REDDING, March 11.—Mrs. C. O. McKnight, who resides near Bellavista, gave birth to four children last night. They were all born between 9:05 and 11:15.

All of the children are normally developed. The first born weighed 3 1/2 pounds, and the last 1 3/4 pounds. Mrs. McKnight is 40 years of age, and weighs 105 pounds. She is the mother of nine other children, all of whom are living.

The mother is doing splendidly after giving birth to quadruplets.

At noon today, all four of the little ones were sleeping peacefully after slight nourishment.

The attending physician believes the four will all live.

To aid in this, an especially improvised incubator was sent out from Redding in an automobile today.

Young Congressman Fights Sen. Penrose

This is Representative Arthur R. Rupley of Pennsylvania, who has begun a fight against Senator Penrose on the ground that his re-election to the senate was obtained corruptly. Mr. Rupley is himself a member of congress from Pennsylvania. He charged, in an argument before the senate committee which handled the case of Penrose, that the liquor interests combined in behalf of Penrose "for the purpose of buying votes through paid agents." He charged also that big employers of labor coerced their men to vote for Penrose in the primary. Mr. Rupley was elected as a radical republican and a progressive in 1912, but he was defeated for re-election in 1914.

Lillian Cook, Brooklyn Girl Who Disappeared, Found Dead at New Haven; Former Employer's Home

The body of Lillian Cook, the 18-year-old stenographer, who had been missing since February 25th last, was found on the top of a hill called West Rock in Westville, a suburb of New Haven. It has not been ascertained in what manner she met her death, but suicide is the general belief.

Previous to her disappearance Miss Cook had been stenographer for Virgilus Mayo, a wealthy manufacturer of New Haven, and had lived alone in the Y. W. C. A. of New Haven.

Mayo has now admitted that while he lived with his wife in New Haven he owned the house at 548 Fourth street, a fine residential part of Brooklyn, where Miss Waterbury, once his stenographer in his New Haven factory, now lives as Mrs. J. Eudley. In that house and neighborhood Mayo himself was known as J. Dudley. There are also in the house three children, two of whom, Mayo says, belong to him and Miss Waterbury. Another woman is the mother of the third.

Mayo's confession brings him out as a striking figure in the mystery, although at the time of Miss Cook's disappearance he was on a trip to Philadelphia and Washington. He claims that Miss Cook had no knowledge of his dual life, and is perfectly innocent of anything that may be said of her.

The simple chronology of events in the related lives of Mrs. Dudley and Lillian Cook are these: It was four years ago that Miss Waters or Waterbury, Mayo's stenographer, went to live in the Brooklyn house as Mrs. Dudley. Three years ago Lillian Cook was employed as a nurse girl for Mrs. Dudley. It was a year ago that Lillian went to work as a stenographer in the New Haven factory, going to live at the Y. W. C. A. and paying $4.50 a week for room and board. Lillian disappeared on Thursday, February 25th, and it was not until Tuesday, March 2d, that her father reported her disappearance.

Eitel Freiderich Is Causing Troubles for U. S. Officials

United Press Service
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 11.—As a result of the complications over the arrival of the German cruiser Eitel Freiderich in an American harbor and the sinking of the American sailor, Frye, besides the other entanglements, President Wilson has cancelled all of his engagements for the next three weeks.

He will personally assume charge of the international situation, and will see only officials in touch with the various problems.

Wilson has ordered a searching inquiry into all the facts in connection with the sinking of the sailing ship Frye in the South Atlantic. Bryan is co-operating in the investigation.

"A most searching inquiry is being made," said Wilson. "Whatever action is taken will be based upon the results of the inquiry."

It is expected that the Eitel Freiderich will intern at Norfolk.

The German fighter is in bad shape, and it is also reported that three British warships are waiting off the cape to destroy her.

United Press Service
NORFOLK, March 11.—It is unofficially reported that England has protested against the release of the Eitel Freiderich.

The protest, it is understood, represents it to be an unfriendly act on the part of the United States to permit a vessel mechanically exhausted to repair and return to sea to resume destruction of commerce.

BERLIN, March 11.—It is officially announced that Russian attempts to break through the battle line south of Augustov were abandoned. The numerical losses were not given.

It is claimed that British aviators dropped three bombs on Munich, north of Lille, killing seven and wounding ten Belgian civilians.

DOG LICENSE IS BEING COLLECTED

COUNCIL ORDERS POUNDMASTER TO MAKE A THOROUGH ROUND-UP, AND HE HAS STARTED TO DO THIS

If you wish to keep Fido, Rover, or Sport, part with $1.50 for a 1915 model dog license. If you wish to keep Queen, Trixie or Lady—dogs of the female persuasion—you will be taxed $3.

The city council has wisely decided that there are too many dogs in Klamath Falls. Therefore, Poundmaster Ed Owens was notified to round up all dogs that are not wearing licenses. Owens says he will carry this out to the letter, and already quite a few dogs have disappeared.

EXTRA BRIDGE NEAR BONANZA IS TO BE USED SOON TO SPAN LOST RIVER AT WILSON BRIDGE SITE

A steel bridge, supported on concrete piers, will span Lost River near the reclamation service diversion dam in place of the Wilson bridge there, which has been declared unsafe for traffic. This morning the members of the county court went to the bridge site and looked it over.

Judge Hanks and Commissioners Hagelstein and McCornack were accompanied to Lost River today by Project Manager J. G. Camp of the reclamation service. After some conference there, it was agreed that the reclamation service, which has twenty-five teams at work near the bridge, anticipating the enlargement of the Griffith lateral, will place the surplus dirt on both sides of Lost River at the site for the new bridge.

This filling will reduce the span necessary to bridge the stream. When the fill is made and sufficiently settled, the extra steel bridge, which is near Bonanza, will be moved to the site and erected on concrete piers. After this the Wilson bridge will be torn down.

The Wilson bridge is an old wooden structure, which, while not unsafe, is important in one of the county's most traveled routes. Moreover, it has now proved on the bridge, that it is unsafe, and that the reclamation service is now working on the bridge. The time for the construction of the new bridge is now at hand.

STATE FORESTRY PRODUCTS ARE TO BE STUDIED BY U. S. OFFICERS; PLAN WILL BE VERY BENEFICIAL

(Herald Special Service)
PORTLAND, March 11.—The district forester at Portland has just inaugurated an exhaustive study of the production and consumption of forest products in Oregon and Washington.

Specially prepared schedules are being mailed to all producers of and dealers in lumber, shingles, plies, poles, ties, pulp, fuel wood, boxes, baskets, trunks and other similar wooden products, with a view to determining the quantity and value of these products made and used annually in these two states.

The last similar survey of the wood using industries of this region was made five years ago. It is believed that since then, surprising changes have taken place in the various industries. Old plants have been enlarged, new plants have been built, and many entirely new industries have sprung up.

Because these facts have not been generally known, it has frequently happened that eastern products have been purchased or specified in contracts; whereas the purchaser could have obtained the product locally. The general assembling and publishing, by the government, of information along these lines tends to promote the use of home products. Furthermore, it is felt that those interested in developing the resources of the region will find the statistics resulting from this study of great value.

It is expected that the forest service will receive the co-operation and support of all firms called upon to furnish reports in connection with this study, for it is obvious that to be of the highest value the figures should be complete.

There are nearly 4,000 firms in Oregon and Washington utilizing forest products, directly or indirectly, in connection with their industries. Hence, there will be a large volume of correspondence to handle, and much work to be done in classifying and summarizing the individual schedules that will go to make up the completed report.

It is hoped that the results will be available for general use some time next fall.
