KLAMATH FALLS

"DO UNTO OTHERS."

THE GOLDEN RULE is a good rule, but we often twist its tail. It was laid down as a guiding star to the faltering and wayward footsteps of humanity. But there are many feet that neglect to tread the golden pathway.

It has been taught us at the mother's knee, preached to from the pulpit, fed to us in the schools, declaimed from the lecture platform, and advocated from a thousand other sources. But there are local ears that hear not and eyes that refuse to see.

Some people make their money in Klamath Falls, enjoy life in the community, educate their children at the expense of Klamath Falls, and then buy their goods from merchants who are not in or of Klamath Falls. It is some tug at the golden tail.

There are some people who want the earth for what they sell and then expect to receive some of their own purchases for less than cost. The Golden Rule is forgotten.

A few people make a practice of parading their own virtues and sneering at the frailties of their neighbors.

Some want to hog everything in sight, though the less fortunate experience the gnawing pangs of hunger.

Occasionally we see a sanctimonious countenance in church while the mind within is devising means of skinning others out of their hard earned dollars.

The poor, decrepit old Golden Rule is strangling three hundred and sixty five days in the year. Its coat of gold has turned to rust, and the once sparkling waters of its purity are stagnant from disuse.

Can you point to a soul in all this wide world who in all things does unto others as he would have them do unto him?

Possibly, we, too, are twisting the tail of the Golden Rule when we publish this article, for we are telling others of their faults when we have many of our own, which we too often forget. And yet we repeat, the Golden Rule is a good rule.

Now then, for all of us: We may not walk steadfastly in accordance with its teachings, but we may at least practice a portion of that which we preach. We may accord to others a slight degree of that which we demand for ourselves. We may even trail along in the shadow of the Golden Rule, though our steps be faltering and our limbs over weary.

For we are but human, and no human being of today is perfect.

The tail of the Golden Rule receives many twists, but it is the tail that never knows disappointment.

Real War Movies to Be Shown at the Orpheus

AN ACTUAL BATTLE SCENE

What war actually is will be shown machine guns drawn by dogs. Other scenes show ambulances, priests and nuns helping the wounded, soldiers digging trenches in the fields of boots; burning cities and the dead and dying. Probably the most dramatic picture is the explosion of shell tearing to pieces a house just back of the firing line near Termonde.

There are 4500 feet of film, divided into four reels, showing the battles of Alost, Lierre, Aerschoot, Malines and the fall of Antwerp. The Chicago Tribune was given the exclusive right by the Belgian government to take moving pictures in the Belgian war zone, half of the proceeds to be turned over to the Belgian government for Red Cross work, in accordance with a contract with the Belgian government.

Most of the weapons of warfare are shown. An armored motor is shown covering a Belgian retreat, as are

A LITTLE SPORTING GOSSIP

By Hal Sheridan

United Press Service

NEW YORK, April 23.—Bargain baseball prices are not beyond the realm of fan's hopes this season, according to well defined rumors floating around big league baseball quarters here. There has even been talk of a cut price war, if the Feds and O. B. don't make peace before the Fourth of July.

Even now all kinds of "contests" and schemes, some verging on the pale of the lottery law, are running in various cities to distribute baseball tickets and fill the grandstands and bleachers.

Except in the biggest league cities the half dollar rate is about the limit. Organized baseball has been steadily adopting a policy of gradually boosting prices, by extra fees for choice box and grandstand seats and cutting down size of the two-bit bleachers, in some cities. The Feds, on the other hand, have popularized fifty-cent ball.

The recent trend of late years toward higher admission prices now seem to have come to a dead halt—just in time to prevent an uproar all over the country from fans. In some of the bush leagues, 25 cents promises to be a prevailing rate, with even the 50 cent choice seats thrown into the two-bit class. Despite the magnates yells of higher expenses, fancy salaries, etc., the trend today seems to be toward a lower admission scale certainly no higher.
