KLAMATH FALLS, OREGON FRIDAY, JANUARY 1, 1915

AND STOP AT KLAMATH FALLS

NOW the New Year reviving old desires, The thoughtful soul to solitude retires, Where the White Hand of Moses on the bough Pits out, and Jesus from the ground suppires.

Come, fill the cup, and in the fire of Spring Your Winter garment of Repentance fling; The Bird of Time has but a little way To flutter—and the Bird is on the Wing. —Omar Khayyam.

Nineteen fourteen was one of the bloodiest chapters in the history of the world. All through its pages ran crimson stain, with wars, rebellions, intrigue. And with these came desolation and poverty, as once beautiful and fertile lands were torn, rent and devastated by wars, leaving widows, orphans, paupers and cripples in its wake.

With the seas filled with watchful vessels eager to seize any ship of commerce that could be taken on any pretext, and with the harbors and seas choked with mines that wrecked the vessels escaping the warships, commerce and export dropped to almost nothing. With the foreign markets closed, demand for raw material and manufactured articles ceased, causing plants to close and thousands to be idle.

But why should we look at the past? Isn't the future before us, yet to be wrestled with?

Today, with great splendor and pomp, the Panama-California exposition opened at San Diego, in the presence of thousands of people. A month from today, another great exposition will open at San Francisco. These will remain open nearly all year, showing the achievements of the peoples and the countries of the earth, the marvels of science and of industry, and they will draw to the Coast hundreds of thousands of visitors, who will take this occasion of looking over the West, either to see its scenic beauty, or with an eye to investment. Klamath county has attractions far above the ordinary for both of these classes of visitors, so instead of our looking back at mistakes and sorrows in the year ended, we need must make haste to prepare for the proper reception and entertainment of those who will soon knock at our gates.

There are resolutions that we could all make that would help us personally, but we can all resolve to get busy and boost Klamath harder than ever this year, in letters to friends, and even to our neighbors, for once we get really alive to the fact that the Klamath country is the best in the world, we will have no difficulty in making all visitors believe just the same thing.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

AS WE are entering on this new year, The Herald wishes a most happy and prosperous New Year to all of its family of readers. May Dame Fortune, not her daughter, Miss Fortune, attend you all of the year, and lead you all to greater and better things.

It has been the aim of The Herald ever since its establishment, to give to the people of Klamath county a real newspaper, with the news presented in a fair and impartial manner, just as it happens, and the day it happens, and to keep at heart and work always for the betterment of the county in any manner possible. It has at times been an uphill struggle, but the past few years has seen a great improvement.

Realizing that our efforts are also, ours family of readers has stead-

First Photograph of the Currency Reserve Board in Session; Personnel of the Board

This is the first photograph of the currency reform board in session and doing business. It is, perhaps, the most important body of the kind in the federal government, for it has control of all the national banks. The members shown here are as follows: William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury and ex-officio member of the board on the extreme left; the why we advise you to begin saving the currency and also ex-officio member; and around from left to right, Adolph C. Miller, Frederick C. Delano, Dr. H. Parker Willis (the secretary), W. P. G. Harding, Paul Warburg and Charles S. Hamlin, the governor of the board.

ily grown, and The Herald is read by all of the family. Realizing that such a newspaper will find a welcome in the best of homes, the business men have decided that it is an excellent advertising medium, and their patronage has been ever increasing.

From time to time in the past, we have added various features for the benefit of our readers. This work, we hope to continue on a larger scale during the year just beginning, until the day will come when The Herald will be such a splendid publication that no home can afford to be without it.

The paper that prints the news is the paper the people want. The Herald's record in this respect is most favorable. But with this, we do not wish to stop. We want to be able to print everything of interest to Klamath county people, or to any section of the county, the day it happens. This cannot be accomplished without the co-operation of our friends. Call us up, therefore, when you have an item of interest, for if it is interesting to you and your friends, it will interest others, and through your co-operation, we will get much nearer the goal we strive for.

Scattered Shots

TWO FELLOWS today announced that they had signed up hard and fast to ride only the good ship Aqua—but they say the same thing every time they go out.

"NOW THAT I've sworn off, what will I do with all of the money I save?" is one query we hear.

DO SOME REAL boosting by dropping some of it in the Klamath county fund for participation at the exposition, we answer.

DON'T LET IT HAPPEN—One fellow last year was told that if he quit smoking cigarettes he would own a row of brick buildings. He did, and got the buildings, but trying to collect the rent drove him to drink.

THE KIDS aren't so gol darned happy—for school starts Monday.

Klamath's Growth Good Year Just Ended Saw Permanence in Development

one variety best adapted to their lands, instead of raising several varieties of potatoes, etc, not enough of any one kind to warrant the best prices.

It has been but a few years since the cowboy and the range steer reigned supreme here, and the farmer, fencing the range, was looked upon as an intruder. The most of the farmers of that day, able to secure bountiful harvests of alfalfa, turned all his energy to the raising of this hay crop, getting good returns out of winter feeding to his beef cattle.

But with the disappearance of the range, also came the disappearance of the range cattle. Before the farmers were aware of it, the alfalfa had become a burden on their hands, with no range stock here to eat their surplus, and no way to ship it to other localities at any profit. So it was that methods for consumption of the hay on the farm began to be sought.

Dairying of course was the logical conclusion, and the past two years have seen wonderful strides in the development of this industry. Blooded dairy herds were imported from Middle Western and California points, careful records have been kept and the poor producers have been weeded out, with the result that the alfalfa, which was formerly brought $6, $10 and $12 per ton is now returning closer to $30 per ton in butter fat; milk for pork raising and fertilizer returned to the land producing the alfalfa.

To care for this production, three creameries and two cheese factories are in operation in the county, with a prospect of more in the future. All are finding a ready market here and elsewhere for their output, and all are making a monthly instead of an annual financial return to the farmer.

Fifteen carloads of cattle, hogs and horses are going out of Klamath county every week to Portland and San Francisco markets. At the present prices, this means good returns for the stockmen.

The development of the dairying industry is responsible for the hog shipments from here for before dairying was extensively carried on, and porkers raised as a by-product, Klamath county, far from exporting, imported practically all of its bacon, hams, etc. The day is coming when a pork packing plant will be located here.

Despite the poor lumber prices maintaining in other localities, there was little idleness here as a result of lack of demand, for the sawmills and box factories were kept busy filling orders from California and Middle West buyers.

bering industry was the burning of the Pelican Bay Lumber Co's sawmill, thus shutting off a $27,000 monthly payroll. The mill is now in process of reconstruction, so there is now employment in building for much of the old crew, with a busy year's work ahead when the mill is completed. The new plant will cost 150,000 feet in ten hours.

It has been a few years since Klamath Falls was known all over the United States as the greatest "boom" town of the decade. The coming of the railroad caused property prices to go soaring, and each transfer made was at a much advanced figure. Every other man in the city was a real estate dealer, practically every line of business was overdone, and in a short time, Klamath Falls, with its transients, speculators, adventurers, etc, had more population than rest of the county.

The "breaking" of a boom usually spells eternal decline and ultimate extinction for a boom town. This was not the case with Klamath Falls. The breaking of the boom has proved to be of the utmost benefit to this city.

In fact, it can be said that since

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teaspoon full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus driving a cold from the system.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

RUB BACKACHE AND LUMBAGO RIGHT OUT

Rub Pain and Stiffness away with a small bottle of old honest St. Jacobs Oil

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a 25 cent bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right into the pain or ache, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone. Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the ache and pain right out of your back and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin. Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica and lame back misery so promptly!

the Klamath craze was at its most hysterical stage, Klamath Falls has passed through a purification process, and emerges Phoenix-like, ready to achieve greater and steadier things.

The men who were left holding the "sack" on the most advanced prices improved their property by the erection of buildings if they were of the substantial type of men. Those who had purchased by making a payment in hopes of an opportunity to sell at an advance were compelled to drop their holdings.

The army of speculators and curbstonebrokers disappeared as did the proverbial Arab. The business houses that were staple continued their business undisturbed and those of the wild cat order were soon sold, closed by the creditors.

All of the mushroom growth was eliminated, with the result that Klamath Falls has during the past year enjoyed a steady business prosperity, and during these days when "hard times" is the cry heard every place, Klamath Falls is rated as the "best" town between Portland and San Francisco, by the travelling salesmen, for the volume of mercantile business transacted.

Building of residences has been carried on extensively this year, and there has also been considerable public construction. The Klamath county courthouse is now under roof, and when completed will represent an outlay of $165,000 and in the same block, there has just been completed a Carnegie Library. The structure cost $24,000 and will soon be open to serve the people of the entire county. At a cost of about $45,000, the city has erected a brick and artificial stone city hall, which is to be formally opened to municipal uses tomorrow.

Street improvement this year added several miles of paved surfacing, and plans are already being made for still further work of this character next year. In fact, the year just closed has been one of steady, but not sensational development for this city, with a most glowing prospect for the year to come.
