Grave of German Hero Is Decorated at Liege

This is the grave of the first German soldier to plant a flag on a Liege fort during the bombardment by the German army. Of course, he died for his bravery, but the kaiser did not forget him. He issued an order that the army should see to it that flowers were kept green on the hero's grave. This photograph shows soldiers of the kaiser carrying out his orders.

SOME MINOR WAR NEWS FROM EUROPE

LITTLE STORIES FROM THE FRONT THAT ARE COMING IN THROUGH THE CAPITALS OF THE NATIONS NOW FIGHTING EACH OTHER—SOME ARE TRIVIAL, BUT ALL ARE INTERESTING AT THIS TIME.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—(By mail to New York)—With every day seeing new captures of German merchantmen of the sea, Great Britain is reaping a rich harvest in prizes from the war. Already well over 100 German vessels have been captured and nearly all of them have had valuable cargoes.

The naval prize court in London—the first in existence here since the Crimean war sixty years ago—has a large docket now, filled with cases arising from ships taken in home ports. Some of the most valuable captures are the Kronprinzessin Cecilie, with a cargo worth 200,000 pounds; the Belgia and the Prince Adalbert.

German ships in English waters at the time the war started would have been allowed fourteen days to get out of port and on their way home if the Germans had not refused a similar privilege to English ships in German ports. The offer came from England, and was refused, and the Germans have suffered by it as a result.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—(By mail to New York)—A very graphic picture of the feelings of a man plunged for the first time into war are given in a letter received here from a Russian officer at the front. He wrote: "When war was declared our brigade was dispatched to the theater of action. I went with delight, and so did the others. When we reached our destination we were told that the battle would begin in the morning. At daybreak we were assigned to positions, and the commander of the brigade handed us a plan of action for our artillery. From that moment horror possessed our souls.

"It was not anxiety for ourselves or fear of the enemy, but a feeling of awe in the face of something unknown. At 6 o'clock we opened fire at a mark which we could not distinguish, but which we understood was the enemy. Suddenly we could see the enemy coming. At the same time he opened fire upon us. We turned our guns upon him, and I gave the order to fire. I myself felt that I was in a kind of nightmare. One of the enemy's regiments was annihilated; then a second one. All this time I was pouring missiles in among them. But now the nervous feeling has left me. My soul is filled with hate, and I continue to shoot at the enemy without the least feeling of pity.

"During the first night after the battle I could not sleep a wink. All the time my mind was filled with pictures of the battlefield. I saw German regiments approaching and myself firing right into the thick of them. Heads, arms, legs and whole bodies of men were being flung into the air. It was a dreadful vision. I was in four battles. When the second began I went into it like an automaton. Only your muscles are taxed. All the rest of your being seems paralyzed. So complete is the suspension of the sensory processes that I never felt my wound. All I remember is that a feeling of giddiness came over me and my head began to swim."

LONDON, Sept. 30.—(By mail to New York)—A movement has been launched among Australian sheep farmers, it was learned here today, to present 1,000,000 carcasses of frozen mutton to Great Britain. The state railway will carry them free to the coast and the freezing and shipping companies will charge the minimum rate.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 25.—(By mail to New York)—A German non-commissioned officer brought to a hospital here, told of how surprised the German troops were when they were first sent against the Belgians. "I was wounded at the engagement at Warsage," he said. "It was a fierce fight, and the Belgian soldiers beat us badly. We were told that we must cross Belgium by railway to get into France. Imagine our surprise, therefore, when on arriving in the proximity of the frontier my regiment was ordered to march toward Belgium. Then they told us we were going to fight the Belgians, who attempted to hinder our crossing their territory, adding that it was for my country's life or death."

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

LOOK YOUNG! BRING BACK ITS NATURAL COLOR, GLOSS AND THICKNESS

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Mixing the sage tea and sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application of two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant, and you appear years younger.
