KLAMATH FALLS, OREGON FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1914

AND STOP AT KLAMATH FALLS

WHAT UP - KEEP' CAN DO

A FARMER built a barn last summer at a cost of $5,000, to replace one his father had built on the old homestead forty years before that had gone to rack and ruin.

Across the road from this stands another barn that was built forty years ago that looks as well as it did the day it was built. The farmer across the road will not have to build a barn for many years.

The second farmer in that forty years has made it a practice to repaint his barn every five years, and to repair it as often as needed. In forty years he has spent $1,500 in this manner. The first farmer has practically never spent a cent for repairs. But this year he found himself confronted by the necessity for spending $5,000 in one lump. He met the emergency through the medium of a mortgage.

The new barn may do for forty years without repairs, just as the first barn did. It is not certain the second man's barn will serve him for forty years more. But it may.

But it will seem to most people that the second farmer has all the better of it, at that. Here are a few reasons why:

He has a barn that as far as service is concerned is as good as the new one. And there isn't any mortgage on the homestead.

Had these two men ever wanted to sell, or did either want to sell new, the state of the two pieces of property was and is materially different. One has had a run-down barn on it for many years. Now it has a new barn—and a mortgage. The other has now, and has had right along, a good barn on it—and no incumbrance.

Letting a barn or other building "peter out" is the poorest economy in the world. Keeping it in repair is the cheapest investment.

Scattered Shots

THE ONLY thing favoring the Belgian and French farmers in this war is the fact that they won't have to worry about fall plowing. The cannon balls attended to that.

WHAT IS being done toward that road through the Lava Beds to connect with Modoc and Siskiyou counties?

ABOUT THE MOST serious effect of the war tax thus far reported is the increase in the price of a glass of beer imposed in New Jersey.

REALLY, it has a regular "Black Friday" look, hasn't it? No matter what happens today, the day and date will be blamed for it.

BUT THERE IS one thing sure there is no "foot and mouth" disease here. And that's not the only malady missing from this healthy climate of ours.

THERE IS TALK of arresting the man who gave the tip leading up to the shooting on the Pullman in California a few days ago. Involuntary manslaughter might be the charge. And in view of the bloodshed over the tip, many feel that they are now justified in refusing to give them.

ARE YOU SURE your house is numbered.

"Dr. Thomas' Eclectic Oil is the best remedy for that often fatal disease—croup. It has been used with success in our family for eight years."

German and Russian Towns Big Contrast

By KARL H. von WINGAND (United Press Staff Correspondent)

MLABA, Russia, Oct. 10.—(By five border guards. Berlin and Rotterdam, to New York)—Today I crossed into Russia without a passport—probably the first American that has done this in many years. I in the German lines here, fifteen miles beyond the German border. This afternoon I was close to the Russian outposts, which are about three miles beyond Mlaba. This town was garrisoned by a regiment of Russian Hussars, and is quite an important point on the railroad that leads to Warsaw.

Through the courtesy of the war office and general staff at Berlin I am making a tour of the Russian border, the first American correspondent, in fact, the first foreign correspondent, to come here since the war began. Captain Kilewer of the general staff at Berlin, and First Lieutenant Skopenik of the Twentieth army corps headquarters at Allenstein, have been detailed to accompany me and a number of other correspondents of neutral countries.

We have an escort of nine men. On each of the powerful military automobiles are two rifles placed where they can be reached the quickest. We correspondents were strongly advised to carry revolvers, for we are in a country where dispersed bands of Cossacks are raiding, and Cossacks make no distinction between military men and non-combatants.

What a contrast between Russian civilization and German culture and progress. Perhaps it is not fair to judge Russia by this and other border towns I have seen.

The beautiful roads which thread the rich East Prussian province in all directions like the macadamized streets of a city, come to an abrupt end at the Russian border as if the world ended there.

From Soldau to Illovo, the German customs station, thence to Mlaba, we went by train.

The few miles went through a battlefield over which the Germans and Russians have fought back and forth again and again. Rifle pits hastily scooped out and little mounds with crude crosses, marked the route on both sides of the track, while bandages, scraps of uniforms, cartridge boxes, Russian caps and other pieces of equipment, were scattered on the ground.

The "road," rather the trail that answered for a road, running parallel with the railroad, was nothing but a miry bog. Illovo is a typical German border station. Wide streets, gardens from which flowers still smile—all the buildings had been of brick—and even the ruins show the mark of characteristic German neatness and orderliness. The Russians have destroyed practically every building in town. It was here that Lieutenant Skopenik, a typical frontier officer, such as I have known in Arizona and New Mexico, held an entire regiment of Russians in check for four days.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Brest Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Tee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus driving a cold from the system.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

RUB BACKACHE AND LUMBAGO RIGHT OUT

Rub Pain and Stiffness away with a small bottle of old honest St. Jacobs Oil

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a 25 cent bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right into the pain or ache, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the ache and pain right out of your back and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica and lame back misery so promptly!

from August 1 to 4, with only thirty-five border guards. We visited his house. The Russians had not burned it down, but had demolished every piece of furniture in it, even the iron stove had been hammered into pieces, the mattresses ripped open, the crockery broken and the house befouled from garret to cellar in an unprintable manner.

From the railroad station on the Russian side to Mlaba proper, a little over a mile distant, we walked. The road was shaded with rows of beautiful trees, but the road itself was a bog. A deluge of rain was falling, and we probably saw Russian roads and a Russian town under anything but auspicious conditions.

In contrast to the German side of the line, the buildings were of wood, dirty and dilapidated. No flaggers smiled from little balconies, as they did even in the ruins of Illovo. Many of them reminded me of the ramshackle affairs that many negroes live in our Southern states. The market hall—of brick and stone—and two churches, were the only respectable looking buildings in town.

The Russians razed Illovo, the German town, to the ground. The Germans didn't touch the Russian town. A German shell had brought down the tower of the market hall, and two or three other buildings showed the marks of shot and shell. Aside from these no damage had been done.

The greater part of the population had fled with the Russian troops. The Jews and some of the very poorest remained—picture of misery. Unkempt, unshorn, ragged and dirty, they stood about and looked as ambitious as the people afflicted with the "hookworm" disease I have seen in the Southern states. Many of them had the drooping, blood-red eyelids of the fearful eye disease "trachoma."

An old rabbi, with snow white beard and finely chiseled, intelligent face, expressed his pleasure that the Germans were in town. "May God give that they remain," he remarked. Another aged Jew said, "Ach Gott, if the war was only over. Business is so bad."

Major von Heid Riedinger, commandant at Mlaba, rode up. He said that the Russians were showing great activity again all along the line.

"They nearly got my two batteries yesterday," he laughingly remarked.

Judged by a Piano

Did you ever notice that upon entering a house almost the first thing you notice is the presence or absence of a piano?

You instinctively judge the taste and refinement of the family accordingly.

How is your home thus classified by your friends? If you have no instrument any of our pianos would easily give the desired refinement to that home, and our terms can be met by almost anyone.

Convince yourself by dropping in some afternoon or evening to see what we have.

as he described the hard work of the Germans to extricate themselves from a bad position, due to the unexpected arrival of a strong Russian force. A Russian scout was brought in, captured just outside of town. He was a tall, fine, dare-devil looking chap.

Dire Distress

It is Near at Hand to Hundreds of Klamath Falls Readers

Don't neglect an aching back. Backache is often the kidney's cry for help.

Neglect hurrying to the kidneys' aid.

Means that urinary troubles may follow.

Or danger of worse kidney trouble. Here's Medford testimony:

Mrs. I. H. White, 518 W. Hamilton street, Medford, Ore., says: "Twice I had attacks of kidney trouble. A dull pain settled in my back and I became dazed and nervous. There seemed to be no rest for me day or night. I was all run down when I was told to try Doan's Kidney Pills. They acted quickly and brought the best of results. I haven't had any sign of kidney trouble for years."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. White had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. (Paid Advertisement)

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

TAKE SALTS AT FIRST SIGN OF BLADDER IRRITATION OR BACKACHE

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoon full in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia water beverage, and belongs in every home.
