Help These People Left Destitute by the War

This photograph is proof that the German army did attempt to make up for the suffering caused along the line of battle in Belgium and France. The photograph shows the relief corps of the army sent out after the fighting to hunt for hungry children and the distribution of bread among them. In many towns occupied by the Germans crowds of hungry children almost mobbed the relief corps to get loaves of bread. Oregon and Washington people are preparing a shipment of provisions to be distributed among the starving people of the little war-wrecked kingdom, Belgium. Non-perishable foods of all kinds will be sent. Klamath Falls people are endeavoring to send a cartload of flour to the stricken Belgians. Will you help?

Theaters Are Latest to Cry, "No Business"

United Press Service
NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Why do plays fail? The question is pertinent in view of the present disastrous season. Many answers have been given. The war is being blamed, that cause usually being bracketed with the so-called economic crisis in this country today. "The people do not have the money to spend," is the commonest wall on Broadway. Yet the boxoffice men are just as haughty to their prospective customers as they have been in the most prosperous seasons. The prices are at top-notch and a manager will paper his house and continue a long "dead-head" list at the same time that he charges $2 for an obscure balcony seat. One manager, whose grey matter has always been rated as being smaller than a canary bird's gave vent to a long, profound interview in which he declared his solemn conviction that prices should be increased to $3 for an orchestra seat. The moving picture houses come next in the list of causes for the theatrical lean war. That there is much truth in that statement none can deny, but it must not be forgotten that most of the picture fans are recruited from the ranks of those who would otherwise not go inside a theater. Many of the managers have quit and their houses are dark or given up to the half-darkness of moving pictures. They were the managers who, instead of producing the plays which they thought worth while (giving them credit for knowing a real play when it is offered by the playwright), went ahead and showed plays with only a temporary appeal. The one fact remains; that if the managers ever hope to see a return to the prosperous conditions of a few years ago, they will have to change their estimate of public intelligence. The public does not today believe press-agent yarns nor advertising with the gullibility of yore. With the endless making of books in describing the stage and dramatic conditions, the theater-goer very often has a better idea of the value of a play than the manager has—and it is the theater-goer who buys the tickets. So that loud and awful moaning along Broadway these nights is caused by the anguish suffering of a score of theatrical managers. They figured

PORK PRICE IS HIGHEST IN U.S.

PORTLAND LAST WEEK PAID MORE THAN THE EASTERN MARKETS—LIGHT OFFERINGS IN ALL LINES OF STOCK
(Herald Special Service)
PORTLAND, Dec. 21.—The quality of cattle offerings has been good during the week. The quantity, however, has not come forward. Steers sold at $7.50, cows at $6.25 and heifers at $6.50. The demand is good and trading keen. Hog receipts this week have been lighter than usual. This, with a good demand, brought the price up to $7.50 for tops, the highest price in the United States at the present time. Eastern markets in some cases ruling 40c to 45c under Portland market. Sheep prices were fully as strong this week as other lines of livestock. Good grain fed lambs would no doubt bring considerable more than the present top of $7.35. Ewes and wethers went at strong prices.

If it's worth having, it's worth insuring. See Chilcote.
