

What County Agent Is Doing in Klamath

The following is from the recent, seventh edition of the Pacific Home-land, by County Agricultural Glazier.

Extension field work was started in Klamath county in April of this year. During the first part of the season demonstration work was carried on in the Fort Klamath live-stock and dairy district with alfalfa and timothy. This land is too wet for alfalfa. Such a fine showing was made that the past fall a large number of farmers went together and purchased large quantities of alfalfa seed from the Willamette valley for next year's sowing.

Other demonstration and experimental work was carried on in all parts of the county with all grains and forage crops, especially with dry-land alfalfa and field peas. Such good results were obtained in most every case that next season large areas will be put in with these different crops, especially alfalfa.

The past fall thirty farmers selected their next year's potato seed from the field at harvesting time. Some dry land was plowed in the fall as heretofore and about 800 acres of fall wheat was sown, the custom of the past being to plow the land and sow mainly in the spring.

In December the first issue of the Klamath County Farmer's Exchange was sent to the farmers. This publication is edited by myself and sent to the farmers the first of each month, its object being to place every farmer in the county who has something to sell in line with the persons who want to buy or exchange.

During February a short course for one week will be held at two points in Klamath county. Instruction in all phases of agriculture will be given by experts from the agricultural college.

A contest on growing grain and potatoes has been arranged for the school children of the county. The contest will begin next spring and prizes given winners by the Klamath County Water Users Association. These prizes will be calves, colts, hogs, etc., which will stimulate interest in agriculture among the boys and girls of school age.

During the few months that the extension work has been in progress in this county a few things have been accomplished and in the future we will be in a position to do a great deal more. The farmers here are wide awake and anxious to adopt practical up-to-date methods.

Stars Who Left the Quakers, Breaking Up Great Baseball Club

This collection of baseball stars is composed of the men who have left, or about to leave, the Philadelphia National League Club, and shows how a great organization may be smashed. While the Quakers were not champions in their league, they were contenders, and they made other clubs hustle.

But when the Federals began their raids last year they took Knabe, the second baseman, and Doolan, the short stop, to the Baltimore club of that league; Seaton, the pitcher, went to the Brooklyn club, and now Doolin, the fiery red-headed catcher and former manager, is to go to some other National League club, if the price for him is obtained. Magee, long a star outfielder in the National League, has already been traded to Boston, which won the championship last year. Lobert is now sought by Manager McGraw, of the New York Giants. It is predicted by baseball men familiar with the situation, that whatever becomes of Doolin and Lobert, they will not play with Philadelphia the coming season.

Unless the unexpected happens the new recruits of the Quakers will be broken into big league work this year will not make up for the loss of the veterans, and few fans think the club will be a pennant contender for several seasons.

A LITTLE SPORTING GOSSIP

By Hal Sheridan

United Press Service
NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Freddie Welch, Joe Shugrue and Charlie White will have to mangle in twenty round bouts to a decision before the real king of the bunch can be picked. At least that is the consensus of opinion here, following the Shugrue-Welch and Shugrue-White bouts.

The Jersey City boxer and the champion are scheduled to meet again in a ten-round no-decision affair here. It probably will be a corking bout—as their first meeting was—but there isn't one chance in a hundred of a change in the lightweight championship. Shugrue would have to knock Welch out and that, judging by his past performances, is a remote possibility.

In twenty rounds a decisive victor could be picked. It is doubtful if Welch could successfully defend his title against either Shugrue or White.

over the Marathon route. Welsh has said several times that he is perfectly willing to meet either of the two in a bout to a decision. But he has been content to stay around New York where only ten round no-decision affairs are permitted, and where he is in little danger of losing his title.

A majority of boxing critics here pick White to beat both Welsh and Shugrue in twenty round bouts. The Chicago boy possesses something that neither Welsh nor Shugrue has exhibited here—a punch. The Champion and Jersey City boy have displayed great skill as boxers, but neither demonstrated that he had a wallop that would put a man away.

White landed a snappy left on Shugrue at times in their last meeting in New York that jarred the Jersey boy badly. Had he not played a waiting game, White it was considered, might have scored a knockout over Shugrue.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old, famous Sage Tea recipe are sold annually, says a well known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggly and thin, have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful—all dandruff goes, scalp itching and falling hair stops.
