

"Danced with the girl in a Gingham frock—
The prettiest girl in the room!"

A Pretty Girl in A Pretty Frock

Is a combination that proves irresistible to everybody, and the feminine heart that cannot find satisfaction in the splendid line of Red Seal, Fine Zephyr and French Gingham we have now on our shelves has something on her mind that a pretty spring dress cannot overcome.

It is useless to try to describe them, for the range is too great.

To go with them is a line of Spring Coatings that are calculated to please the most fastidious dresser; and in this line, too, is a large assortment from which to make your choice.

Woolen Dress Goods is another line of which we are proud, and which we are sure will please Klamath county's dressy ladies. The range in price is almost as great as the variety.

German Civil Governor of Antwerp Dressed in His Mediaeval Costume

This is F. Strand, the new civil governor of Antwerp, put in charge of the Belgium city by the German authorities. His costume makes him look as if he had stepped from the middle ages into modern life. The gorgeous collar, the cloak or coat and the hat have been worn during various stages of history back to the time of Shakespeare. But Governor Strand is said to be an able executive, and it will be his effort to bring chaos out of the ruin and wreck in one of the chief cities of the conquered nation.

PICTURES

A big treat is in store for patrons of the Star theater, Saturday and Sunday.

"The Spitfire," which was to have been presented on these nights has been lost. In an effort to please the management as well as the patrons, the film company is sending two big Famous Players' features for Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Carlotta Nilsson, one of America's most beautiful and accomplished actresses, will be featured in C. M. S. McClellan's famous play, "Leah Kleschna." This is a masterful story of a woman burglar.

The added feature to be presented is the Famous Players' production, "The Sign of the Cross," featuring William Farnum, recently seen here to such good advantage in "The Spoilers." "The Sign of the Cross" is one of those photodramas, which everyone should see. It will live long in your memory as one of the best picture plays you have reviewed.

"Leah Kleschna" and "The Sign of the Cross" are each in four parts. The entire program of eight reels will be shown for the first time on Saturday night. The prices will be 15 and 25 cents for the double bill.

A five reel program, featuring "Leah Kleschna" will be presented at Saturday's matinee. Usual prices. At the Sunday matinee the entire bill will be presented.

Too Much Tipperary for Tipperary Man

CHESUNCOOK, Me.—Michael P. Shea, who has been the yard boss at Camp 6, on the Great Northern lumbering operations, and is rated as one of the finest old-time lumbermen in the business, came out of the woods the other night and said he's all done for the winter, unless they want his at some other camp.

"There was too much Tipperary there for Mike," he told the storekeeper here. "I felt meself going—I'd been after mutherin' someone with a peavey had I hung on another day. I'm a Tipperary man, born in Castleconnel, furnist the dear old river Shannon, and proud, I am. An' I know just how far it is to Tipperary town from Limerick, or Waterford, or Dublin; or from Cork—an' it's not such a long way!

"It was a couple of thim college lads—for-r-r-resters they call thim—that started it all. They brought in the chune for the cook's talking machine last Sunday week, and wurra!—it spread wurser thin the small-pox. Divil a bit did I care for the grindin' out, 'Tis a Long, Long Way to Tipperary' 200 times, or 500 times, but ivery man in the crew of 75 min was whisin' and singin' it.

"Whin the cookee turned out at 4 o'clock in the mornin' he sang it half in Madawasha Frinch and the ither half harelipped. Thin there was grand chorus for breakfast. The teamsters sung it to the hor-r-ees in the hovel, the swampers scared the owls with it, the sled-tinders they had it, the byes that turned the grind-stones for to grind the axes, they made a chune of it, playing the hand organ.

"An' it was Tipperary, Tipperary, all day long and most all night long; Tipperary from the camp at the last choppin'. Mind ye, it's not a bad chune at that whin sung by a white man, but wurra! Whin thim Pockers, an' thim Russians, an' thim Finns, an' thim mongrels from the divil knows where, took it up and choked and strangled the chune about me home country, thin me Tipperary blood began to boll.

"One square-head used to get up on a stump an' croak like a raven—'She bane one long way Tipperary, mos' far off Bangor, bimeby I go—' just like that. 'Tis little I'd left of him if me Tipperary timper had ever got loose!

"I could stand so much Tipperary no longer, and just as I left, a crazy Canuck was commencin' to rasp it on a squaky fiddle. It was me that says to meself, says I 'It's a long way to 'Suncook, but I'm on me way.' I'll go somewhere where it's nothin' they know about such a chune—but the divil knows where."—American Lumberman.

Yreka, Calif., says: "Time after time I have had lumbago and backache so badly that I could scarcely do anything. I used many remedies, but none seemed to do me any good. Before I had finished one box of Doan's Kidney Pills, the backache and other troubles had left."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Lovelace had. Foster-Milburn Co., props., Buffalo, N. Y.
