The retention of Premier Salandra as a cabinet member resulted in wild cheering all night by 100,000 or more people. Neutralists insist that the retention of Salandra is not a sign of immediate war.

BERLIN, May 17.—Germany will draw a distinction between the Gulf-light and Lusitania incidents in replying to the American note. It is stated authoritatively that every reparation will be offered for the former incident.

An air of optimism is noted everywhere. No resentment was caused by the Wilson note.

It is hardly probable that Germany will abandon the submarine warfare. Instead, she will try to convince America that the German cause is right.

NEW YORK, May 17.—President Wilson, accompanied by Secretary of the Navy Daniels, his private secretary, Joseph Tumulty, and other Washington officials, left the president's yacht Mayflower at 8:30 this morning to review a land parade. The Mayflower arrived at New York yesterday. This is the first event in the big naval celebration scheduled for the next two days.

On the reviewing stand, before the Public Library on Fifth avenue, the president was met by Mayor Mitchell and other city officials. After reviewing the officers and jacksies of the Atlantic fleet, the presidential party returned to the Mayflower. At 3:30 this afternoon the Mayflower made a tour of the fleet at anchor in the Hudson River. Tonight at 7:30 the president will dine on board the battleship Wyoming, with Secretary Daniels and other cabinet members, Mr. Tumulty, Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, Admiral Fletcher, commanding the fleet, the commanders of the four divisions, seventeen captains of battleships, Rear Admiral Usher, commandant of the Brooklyn navy yard, and other naval officers.

At 8:20 the big water carnival in connection with the fleet festivities will be held in North River. The Mayflower is anchored at Seventy-second street, and the water carnival "fleet," made up of hundreds of floats and pleasure craft, will assemble at One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street and pass down the river beside the fleet until it reaches the Mayflower, where it will turn back up the river, passing again beside the battleships. The searchlight display during the carnival promises to be wonderful.

Tomorrow the president will review the entire fleet as it passes out to sea. Then the Mayflower will return to Washington.

OXFORD, England, April 28.—(By mail to New York)—Placid, historic Oxford, site of Oxford University, is today a scene of khaki.

Where once morning coats and top hats prevailed, along with flannels and smart dress, students of this historic institution of learning are clad in the olive of the military, and the town and college themselves are the scenes of martial surroundings.

Convalescent soldiers wounded at the front are quartered about the town and in the university buildings. Smooth lawns and grassy plots surrounding the ancient institution of learning are worn bare in spots from drilling feet. Class room dissertations on deep subjects of learning are few and far between, and the very atmosphere of Oxford reflects the present crisis. In many of the dormitories that in peace times housed the youth of British aristocracy, wounded men are today resting on cots surrounded by nurses and hospital equipment.

At a recent presentation of degrees the Oxford under-graduates wore the cap and gown over their khaki, and soon afterward hastened to the drill grounds, where they are preparing for the country's service if they are needed.

Preferential Favors Made in Oregon Goods

(Herald Special Service)
PORTLAND, May 17.—In an effort to stimulate the use of Oregon manufactured goods and Oregon labor, the Chamber of Commerce of Portland has commenced a campaign through its bureau of industries and manufactures to take advantage of the Bingham bill, which becomes effective as a law this month, and which was passed at the last legislative session.

The Bingham bill gives a preferential of 5 per cent in favor of goods manufactured in Oregon, or in favor of Oregon labor, in the consideration of competitive bidding before county courts, boards of county commissioners, school boards, city councils, or other public officers authorized to purchase supplies or contract for labor.

In plainer English, a purchasing officer is authorized to accept as the lowest bid for labor or supplies that is offered by representatives of Oregon products, if the bid of the latter is not more than 5 per cent higher than the lowest bidder from any other state," said George D. Lee, secretary of the bureau. "It is intended to counter-balance the difference in the cost of production as between local and foreign concerns. It somewhat adds to the handicap of the foreign manufacturer represented by freight rates, and it should prove an encouragement to the establishment of factories for the manufacture of those items needed in the building of roads and bridges and materials consumed by municipal purchase.

"Senator Bingham introduced the bill after consultation with representatives of the organizations which have been struggling to enlarge the market for those factories already here, and to pave the way for others yet to be secured.

"In the opinion of David M. Hume and other pioneer manufacturers, the Bingham measure will prove of great value."

Cholera, Typhus and Other Dread Diseases Sapping Serbia's Lifeblood

(The following story is the first "Eye Witness" description of conditions in fever-soaked Serbia. Henry Wood, United Press staff correspondent, was sent to Nish and other Serbian cities to give Americans an idea of how this least known of the allied nations has suffered through the world war.)

NISH, Serbia, April 20.—(By courier to Salonika and mail to New York, to avoid the English censor at Malta and the French censor at Marseilles)—For three months all Serbia has been one great charnel house of dead and dying.

Deaths to date have reached a grand total of 75,000. Although the epidemic of typhus is now declared to be under control, it is freely admitted that a grim harvest of 100,000 human beings will have been reaped before it can be entirely stamped out. This is the most optimistic view of the situation.

Escaping from the two Balkan wars with only slight epidemics of cholera, this heroic little state has been caught in her third war with an epidemic of typhus which has decimated the ranks of her population more than have the guns of the Germans and Austrians combined.

Of the 75,000 victims to date, 25,000 are among the Austrian prisoners of war. The epidemic was brought by them, Servians assert. It broke out early in January. High diplomatic and Red Cross officials say that at that time typhus was an epidemic in Austria.

Blame for keeping the rest of the world from knowing the terrible conditions that have existed in Serbia for three months rests with the French and English censorship, rather than with the Servians. France and England did not want Austria to know what straits their little ally had been reduced. The first real story of the
