Since its organization, the Art Needlework Club has never been known to do things by halves. This was forebly demonstrated Saturday night, when Committee No. 1 gave its party at the White building, entertaining the husbands and a few friends of the members. Mrs. W. E. Faught was chairman of this committee, and the other members were Mrs. G. W. White, Mrs. F. M. White, Mrs. A. W. Piel, Mrs. S. T. Summers, Mrs. George R. Hura, Mfa. E. S. Phillips, Mrs. Arthur Wilson and Mrs. J. S. Stubbiefield. The party was held in the room adjoining the Sugar Bowl and it was tastefully decorated for the occasion, ferns and other potted plants being used. Each guest, in the invitation issued, was bidden to bring some abandoned article of wearing apparel, wrapped in a package, and these were auctioned off to the highest bidder by Professor W. E. Faught, beans being the medium of exchange. Purchasing "a pig in a poke" caused a series of surprises and laughs as the packages were opened, and the amusement was still further increased by the ruling that each purchaser had to don the garment purchased. Following the completion of the auction, and some other amusing features and contests, the guests repaired to the private parlor of the Sugar Bowl, where sumptuous refreshments were served, the repast being made even more enjoyable by the tasteful decorations and the excellent service by the Sugar Bowl staff. Invited to the party were Professor and Mrs. R. H. Dunbar, Mr. and Mrs. Carey M. Ramsby, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Haydon, Mr. and Mrs.

J. Fred Goeller, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Wirtz, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Wattenburg, Mr. and Mrs. George Chastain, Mr. and Mrs. Karl G. Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Newnam, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hogue, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Dezell, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. White, Professor and Mrs. W. E. Faught, Dr. and Mrs. F. M. White, Mrs. George R. Hura, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wilson, Rev. and Mrs. J. S. Stubbiefield, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar E. Shive, Mrs. Hallinger, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Immel, Mr. and Mrs. Charles I. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Hawley and Miss Lulu Wattenburg.

The Sugar Bowl figured in two other social events this week, the parlor and private dining room arranged for these affairs meeting with great favor locally.

Tuesday night a miscellaneous shower was given at the Sugar Bowl in honor of Mrs. Alex Shive, who before her marriage to the well known young merchant Saturday night, was Miss Pearl Lee. This was given by Mrs. Fred M. Garich, who was assisted by Miss Hazel Barnes and Miss Alma Jones, and the guests invited were: Mrs. Alex Shive, Mrs. Chas. Maaburn, Mrs. Wm. Immel, Mrs. Fred Melhase, Mrs. L. C. Moore, Mrs. Larry Thompson, Mrs. W. T. Lee, Mrs. R. A. Mitchell, Mrs. R. R. Hamilton, Mrs. Don Dale, Mrs. G. W. White, Mrs. A. L. Salfsky, Mrs. F. H. Mills, Mrs. Lyle Mills, Mrs. F. M. White, Mrs. Austin Hayden, Mrs. A. J. Vove, Mrs. J. P. Lee, Mrs. E. B. Henry, Mrs. Wm. Crandell, Mrs. O. D. Matthews, Mrs. E. R. Willis, Mrs. Oscar Shive, Mrs. Anna Metcalf, Miss Winnie Wampler, Miss Anna Green, Miss Willa Leonard. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and useful presents, many of them being handwork by the guests. The evening was enjoyably spent in playing 500. Mrs. Fred Melhase winning first prize and Mrs. Mitchell the consolation award. During the evening there were a number of musical selections, both vocal and instrumental, given, following which the guests were escorted to the dining room, where a dainty luncheon was served. The decorations of the dining room were beautifully and tastefully arranged.

Last night the board of directors of the Sunday school of Grace M. E. church gathered for their annual meeting in the dining room of the Sugar Bowl, at which time George J. Walton was again re-elected superintendent of the Sunday school, and the following other officers were chosen for the ensuing term: Assistant superintendent, Frank M. Upp; secretary, Charles R. Roberts; treasurer, Edmund M. Chilcote; pianiste, Miss Louise Benson; librarian, Miss Lucille Waldron. During the luncheon, a number of talks were made, discussing Sunday school administration matters, plans for the coming year, etc., the principal talk being made by Judge Benson. Attending the luncheon were Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Felts, Mr. and Mrs. Skillington, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Steinmetz, Miss Ida Momyer, Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Minor,

Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Upp, Rev. and Mrs. Ernest C. Richards, Charles Roberts, Hon. Henry L. Benson, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Walton, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Camp, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Chilcote, Miss Lucille Waldron, Miss Louise Benson, J. O. Boardley, Mrs. Frances Boyd, Mrs. Helen Turner and Earl C. Chandler.

The Tuesday Club members were entertained this week by Mrs. F. H. English, with Mrs. E. B. Hall and Mrs. Fred Schallock present at invited guests. Mrs. Bert E. Withrow won the bridge prize.

Mrs. Zumwalt will give the story of "Hansel and Gretel," the opera which has for years been given on Christmas at the Metropolitan opera house in New York.

At Tuesday night's meeting of Aloha Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, three candidates were initiated into the mysteries of feminine Masonry, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Worthy matron, Lynn Martin; worthy patron, E. R. Roames; associate matron, Jennie Hurn; secretary, Lillian Stitts; treasurer, Mrs. L. L. Truax; conductor, Carrie Foster; associate conductor, Jessal Momyer. These officers are to be installed December 22, together with the appointive officers. Following the session of the lodge, the members enjoyed a social hour and banquet.

How About the Kids?
Did you ever notice how quick the youngsters get tired of some kinds of Christmas gifts? In a week some gifts are forgotten, but there is one gift that Santa Claus could bring that won't be put away and forgotten, just one.

If you are going to be Santa Claus put on your old gray bonnet and come down to "The Home of Sensible Christmas Gifts" and have them set aside one of those child's rockers that not only touch baby's heart, but will teach them to be careful of your rockers and other furniture.

Forty miles from a railroad in South Dakota, there gathered a few months ago some of the most famous scouts and generals known to Western history. A little border hotel formed their domicile. There were inconveniences. Hour after hour during the daylight hours they were in the saddle, while following their commands there came the sound of cavalry, there showed the waving forms of hundreds of Indians. For those men of fame were there for a purpose—that of reproducing history.

And history was reproduced, re-produced upon the actual spots where it happened, with many of the persons present who were the original makers of it, reproduced to the clicking of motion picture cameras, that it might be preserved forever. It was reproduced, then taken before the representatives of the United States Government. There came the verdict: "Historically correct!"

And that is why, bearing with it the stamp of approval of the United States, Buffalo Bill's Historical Film Company will produce history re-enacted by the makers, The Indian Wars of the West Visualized, at the Orpheus theatre, next Thursday. Buffalo Bill and General Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A., as well as many more of the army officers and scouts are seen in their original roles.

Owing to the great demand for this picture the local playhouse was unable to secure it for more than one night. A matinee will be given Thursday afternoon.

In "Caprice," which comes to the Star theater today, we see Mary Pickford in one of the greatest roles that this popular little lady has ever attempted.

Mrs. Pickford, who plays the part of "Mercy" is assisted by Owen Moore who has the role of "Jack Darnton."

Wary of the artificiality of social life, Jack Darnton goes into the Southern mountains for a hunting trip. He accidentally wounds Mercy, a mountain maid. There is something so charming about her stoic courage that Jack's heart goes out to her, and never quite returns. In spite of her protestations that she isn't "ezzakly his kin," he marries her and brings her back to his velvet and gilt, where her backwoods manners and dress make her scorned and decided. The laughter she provokes descends upon Jack, and with a broken heart she divines that he regrets his act.

Quietly she leaves the world of sham and goes to a school to educate herself up to his plane. She is invited to a schoolmate's home for Christmas, when she meets her chum's brother—and recognizes Jack, she confides her whole surprising truth to her new-found sister-in-law, (who had been attending school under an assumed name), and the two plan for Mercy to wear the simple gingham gown wherein she had first made her ludicrous entrance into Jack's society world. Then it is that Jack recognizes his transformed wife, then and there Jack falls in love with his wife. "Caprice" will be presented at the Star Saturday and Sunday.

"The Soldiers of Fortune," Richard Harding Davis' famous work, comes to the Orpheus Sunday and Monday, and is, without doubt, one of the best movies ever exhibited in this city. Justin Farnum, America's foremost actor, is featured in this production, and as Robert Clay, the young American mining engineer, is seen at his best. This offering is replete throughout its six reels with exciting situations. A matinee will be given Sunday afternoon at 2:30.

That greatest of all serials, "The Trey o' Hearts," now being shown at the Orpheus, continues to draw capacity business, and its followers are weekly increasing. The fifth episode, to be shown for the last time tonight, contains several thrills, among which is the escape of Allen Law from the smuggler's island.

It is costing France more than $5,000,000 a day to pay her war expenses.
