WHY BUY AT HOME?

THE DELAWARE county boosters of Muncie, Ind., offered a prize of $10 for the best statement of reasons for patronizing home merchants. The prize was won by Warren Jackson, merchant of Muncie, with the following:

Because you get what you want and what you pay for from a man who is reliable—whom you know—and whose purse is always open for public betterment. This benefits you and your family. It pays to support a business that helps the town that supports you.

Buy at home where good merchandise at low prices is sold. It costs far more to see goods, no better, in other cities—and at home there is no freight—no drayage—no breakage. Home money circulates at home and you get your share. Spend your money at home—it pays.

SPEAKING of "webfoot Oregon" and "Sunny Cal," we might mention while it has been as warm and sunny as spring here today, the people of Southern California are today enduring tidal waves and some floods.

ACID IN STOMACH SOURS THE FOOD

SAYS EXCESS OF HYDROCHLORIC ACID IS CAUSE OF INDIGESTION

A well known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion is nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we crumple sour food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast while it is effervescing, and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

Taft Is Strongly Opposed to Administration Shipping Bill

FORMER PRESIDENT SAYS SUCH A PROCEDURE WILL DISCOURAGE PRIVATE CAPITAL FROM WORKING ANY INVESTMENTS IN MARINE ACTIVITIES, AND HE GOES ON RECORD AS UNALTERABLY "FERNINIST" IT

United Press Staff Correspondent
(Copyrighted 1915, by the United Press Association.)

Determined opposition to the administration shipping bill now pending in the senate, was voiced here by former President Taft. In an interview with the United Press he commended the filibuster against the bill led by Senator Burton, of Ohio.

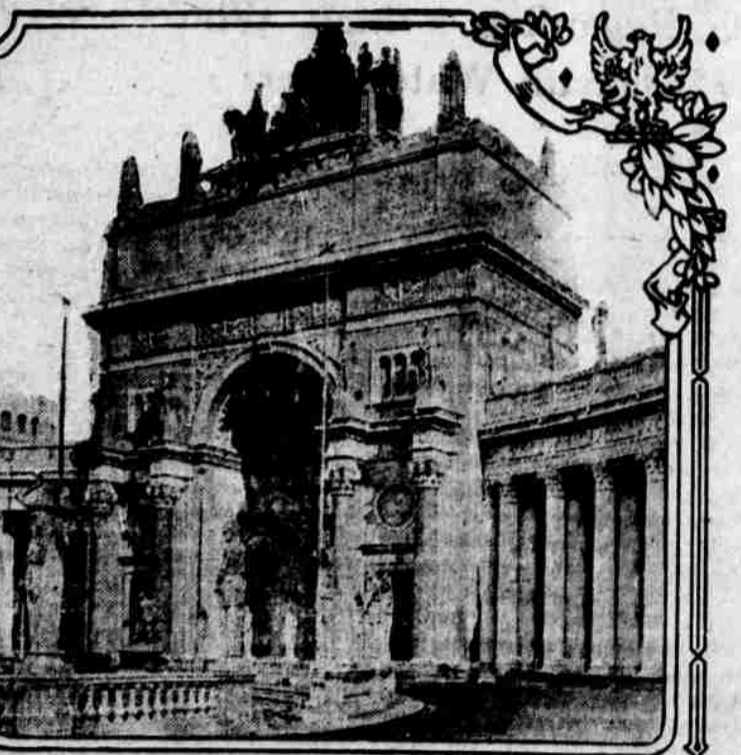

"I am positively opposed to the shipping bill," he said. "Do I think it will pass? That seems to depend on the success of the filibuster." Mr. Taft passed through New York from New Haven on the way to the University of Virginia, where he will deliver a lecture. He was intensely interested in the measure. "American capital certainly would not be invested in a business which comes into competition with the government," he said. "That is exactly the situation presented in the shipping bill. I am vigorously opposed to government ownership in any form. We have had some experience with that type of government ownership in the Panama Railroad and the Panama Steamship line, although they were of different character. My views in this matter coincide with those of Senator Root, of New York."

"I do not know how long the republican filibuster in the senate can prevent passage of the bill, but Senator Burton has had considerable experience as a filibuster. It also depends on the extra session question. I think everyone wants to avoid a session after March 4, which would be held solely for the purpose of passing appropriation measures, scheduled to pass during the short session but which might be blocked by the filibuster. "I can see no good in the shipping measure. My opposition to it is unalterable." He refused to be drawn into a discussion of the political situation, however, and declined to comment on the Jackson day speech, delivered by President Wilson in Indianapolis. The shipping bill was the only public measure he would discuss for publication.

VERMONT TO BE WITHOUT A SUPREME COURT MONDAY

United Press Service
MONTPELIER, Jan. 30.—Five justices appointed by Governor Fletcher in the last hours of his administration, were to be ousted from office this afternoon as a result of action by the legislature which passed a bill vacating the supreme bench on January 31. It was contended that the justices' terms expired October 31, as Governor Fletcher, his political enemies said, could not make permanent appointments to continue after the convening of the new legislature.

OUR WEEKLY SERMON

"Tribulation, Patience and Experience"
By E. C. RICHARDS, Pastor Grace Methodist Episcopal Church

Tribulation worketh patience; and patience experience and experience hope.—Rom. 5, 3-4.

Tribulation

In every human life there are two quantities which never can rule together. Always one is defeated and the other rules. Two men meet. They dispute; one loses his temper. The other holds his peace. The angry man goes away defeated. Two men meet business reverses. One is soured and discouraged. The other has hardily met his defeat until he has planned again for success. Sickness enters a home. It enters again and again. But a mother holds by almost superhuman power to the task and looks into a new world of sympathy. Another mother under like conditions, is defeated. Death enters. A loved one is stricken. Life is never the same again. One man loses interest in his work and drifts. Another takes up the next day the same task and, while he never forgets, the world witnesses a silent struggle and victory. We have it in our power to compel tribulation to produce.

Patience

Patience, begotten of tribulation, has wondrous powers. Some selves lose everything worth while. Pain rattles through with the chaff. The impatient man may pass through tribulations manifold, but they are not experiences with him. They are just tribulations. Tribulation looms high in his vision. Success is not seen. But let patience seize life and mould it as a gold beater beats out the gold into things of strength and beauty. Patience can take death itself and make life out of it. Patience has a microscope that sees hidden things. Patience has a telescope that sees far distant. Nothing is open to patience. It is possessed of the X-ray. Patience always carries a pocket electric light and never loses its way. Patience digs trenches, fortifies its position, and waits till the time to strike. Patience heals wounds. It seems to take in hand that which has brought it out, tribulation, and fashion that thing into blessing. Patience, blooming in sunlight and shadow, ripens into the fruitage of

Experience

Experience has learned the law of hope. It has learned that life is intended to succeed and that death is abhorrent. Experience knows that the day star always shines. Experience has learned the value of shock. It has learned the value of strain. It knows gold from dross. Hope was long ago laid in the human heart, but the larger hope that finally conquers is founded on experience gleaned from patience, begotten of tribulation. Strange, is it not? But we all know it to be so. Life has the power to take bitterness and make it sweet; to take weakness and make it strong; to take death and make it alive. Experience produces hope. Not the hope of childhood that has never been tested, but the hope of manhood that knows its ground. So, tribulation, patience, experience, hope, the ascending scale of life to triumph.

One of the prettiest of stage romances and one of the real big dramatic hits of the 1912 New York and Chicago season, "The Only Son," by Winchell Smith, the author of "Brewster's Millions," etc., is now a five-part motion picture drama and the original star of the piece, Thomas W. Ross, appears in the role he created.

"The Only Son" tells a story of a wayward youth whose sole purpose in life is to spend his father's money. He is looked upon by his friends as a worthless spendthrift, and the girl he loves will have naught to do with him. There comes a breach in the family, when the father suspects the mother, and the son Tom sides with the mother, goes West with her, becomes a successful manufacturer and after many struggles reconciles father and mother, wins the girl he loves and all ends happily. For the taking of "The Only Son" in motion pictures, the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play company has engaged two entire trains on the Southern Pacific railroad. One of the trains drawn by an obsolete engine, composed of three day coaches and a baggage car, is sent on a wild ride, down the mountain side, is derailed and falls many feet into an abyss. "The Only Son" will be presented at the Star Theater tonight and tomorrow.

Walking Champions to Compete

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—George Goulding, of Toronto, the 19,000-meter Olympic walking champion, will compete tonight with Eddie Hess, of the Mohawk A. C. and Dick Remer, of the Irish American A. C. in a handicap match at the Thirteenth Regiment Armory, in Brooklyn, to be staged by the Diocesan union.
