SPAIN TO APPEAL TO POWERS OVER MEXICAN AFFAIR

United Press Service

MADRID, Feb. 12.—As a result of the expulsion of Spanish Ambassador Caro from Mexico by Carranza, Spain is contemplating making an appeal to the powers in order to obtain action and end at once the rule of anarchy which for four years has been a reign of terror in Mexico.

Officials openly admit that they are very much worried over the possible fate of the extensive Spanish colony residing in Mexico City, following the expulsion of the Spanish minister.

It is understood that strong representations on this subject are to be made to the United States in the hope that America will see fit to intervene in Mexico and safeguard the rights of the Spanish as well as other foreign residents.

The Spanish foreign secretary is today closeted with Joseph E. Willard, the American ambassador, and it is believed that this matter is being thoroughly discussed.

United Press Service

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—As a result of the expulsion of the Spanish ambassador from Mexico by Provisional President Carranza, serious and most perplexing difficulties have arisen, calling for careful and tactful diplomacy to prevent another outbreak of war.

A message was forwarded to Carranza today in which he was sharply informed that any further troubles of the same nature would cause him serious difficulties.

A copy of this note was given to Senor Don Juan Riano y Gapanos, the Spanish ambassador to the United States. He is said to have cabled it to the Spanish foreign office immediately.

KENO TRIP ENDS IN MUCH TROUBLE

BASKETBALL TEAMS ARE WALLOWED, ONE PLAYER FRACTURES NOSE, AND MOTORBOATS ARE BROKEN DOWN

Lee's defeat at Gettysburg, Napoleon's retreat from Moscow—with such tragedies can be classed an ill-starred invasion of Keno yesterday by a public school second basketball team, and a high school third team. Both teams were badly walloped by the Kenoiters, and Lawrence Molschenbacher broke his nose in the midst of the conflict.

This was not all, for the motorboats refused to work at the time for departure. D. C. Morris and high grammar kids reached Teeter's landing, and landing there, lit a fire and spent the night. Earl Chandler's high school boys' boat didn't leave Keno until 6 o'clock this morning, and the boys sat in a dance hall until then in order to keep warm.

CRAIG KENNEDY REACHES TOWN

ARTHUR B. REEVES' "SCIENTIFIC DETECTIVE" TO BE FEATURED IN HERALD AND AT THE STAR THEATER

Arthur B. Reeves, whose all-absorbing stories of Craig Kennedy, the "scientific detective," featured by the Cosmopolitan, Red Book and other national journals, today begins a splendid serial "The Exploits of Elaine" in the Herald. The installments will appear Mondays and Saturdays, and Monday night, the "Exploits" will be shown in fascinating motion pictures at the Star theater.

Reeves makes use of none of the old time gumshoe themes. His stories are all based upon ultra-modern plots, and the stories are all instructive as well as interesting by reason of the exposition of a number of inventions and scientific facts that to the laymen are mostly enshrouded in mystery. Kennedy tells the "why" and "how," and his story will no doubt be eagerly followed in words and pictures.

SCANDINAVIANS' PROTESTS BACK UP U. S. STAND

United Press Service

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—It is learned by the state department officials that Sweden and Denmark have also sent protests to Germany against the latest imperial decree, which extends the limits of the war zone in such a manner as to seriously interfere with the commercial marine activities of the Scandinavian countries.

The Scandinavian notes are said to be less vigorous in language than the American protest, but are said to stand behind the principles expressed in the latter.

It is understood that Holland and Italy will soon send in protests.

United Press Service

BERLIN, Feb. 12.—The text of the protest of the United States against the war zone order has been in the hands of the government since early yesterday. As yet, no statement regarding it has been published, as the text is still withheld from the newspapers.

It is believed that the government plans to permit the publication of a summary in a short time.

A few of the government officials, who are acquainted with the text of the protest declare that they do not believe that the terms of the epistle are "warranted by circumstances."

It is generally declared that inasmuch as England is trying to starve out Germany, any act of retaliation is justified.

The recent assurance given the neutral nations that Germany will protect neutral shipping to the utmost of her power, it is held, is sufficient answer to the demands expressed in the note.
