

WE NEED A MAN AT EXPOSITION ALL THE TIME

SECRETARY FLEET BACK FROM SAN FRANCISCO

Management of Klamath Exhibit Makes It in Such a Place That It Attracts the Attention of Pretty Near Everybody—Owing to Lack of Literature, Etc., Representative Needed at Klamath Booth.

"Klamath county has no literature at the Panama-Pacific exposition, and the exhibit from here is not as extensive as the exhibits of most of the other Oregon counties. A good representative stationed at the Klamath county booth could do a great deal to make up for these shortcomings by telling people of this section, and answering inquiries from interested persons passing the booth."

This statement was made by Secretary Fred Fleet of Klamath Chamber of Commerce, who returned last night from the exposition. He was sent there to re-arrange the Klamath exhibit, and to bring back a report on the county's needs there.

Fleet has moved the exhibit to a place between the smoking room and reception room, and all entering these must pass the exhibit. It occupies a space thirty feet in length, and has been neatly arranged. Besides this, there are Klamath county scenes all over the Oregon building. These are the colored views, and all are occupying good wall space.

In the absence of a representative at the Klamath booth, Mr. Fleet had a number of placards printed, telling facts about Klamath county acreage, elevation, products, timbered area, irrigation works, opportunities, etc. These are answers to the questions most frequently asked.

GRABS CAPS FROM FIRE; BURNS FACE

GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEE HAS A NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH WHILE SEEKING TO PREVENT BIG EXPLOSION

Fred Switzer, an employe on the Griffith lateral enlargement work, received painful, but not serious injuries about the face today as the result of an effort to prevent the explosion of a box of dynamite. The accident occurred about noon, and the injured man was brought to town by Engineer Shadler for medical attention.

A box of dynamite being thawed out near a bonfire, caught fire. In the box were a number of caps, and to prevent an explosion of the dynamite, Switzer grabbed the caps out of the box. The caps or their wrappers evidently burned the man's fingers, as he dropped them. As they struck the ground they exploded, injuring Switzer's face with powder burns and bits of gravel and caps.

DEFENSE HITS A BUNCH OF LEGAL SETBACKS TODAY

JUDGE'S RULING HURTS ROOSEVELT

Much Argument by Opposing Attorneys Is Heard Today, in the Battle for Admission of Certain Evidence. Adjournment Taken Until Monday. Many Witnesses to Be Called for Corroborations.

United Press Service

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 30.—Colonel Roosevelt's defense in the $50,000 damage suit brought against him by William Barnes Jr. ran into a brick wall of legal obstacles today.

Rebuttal followed rebuttal for the defense in the rulings of Justice Andrews. These were regarding the admissibility of testimony offered for Roosevelt, and practically all excluded the testimony in controversy.

Three of these rulings by Andrews barring out evidence are regarded by court attaches and attorneys as serious reverses for the defense.

This afternoon court adjourned until Monday. There is a long procession of witnesses here, brought to corroborate the testimony of Roosevelt, and to substantiate the charges of political intrigue he has made against Barnes.

HEAVY FIRING ALONG BELGIAN COAST

By WM. G. SHEPHERD (Staff Correspondent United Press)

(Copyright 1915, by the United Press & Copyright in Great Britain) HEADQUARTERS BRITISH ARMY IN NORTHERN FRANCE, 10 p. m., April 29.—(Via London)—The great artillery battle, the most colossal engagement of the world's greatest war, abated today.

Only a few shells are now falling along the line of battle, when once again, Field Marshal Sir John French's British forces have held and thrown back the high tide of the determined offensive movement toward the sea carried on by a great German force.

The entire battle front is today comparatively quiet. This is considered an eloquent tribute to the valor of General French and his men, who still hold the gateway to Calais and the Straits.

During the terrific fighting, the city of Ypres suffered terrible damage, and there is hardly a building that is not at least partly destroyed from the flying shells.

United Press Service

PARIS, April 30.—The Germans, in their campaign in Flanders, have struck from the sea. Their warships, operating 300 miles from their base of supplies, have shelled the fortified city of Dunkirk. Nineteen shells are known to have fallen in the city. Twenty persons are reported killed and forty-five are wounded.

Whether the bombardment has been continued, or whether the hostile fleet has steamed south to shell Calais and other strategic points on the French coast has not been announced by the government.

It is the general supposition that the German warships have been sent south to co-operate with the German army in a new drive against the French coast. This would be a continuation, under a new task, of the drive just stopped by the allies after a week of hard fighting.

Most of the French warships are now engaged in the operations to force the passage of the Dardanelles. Therefore, it is believed that the British government will be asked to send ships to protect the French coast. This may result in the great struggle between the British and German navies being fought not far from the scene of the Titanic fight between the armies of the two nations.

United Press Service

BERLIN, April 30.—The official statement of the German war office tells of the shelling of Dunkirk and the British fortress of Harwich. Discussing the shelling of Dunkirk, the report says this was done by German artillery, not by warships, as the French declare.

The statement also says the British and French offensive in the north has been checked.

The repulse of the French attack north of Flirey, with 4,000 men and 48 officers lost by the French, is also claimed.

No mention is made of the report of the rumored German naval raid on the lower Belgian coast.

LONDON, April 30.—Advices from Felixtowe and other points over which a raiding Zeppelin passed last night show that the hostile aircraft inflicted but little damage.

Five houses at Ipswich were destroyed by fire from incendiary bombs and the St. Andrews Hotel and several other buildings at Bury St. Edmunds were burned.

The Lilydale was torpedoed off Tyne. The crew escaped without loss.

The Mobile was sunk off Lewis Island. The crew, after spending nine hours in an open boat, reached Carlway.

Much Work Ahead of Klamath Grand Jury

At Least Eight Cases Will Be Investigated Next Week

In preparation for the June term of the circuit court, the Klamath county grand jury will convene here Monday. They will delve into matters criminal, and will complete their deliberations in order to have the criminal docket in shape for trial before time for their dismissal by Judge Noland.

Members of the grand jury are A. W. Pell, E. H. C. Williams, Will Houston, R. C. Cowley, James L. Worley, Fred McKeandree and Frank R. Matt.

There are eight cases to receive the attention of the grand jury that have been referred to them by Justice of the Peace Cowen. These are as follows:

Cody Warner—Charged with setting fire to Peterstajep cafe. Out on bond.

J. Y. Johnson—Charged with assault with a dangerous weapon (a knife). Out on bond.

John Ward—Charged with furnishing liquor to a minor. Out on bond.

Louis Uhrine—Charged with failure to support his family. Out on recognizance.

Joe Reese—Charged with stealing a mackinaw from gun store.

planning liquor to a minor. Out on bond.

E. Doir—Charged with larceny by bailies, Sam Evans alleging he is wrongfully withholding Evans' clothing. Released upon own recognizance.

Ray Atherton—Charged with obtaining property under false pretenses. Released on own recognizance.

Besides these cases, there are other happenings in Klamath county that may be looked into by the grand jury.

There is much interest in the Warner affair. The chief witness in this action is leader Maustilshall, a youth who was also employed at the Peterstajep cafe, and whom, it was reported a short time ago, sought to leave the country, so as not to appear to testify.

Maustilshall did leave Klamath Falls because he could not obtain employment, but as soon as he secured a job at Lookout, Calif., 105 miles from here, he wrote Prosecuting Attorney Irwin of his whereabouts, and said he would return to testify whenever wanted. Maustilshall came in yesterday, and will remain until the grand jury has taken his testimony.
