

OVER A HUNDRED MILES OF ROADS REPAIRED IN DAY

"All roads leading to Klamath are first class."

The greatest and most successful cooperative civic movement in the history of Klamath Falls was held yesterday, when more than 150 Klamath Falls business and professional men donned old clothes, armed themselves with shovels, picks and other tools, and were taken to different parts of the county, where they cleared, leveled and otherwise improved 105 miles of highway.

This was in accordance with a proclamation issued by Governor Withycombe. Nowhere in the state could the proclamation have been obeyed better than it was here, for practically every business house in the town was closed, cards in the windows announcing that they were shut for all day, while the force was out improving Klamath county roads. And they were all out, too.

Many loaded fishing tackle in their machines, intending to try their luck in the streams after a short bit of working. But the tackle in nearly every case was untouched, for once out on the road, everybody became imbued with the spirit of industry, and the result was several hours of good hard, public-spirited effort, given free of cost, which accomplished more good than could have been obtained by the expenditure of hundreds of dollars for road crews. These men worked for the betterment of roads, not for a daily wage, and they gave their best efforts.

True, all of the volunteer workers received "road warrants," but these will never be protested, and they will always carry face value, and then some. These warrants given by the workers by their supervisors direct "The Bank of Good Deeds, Everywhere, Klamath County," to "pay to the bearer the gratitude of Klamath county for one day's labor on the roads."

The men returned tired, but happy. And some have expressed the wish that a day be observed in the same manner twice a year. Forty men under the supervision of Judge Baldwin did excellent work on the road from Keno to the state line. Rocks and boulders along Topsy Grade were cleared out of the road, and all of the rough spots and chuck holes along that piece of construction were filled and smoothed. Drains that were clogged were re-opened, and potholes that were catching rain water were also drained, the result being that the road, which is important in inter-state traffic, will hereafter shed water like a duck, and will be much smoother for travelers. In Carnahan, Manning, Onell and Shaw, Baldwin had a bunch of lawyers who proved their ability to construct a grade as well as a case.

The Long Lake grade on Pelican Bay road, which has long been a bad stretch, was put in about the same condition as a boulevard by the forty or more men who comprised Captain J. W. Siemens' road gang. Several of the big boulders in the grade were dug out and rolled away, and the work done toward drainage will forever eliminate the danger of getting mired on the steep incline. But this was not all the work accomplished by Siemens' party. They worked all the way from here to Long Lake hill, and after they finished their work on that grade, they continued their labors on to Rock Creek. The result is that there is not a big rock, a pothole or an uneven place in the entire distance the gang traversed yesterday, and the trip to Harriman Lodge on the west side of Upper Klamath Lake can be made with ease now.

This gang came upon W. H. Wampler, miles away from anybody else, but going to road improvement with a will. He said he believed it was up to every good citizen to turn out and donate a day's labor, and all by his lonesome he accomplished some real work that will be beneficial to the people traversing the road.

Percy Evans had thirty-six men with him on the Fort Klamath road. Their operations extended over twenty miles, going beyond RattleSnake Point, and travelers coming in over the road from the Fort today are marvelling at the amount of small rock cleaned out of the road, the number of chuck holes filled, the number of boulders removed and the other improvements wrought yesterday by this crew. The road is no longer rough, and it is in fine shape for all summer, thanks to the work of Evans and his men.

Another crew of Klamath Falls men put in the day improving the Merrill road between Wilson Bridge and the Maddox ranch. R. C. Short was the supervisor of this crew, and the men became so enthusiastic and industrious that even Silas Obenbach took off his coat that he might work a little faster, and the appearance of the road shows commendable work was done.

Langell valley people were also hard at work on the roads yesterday. All the men turned out, and their concerted efforts accomplished much to put the highways there in tiptop shape. A lot of good work was also done on the Dodd Hollow road, and in other parts of the country the efforts of volunteers has put the roads in splendid condition.

The following report was telegraphed to Governor Withycombe last night:

"Good Roads day was a grand success in Klamath county. Over 150 men from Klamath Falls worked on the principal roads of the county, and 105 miles of roads were put in excellent condition. Great enthusiasm aroused for good roads. All roads into Klamath Falls now in good condition. Klamath county invites you to visit this section of Oregon."

Farmers Driven Out by Mud From Lassen

United Press Service

REDDING, Calif., May 21.—Mt. Lassen's latest eruption, which started Wednesday morning, is still active.

Volumes of mud sent from the crater are pouring over the farms along Hat creek, covering the farms to a depth of from four to six feet.

Forest rangers sent warning at midnight to all the ranchers to be ready to leave home. W. C. Mill reports that the showers of mud drenched his house and barns and killed all of his stock except one horse.

At last reports the mud was five miles above Cassel. The Hawkins farm there is reported covered by mud.

The mountain is smoking in a terrific manner. Fumes of sulphur fill the air.

Hat creek rises on the northern slope of Lassen and flows in a northerly direction forty miles. It is several feet deep and is wide in some places.

The mud flow hit Fred Seaborn's place this morning. Details are meagre, as the telephone service is crippled. The settlements of Cassel, Carbon and Hall are all on Hat

Germany Must Answer for These

THE GULF LIGHT.

President Wilson's note to Germany demands satisfaction for the lives of Wireless Operator C. C. Short and Captain Gunter, and for the attack on the Gulf Light off the Sicily Islands, as well as for the American lives lost on the Lusitania. In fact, the Gulf Light will go down in American history as one of the most famous of ships. The Gulf Light, with a deep hole made by the torpedo of a German submarine, has been towed into St. Mary's Sicily Islands. Her cargo will be transferred, and the ship will be repaired as soon as possible. James Kennedy, superintendent of the marine department of the Gulf Refining company, sailed on May 8th on the liner Philadelphia for London to take charge of the company's interests. The Gulf Light is owned by the Gulf Refining company of Pittsburg, Pa., the largest independent producer and refiner of petroleum in the world. The company is not a subsidiary of the Standard Oil company, but is owned and controlled by the Mellon interests in Pittsburg.

WIND-UP DANCE GRAND SUCCESS JURY STILL OUT IN LIBEL SUIT

VAST PAVILION IS PACKED TO CAPACITY AND DANCING IS ENJOYED UNTIL LATE HOUR. BAND IS APPRECIATED

The wind-up of Good Roads day here was a big success, as the observance, for hundreds flocked to the pavilion last night until the vast floor was filled with dancers and the galleries were jammed with interested spectators. And the men who worked on the roads were also much in evidence, their "I have worked on the roads" badges displayed as proudly as a conquering hero displays a medal.

The Klamath Falls Military Band furnished excellent music for the dancing during the earlier part of the evening, and the remainder of the music was played by the Peerless Orchestra. And it is needless to say that this was of such excellent quality and cadence that "they who came to rubber remained to dance."

There were no floor managers, but everybody who wanted to dance had ample opportunity. It was a regular town turnout with everybody happy in the knowledge that all the rest were his neighbors. No bigger dance, or better time was ever enjoyed in Klamath Falls.

No admission was charged, but a collection was taken up for the benefit of the band. Here the people again showed that they appreciate a musical organization, and that their appreciation is deeper than mere applause, for the hats that were circulated soon became well laden with shekels.

Cleaning Ankeny Canal

The Ankeny canal will soon be carrying water again. The reclamation service has a force of men at work cleaning out this much-talked-of ditch.

Madame Joffre, wife of the general-in-chief of the French army, spends most of her time knitting socks for soldiers at the front.

ITALY, AUSTRIA TAKING HOSTILE MEASURES TODAY

SHIP FOR GERMANY IS SEIZED AT NAPLES

Austria Today Begins the Internment of Italian Men, and Austrian Submarine Stops Italian Vessel and Searches It—Italian Cabinet Is About Ready to Order Hostilities Started—Crowds Quiet.

VENICE, May 21.—The Italian steamer Marsala arrived today, reporting that an Austrian submarine stopped it off Ravenna, searched it, and allowed it to proceed.

NAPLES, May 21.—Italian authorities today seized a Greek steamer with a cargo of 21,000 tons of rice, bound for Germany.

VIENNA, May 21.—Austria today began the internment of Italian men between the ages of 17 and 50. A total of 50,000 are reported gathered around Dignano and Marseaux, and taken to the concentration camps in Croatia.

Leading Italians at Pola have been arrested. Austrian mobs are reported terrorizing other Italians.

ROME, May 20.—It is reported that a war council will be held tonight. Italy may send an ultimatum to Austria before night. It is understood that the cabinet will be in position to take decisive action by the time the senate adjourns this afternoon following a meeting to ratify the bill empowering the government to act in any exigency.

The Austrian and German ambassadors are still here. Both insist that they foresee no diplomatic incident that is "likely to involve immediate rupture."

Attaches of the legations have expressed a hope that Italy will not start hostilities without giving Austria a final opportunity to make fresh overtures.

It is authoritatively stated that Italy has decided upon her course. It is not to be swayed by Austria's tactics.

There is no disturbance in the Austrian and German quarters. The newspaper bulletin boards are being watched by thousands.

CAN BANK BY MAIL WITH U. S.

NEW RULING MADE FOR EXTENDING THE SCOPE OF THE POSTAL SAVINGS BANK SYSTEM BECOMES EFFECTIVE JULY 1

That any person in the United States, ten years old or over may open an account with a postal savings bank after July 1, is the information contained in a notice received recently by Postmaster W. A. Dellzell from the Postmaster General. The new plan makes it possible for persons situated in country districts to open an account by mail.

Under the plan soon to be put in effect, an intending depositor, residing where there is no regularly designated postal savings bank, will apply to his local postmaster, who will see that the necessary identification data is prepared and forward the same with the money to the nearest office authorized to accept deposits. Permission is then given that the depositor may forward any subsequent deposits by money order or registered mail direct to the postmaster at the banking point, for which the receipts of certificates will be issued.

ANGLIN VANISHES; FEAR FELT THAT HE ENDED CAREER

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—Harry E. Anglin, the construction superintendent wanted in Klamath Falls on a bigamy charge, has disappeared, and it is reported that he suicided in the bay last night.

Anglin, who was arrested here last week, has been held in the city jail awaiting extradition. Owing to the floods in Northern California the papers were delayed in getting through from Salem. Upon application by his attorneys, Sanford & Thompson, Anglin was released from custody early yesterday on $1,000 bond. This was posted by his brother, who lives in Oakland.

Anglin was last seen at 6 o'clock last night. At that time he made an engagement to meet his brother in Oakland at 9 o'clock.

Search is today being made by officials and by the relatives of the missing man.

By MARTIN C. MADSEN (Governor's Executive Secretary)

SACRAMENTO, May 21.—A hearing was held in the Harry Anglin extradition matter yesterday, and a warrant issued for the defendant.

It was understood that Anglin would appear here personally, following his release on bond in San Francisco, but he failed to show up.

Further time was asked for the appearance of Anglin by his attorneys. This was denied, and a warrant was issued for his arrest as a fugitive.

When Anglin failed to appear yesterday, Sheriff C. C. Low of Klamath county at once expressed a fear that Anglin had disappeared. He left as soon as possible for San Francisco, armed with a warrant for the arrest of Anglin.

A wire received late this afternoon from Sheriff Low stated that Anglin could not be found. The sheriff leaves there tonight.

"The matter of releasing Anglin on bond was one entirely up to the California authorities," said Prosecuting Attorney John Irwin today. "Sheriff Low was powerless to take any action there."

"My opinion is that Anglin's attorneys applied for a writ of habeas corpus, and secured the release of Anglin on bond, subject to his appearance in Sacramento on a hearing when the requisition papers reached there from Salem."

GOOD SINGING IS BILL FOR TONIGHT

ROTARIAN QUARTET, COMPOSED OF NOTED VOCALISTS, WILL APPEAR TWO NIGHTS AT THE OPERA HOUSE

Klamath Falls music lovers are assured an exceptional treat this evening, when the Rotarian Male Quartet appears in concert at Houston's opera house tonight. The concert tonight and tomorrow night are given for the benefit of the high school athletic fund.

The following, from the Echo Enterprise, is a sample of the press notices received wherever the quartet appears: "The concert given by the Rotarian Male Quartet was a complete success. A well known musical critic said that it was the finest thing of its kind that had ever come to Echo, and judging from the enthusiasm and appreciation shown by the audience he was right. From two to five encores were given each number. The program opened by the quartet singing "Jolly Fellows," by Herbert. There was no doubt about their ability to please after this first number. Their voices blend very harmoniously. They sing with ease and finish and produced some very pleasing effects. H. M. Whetzel, the tenor, has a silver-toned voice under unusually good control. His high notes were sung with accuracy as to pitch, producing a brilliant and pleasing tonal result. Dr. Samuel Grover is a prince of entertainers. His clever impersonations were very amusing. He shows both skill and cleverness in his banjo playing. He played one of his own compositions, which was enthusiastically received. M. L. Bowman has a deep, rich bass voice of satisfying quality. His support in the quartet was invaluable. Albert S. Brown won repeated encores by his original and cleverly executed piano-logues. The audience seemed could not get enough of him. His performance is certainly deserving of praise. The quartet did itself proud in all its numbers, especially in "Old Heidelberg," which is always such a favorite. At no time did the quartet fall below their high standard in rendering their selections. Every piece was run off with snap and professional celerity. There was no monotony and no lagging moments, for the program was brim full of variety and surprises, and kept the audience on the alert.

Rockefeller Jr. Denies the Walsh Charges

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 21.—John D. Rockefeller Jr. has submitted to the federal industrial relations commission a statement which categorically denies Chairman Walsh's charges in connection with the Colorado strike. He denies any connection by the Fuel & Iron company with the conviction of John Lawson and his receiving a life sentence.

"When private interests participate in a criminal prosecution the proceedings tend to lose impartiality," said the statement. "When I learned of the Lawson trial coming I carefully inquired to assure myself that the company was not participating in it in any manner."

On the stand regarding the statement Rockefeller today resented Walsh's examination regarding the Lawson trial.

"The questions seek to put me in the position of appearing to concede that I have willfully tampered with the courts or prepared to influence the course of justice," said he. "Walsh read numerous letters tending to show that the Colorado mine operators tried to influence the actions of Governor Ammons of that state."

PUBLIC SCHOOLS PLAY TOMORROW

KLAMATH FALLS PUBLIC SCHOOL TEAM WILL PLAY THE MERRILL STUDENTS AT MODOC PARK IN AFTERNOON

A return game between the Merrill high school team and the Klamath Falls grade school nine will be played at Modoc park tomorrow afternoon. There is much rivalry between the two nines, and a good game is expected.

Merrill trimmed the locals by a close margin last Saturday, when a game was played at Merrill.
