan, County Agriculturalist N. B. and Gladys, Judge J. B. Gresham, Judge Noland, M. Giacomini and W. McClelland.
