

WORDEN RANKS BEING THINNED BY DESERTIONS

HIS ARMY IS NOT THAT OF THE RECALL CAMPAIGN.

People Who Then Halted to the Standard of the Present County Judge Have Since Then Been Changing Their Minds, Following the Extravagant Course Pursued in the Use of County's Funds.

Reports coming in from all over the county would indicate that Worden supporters are few and far between this year. The enthusiasm of the recall election is entirely lacking, and the political workers so much in evidence at that time have evidently resigned their jobs, as it is not possible to even get up an argument.

Last year Worden was in the zenith of his power, and there was enthusiasm among his friends everywhere. Today the reaction has set in and is working overtime. Like many another politician his rise to popularity was rapid, but the decline is even more swift. Even his most ardent supporters of the past are either silent or are working against him.

Worden's good roads program brought him many votes last year, and the prospects of jobs influenced many others. Some of these latter got the job, but they are waking up to the fact that they were stung. All they have to show for their summer's work is a few little pieces of green paper. These are nice little souvenirs, but they won't buy food and clothing.

On the other hand they are forced to pay the extra taxes that the extravagance of the administration made necessary, and they discover that the good roads, which they honestly were in favor of building, are like the proverbial house that was built upon the sand. They are fast crumbling away and disappearing in mud holes. Every cent that could be raised by taxes or on warrant credit was spent in building roads, but not a cent was reserved to keep them in repair. Worden has followed the plan of the man who exhausted his resources in the purchase of expensive harvesting and farm machinery, and then discovered he had nothing left with which to buy seed and pay for putting in the crop. Residents of Port Klamath, which has always been strong for Worden,

M. Turpin, Said to Have Invented Gas, Which Smothers the Germans

One of the remarkable tales of the great war has been that from France, that a deadly gas was being used by the French artillery to smother whole regiments of Germans. Few persons have believed it, but nevertheless the story has come that M. Turpin, the well known inventor, whom France once sent to jail, had compounded this peculiar powder which exploded into deadly gas.

say that he will get very few votes in the northern part of the county. Similar reports come from Dairy, Bonanza and the eastern part of the county. It is even said that he will not get as many votes in the Merrill country as he did four years ago, when he just barely carried the district. Hundreds of people who voted for Worden in the recall will not be found with him at the coming election. As one man remarked: "I believe in giving a man a fair chance to show what he can do. Worden has had his opportunity, and it has almost ruined the county."

In on Business. Mrs. Hanson came in today from Siskiyou county to attend to local business interests. He owns a large tract of land near Keno.

ROAD ENGINEERS LEAVE FOR NORTH

MANY MILES OF ROAD BUILT OR STRAIGHTENED THIS YEAR. NEXT YEAR, GRADED ROADS TO BE SURFACED

Engineer George E. Goodwin, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Peters, C. S. Chapin, H. F. Schroeder and E. S. Wertz, who have been in charge of the highway construction on Crater Lake National Park, under the direction of the Corps of Engineers, left this morning for Portland, after closing the work for the year.

"In addition to the work on the other roads, we located and cleared the right of way preparatory to the building of a strip of road from the hotel to The Watchman," said Mr. Goodwin. "This and other strips will be built next year, and provided a sufficient appropriation is made, we expect to hard surface the roads already built."

Besides the improvement of the Anna Creek canyon route from the Port Klamath park line, we have eliminated the "corkscrew" in the road leading to Medford, built a road connecting Anna Creek and Sand Creek, and constructed several other connecting roads."

PROHI WANTS TO DEBATE ISSUES

ROWELL ISSUES AN INVITATION TO SOMEONE OPPOSED TO PROHIBITION TO DEBATE TOMORROW NIGHT

The following was received today from E. A. Rowell, who lectures this evening at Houston's opera house on "Portland After Dark."

"Believing that out of full and free discussion of all public questions there arises a better understanding of these questions in the public mind, and believing further that the wet and dry issue is the paramount question in this campaign, I therefore publicly challenge any person acceptable to the liquor interests to a public debate Friday evening in Houston's opera house."

Mr. Rowell's lecture tonight, in addition to bringing forth facts regarding the liquor traffic in Portland, will bring out some disclosures regarding Klamath Falls. Mr. Rowell has been connected with newspaper work for some time, and gathered much of his information for his lecture while thus engaged.

Visiting School. County Superintendent Fred Peterson is visiting the Worden school today.

SUITCASE FIND IS A MYSTERY

BAGGAGE CONTAINING PERSONAL PAPERS OF PROMINENT INDIAN FOUND NEAR DEPOT. SIGNS OF SCUFFLE NEARBY

Local sleuths are much mystified today, as the result of the finding of a suitcase near the depot last night by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Otis. The matter was reported to the sheriff's office by them, and today Sheriff Low went to the spot and took the suitcase into his possession.

Upon opening it it was found that the suitcase contained a number of important papers belonging to Ike Jackson, a prominent Klamath Indian, some Indian gambling devices, clothing and other things. Near the spot were found signs of a scuffle and some buttons evidently torn off of coats during a struggle.

How the suitcase happened to be there, or what was the cause of the evident struggle is the mystery. This is made more mysterious by the fact that the suitcase, from the date of a purchase bill in it, has been out for a couple of weeks, while Jackson has been in town since then and has made no report of his loss to the authorities.

Witherill last night withdrew the charge of threatening to kill, on which he had Graffie arrested. Incidentally Witherill paid the costs of the case as far as it had proceeded in Justice Gowen's court.

The trouble between the two men occurred at Midland Sunday. Graffie was arrested late Tuesday afternoon, and the preliminary hearing was scheduled for today. Graffie in the meantime was released on his own recognizance.

DISAGREEMENT IN TRIAL OF INDIAN

JURY FAILED TO REACH A VERDICT AFTER HEARING LENGTHY TESTIMONY IN THE BROWN MURDER TRIAL

According to a telegram received by Charles F. Stone from his law partner, H. S. Gale, the federal district court jury at Medford failed to reach a verdict in the case of Jim George, charged with the murder of Peter Brown. Both were Indians, and the shooting is alleged to have taken place at Plute Camp.

A strong circumstantial case was presented for the prosecution. Brown and George, with other Indians, were at gambling games near Yainax, and the following day Brown's body, with two bullets in the back, was found. The state held that the two were rivals for an Indian maiden, and that the two left together, after drinking heavily.

Several days were required to get in all of the testimony, much of which was conflicting. Judge Gale and Hon. L. R. Webster defended the accused aborigine.

War Tax Bill Is Passed

Congress Will Now Adjourn After Long Session

United Press Service WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 22.—With the passage of the war tax bill today by both houses, final adjournment of congress is expected late this afternoon or tonight.

This is the longest congressional session on record. It has been in practically continuous session since April 7, 1913, or a total of 565 days.

During the session 30,377 bills were introduced in the house and 7,493 bills in the senate. In that time President Wilson sent 5,000 nominations to the senate for confirmation, and of these less than ten were rejected.

The failure of the cotton amendment cleared the decks for quick action, and an adjournment in time to allow senators and representatives to get home for a few days before the elections.

ALLIES CLAIM A BIG ADVANTAGE OVER TEUTONS

LINES ARE SPLIT TO THE NORTH OF LILLE

Following This Breaking in Rank, Allies Will Endeavor to Envelop German Right, Now Between Main Body and the Sea—Fighting General From Lorraine to the Sea. Mass Claim Victory.

United Press Service PARIS, Oct. 22.—The allies are rolling the Germans back. For the first time since the battles in the north commenced, the allies have pushed a wedge through the lines of the enemy thirteen miles north of Lille, cutting off the right wing.

The allies have also made a gain of two miles east of Lille. This is a small, but a very important advance. As a result, the allies are now in a position to maneuver to envelope the German right, and it is predicted that this will be accomplished in a week.

The latest communique says that the allies are maintaining their advantage in the vicinity of Dixmude, Armentieres, Radignee and LaBasse, with the German assaults repulsed at all these points.

The fight is now a general battle extending from Lorraine to the sea.

The allies are reported to have gained slightly in the Argonne and Woivre districts.

United Press Service PETROGRAD, Oct. 22.—It is officially announced that the Germans are in full retreat. The battle line is now thirty miles west of Warsaw, and the Siberian corps is pursuing the retreating Teutons.

It is reported that the 21st German corps lost nearly two-thirds of its strength.

"The Mutual Girl and Her Auntie"

Every business man in the city of Klamath Falls, who is taking an interest in his business, who desires to succeed, should look at this situation squarely. This subject, "The Advertising Medium and the Advertisement."

Take time and thought, and digest these words, for your biggest problem today is one of publicity. Competition is becoming so keen that it seems almost impossible that the old saying is coming true: "The survival of the fittest."

You wouldn't hire as your sales manager a man who knew a thousand people and nothing else. What good would his acquaintance be to him, or to you, if he was not a salesman. When you insert an ad that cannot bring you results in any medium, you are hiring a sales manager without any sales ability, but with a large acquaintance.

Do you know of any reason why you should pay high rates for having your ad inserted, without insuring yourself that the ad will bring results? Would you, in your business, Mr. Advertiser, pay big salaries to your men without demanding results from them?

If your advertising does not bring results, don't be too quick in blaming the medium. First, analyze your sales problems. Then analyze the medium. If both of these are correct, look at your advertising. Is it built to attract attention? Does it arouse and maintain interest? Does it create desire? Does it stimulate purchase? Does it compel action?

How many times have you seen advertisements running in the papers that were completely out of date, simply because the firm that was paying for that ad was neglectful in making up new copy, and making that space earn him money? Why is it that many of the larger merchants and business men throughout this whole country now employ men to do nothing but take charge of their copy, and pay them a big price for it as well?

Get in The Herald. We will take care of your copy, and make it "FULL."
