WHO REALLY GAINS?

THERE WILL undoubtedly be wailing and gnashing of teeth among some of the buying public if the trading stamp, the "mile-in-travel", the "thrift coupon" and similar trade premiums are legislated out of Oregon, but from the vast majority of the people—including the business men, there will be a sigh of relief. The majority of the merchants will state, upon inquiry, that they signed up to issue these so-called "trade-getters" simply for their own protection—for fear their competitor might do so. As a result, they are compelled to pay a tribute from three per cent upwards on every bit of merchandise they sell, this tribute going to corporations outside of the state who have no other interest in this section than as a field of profit for them.

This percentage paid the premium companies has to be met somehow by the merchant. How else than by an increase in price? In other words, the person purchasing for cash at a store not only spend the money for the article wanted, but also pays for the premiums they secure with their books, or the trips they might take on travel coupons.

The one big secret of mail order success is that the people who send to the mail order houses for any goods, pay in advance for these. A house doing a cash business is therefore able to purchase for cash, and in this way secure many advantages that are not open to the merchant who sells on time, and must wait for his customers to pay. Some contend that prices are no higher at stores that are issuing trading stamps, etc., but they do not take into consideration that all those persons who secure the advantage of these premiums either pay cash or in thirty days—which enables the merchant to make his margin of profit a little lower because of the quick realization of money in this way.

There has long been a feeling that the prices asked by Klamath Falls merchants are too high. For that reason many people have sent away cold cash to outside firms to purchase articles they could have purchased here—and then have thought nothing about asking the merchants here to carry them almost indefinitely for groceries, etc. These merchants have their bills to meet, their rent to pay and help to maintain, and on account of these long-time accounts, they are at times forced to ask a little higher price than otherwise.

If the same man who sends his money away will insure the local merchant that he will pay cash, there is no doubt but what the catalog price will be met, and the money kept at home. The people of Klamath Falls, in the last few months have learned that at stores where they trade for cash, or pay up their thirty-day accounts before the tenth of the month, they secure as much merchandise for their dollar as they did before, and in addition, some sort of premium.

It is the dollar on the spot or at the end of the month that does this, and if the trading stamp, et al, is legislated out of the state or discontinued, and the customers continue to pay as promptly, there is every reason to expect that there will come a material reduction in the price of merchandise—a reduction that will amount far more to the customer than the premiums issued, for, naturally on these, the premium companies make a good profit or they would not be in business.

From the Court of Palms One Enters the Palace of Education by This Portal, One of the Smaller Entrances

Nothing could better illustrate the magnificence with which all the detail work of the exposition architecture has been executed so well as this view of the rear entrance to the mighty palace of education at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco. In itself it is a portal fit for a palace. This palace is one of the main groups of eight exhibit palaces. Within this group, linking all the palaces into one grand whole, are five great courts, of which the court of palms is one. The others are the court of flowers, the court of abundance, the court of the four seasons and the court of the universe, which is the radiating center for the entire exposition. Sunken gardens, pools, fountains and sculpture by the world's masters are in these courts.

Blue Sky Law Repeal Proposed by a Measure

SALEM, Feb. 4.—Repeal of the "blue sky" law and a return to conditions as they were before the law was enacted by the 1913 legislature will be accomplished if S. B. 167, introduced by Senator Strayer, becomes a law.

Senator Strayer's bill provides that the secretary of state and the state treasurer shall have the same duties to perform in connection with corporation laws as they had before the blue sky law was passed. The blue sky law created a separate corporation department.

In his campaign for election Strayer made a fight on the blue sky law. The author of the law, Frank Mitchell, was Strayer's opponent. Strayer says the law has been a detriment to the mining industry, in which Baker county, which he represents, is greatly interested.

COMPETITION SAVES HIS LIFE

UNITED PRESS SERVICE
PASSAIC FALLS, N. J., Feb. 5.—Charles Steinheaver stood at the brink of the falls, melodramatically gesturing his intent to commit suicide. As his own song he sang "Die Wacht am Rhein."

Patrolman John Jorlet saw him, but could not urge the would-be-suicide to leave his perilous position. Jorlet scratched his head, and started a competitive concert. He sang "It's a Long Way to Tipperary." Steinheaver got mad, and came down to fight. He rests in jail, instead of the river.

OLD-TIME GOLD CURE DRINK HOT TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Tee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink teaspoon full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking up a cold.

RUB RHEUMATISM FROM STIFF, ACHING JOINTS

Rub Screens from joints and muscles with a small trial bottle of old St. Jacobs Oil
Stop "losing" Rheumatism. It's pain only; not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" right on the "tender spot," and by the time you say Jack Robinson—out comes the rheumatic pain. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless rheumatism cure which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops swelling, lameness, backache, neuralgia.
